Cheering Democrats Hail Glynn's Keynote

ALL IS HARMONY AS CONVENTION OPENS

Twelve Thousands Democrats Pack St. Louis Coliseum in First Session to Rename Wilson and Marshall.

Coliseum, St. Louis, Mo., June 14.—With the keynote of "Americanism and peace, preparedness and prosperity," the democratic national convention began its first session shortly after noon today, with not a single element in sight to disturb the harmonious renomination of President Wilson and Vice President Marshall.

When National Chairman McCombs called the convention to order twelve thousand delegates, alternates and spectators packed the big coliseum to the roof. Members of the national committee, members of President Wilson's cabinet and party leaders from all over the country had places on the platform.

Vice presidential booms, wilted by President Wilson's direct word that he desired the renomination of Vice President Marshall, were brought to the convention hall but only as favorite son compliments.

When National Chairman McCombs had called the convention to order, the next business was the reading of the call by Secretary J. Bruce Kremer. Former Gov. Glynn, of New York, was next with the keynote speech.

Down under the speaker's stand direct telephone and telegraph wires to the white house carried momentary reports of the proceedings in the hall.

No Prospect for Fight.

All prospect of a fight in the convention had gone glimmering overnight with Wm. J. Bryan's announcement that he did not propose to press certain planks before the resolutions committee and that he would make cam-

GOLDEN LANE SCENE STAGED

STIR ENTHUSIASM OF THE DELEGATES

But Happy Women Simply Had to Talk in "Talkless Display.

St. Louis, June 14.—Under a sweltering sun and uncomfortable humidity, 8,000 suffragettes carried out their "golden lane" program today in the twelve blocks of Locust street leading to convention hall.

They were enthusiastically received by the thousands of delegates and convention visitors who passed between their white and yellow garbed lines, ranged on the two sides of the street and not a single untoward incident marked the occasion.

Simply Had to Talk.

Advertised as a "walkless, talkless" display, it failed to carry out that promise. The women were so happy over their reception and their prospects of obtaining a favorable plank in the democratic platform they moved about a great deal, some delegations took the street and marched and everybody talked.

STARS AND CHORUS TO PICNIC AT PARK

The Lasalle Musical Comedy players have heard the call of the open, and tomorrow will spend the entire day in a picnic and ball game at Robison park. Stars and chorus will mingle in an all day romp as special cars will convey the actor people to the grounds in the morning and not bring them back until time for the evening performance.

The baseball game in the afternoon will be between the Elks' team and a club composed of members of the company, with Guy Voyer, the light comedian as captain. Voyer is a baseball bug following the doings of the big league clubs with a fidelity that would do credit to a major league scout. He's some pumpkins as a player himself, too, and claims that his team has been beaten but once in two years.

A basket luncheon will be served at noon by the theater management.

Callers Continue to Besiege Mr. Hughes

New York, June 14.—With no definite appointments in prospect during the day but prepared to confer with many callers with political and personal missions, Charles E. Hughes, republican candidate for president, entered his headquarters here shortly before noon. He had spent the early hours opening letters and telegrams which arrived over night. These have come in such volume that he has decided it will physically be impossible for him to answer the majority of them.

The number of persons waiting to see him was larger than yesterday. Early callers included John Hays Hammond, George J. Wickersham, jr., and a number of prominent republicans. Mr. Hughes' campaign plans were still indefinite today. He will remain here until Saturday afternoon, when he will go out of town over the week-end, returning later Sunday night or early Monday and on Monday will start for Providence to address the Brown university graduates.

Everett Colby, of New Jersey, a progressive leader, was expected to call on Mr. Hughes today. He visited headquarters yesterday but found the candidate out. There was an insistent report today that Mr. Colby, Oscar S. Straus, progressive candidate for governor of New York in 1912, and Samuel W. Fairchild, president of the Union league club and a personal friend of both Mr. Hughes and Theodore Roosevelt, were working hard to bring the candidate and the colonel together.

Among the subjects which Mr. Hughes is discussing with callers is the problem of selecting a national chairman. Those under consideration include Herbert Parsons; Frederick T. Tanner, New York state chairman; Frank H. Hitchcock, a leader of the Hughes forces at Chicago; William Hayward, public service commissioner of this city, and Ralph E. Williams, national committeeman from Oregon.

NEIGHBORLY BOSSES MEET.

MEET REPULSE, BERLIN ASSERTS

Fighting at Verdun Dies Down from Exhaustion of Combatants.

Today's War News Given in Summary

There is a momentary lull in the desperate infantry fighting which has been going on for several days northeast of Verdun. Preparations for further assaults on the French defenses are in progress however, Paris today reporting a violent bombardment in the Vaux sector. The anticipated effort of the Germans to make a further advance there is expected to be facilitated by the headway made recently in ousting the French from their commanding position on Hill 321 to the west, from which they have been able to enfilade the Vaux plateau.

In the southern Tyrol the Austrians are now encountering a resistance which they are unable to break down, according to the war office at Rome, which today reports the failure of a series of assaults on Italian positions along the Posina line. Elsewhere there were no Austrian attacks but the whole Italian front has been subjected to a severe bombardment.

Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina, is apparently on the eve of falling into Russian hands in the course of General Brusiloff's widespread offensive movement. His troops are reported to have cut the railway running north from the city severing the Austrian communications and his cavalry to have reached a point twenty miles beyond.

One woman was killed and four civilians injured in Monday night's raid by Austrian seaplanes on Venice. Rome declares that the property damage was slight.

Berlin, June 14.—(Via London 4:11 P. M.)—The Russian offensive which has been directed against the southern portion of the eastern front, broke out yesterday against Field Marshal von Hindenburg's forces at a point about seventy-five miles north of Pinsk.

The Russians made several successive attacks with masses of infantry. The

FORT WAYNE IN GOOD SHOWING AT ST. LOUIS

Local Democrats Get Full Share of Honors at Convention.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

St. Louis, June 14.—Fort Wayne democrats are thoroughly in evidence here. Fort Wayne not only sent a big delegation of the party rank and file to the national convention, but in the selection for official honors E. G. Hoffman, Indiana member of the national committee, has seen to it that his home city is well represented.

At the Indiana caucus Sephen B. Fleming was chosen a member of the committee on resolutions and William P. Breen is Indiana's member of the committee to notify President Wilson of his renomination.

PRESENT CHILDREN WITH PAGEANT BOOKS

Every child in the public and parochial schools of Fort Wayne will be given a copy of the pageant book, "The Glorious Gateway of the West," written by Wallace Rice and presented by Donald Robertson.

Throughout the entire centennial celebration Chairman E. C. Miller and the committee have made a special effort to take care of the children. They were given an opportunity of seeing the wonderful pageant free and now the books are presented to them. As is stated in the foreword: "The play will pass away. Its spirit will remain to the end of time; for the work here done by willing hearts and hands, can never fade from the lives of those who see and those who do. And coming generations of men will feel the power of an unseen influence of the centennial year of nineteen hundred and sixteen."

REMAINS ARE SHIPPED HERE FOR CREMATION

The remains of Mrs. Catherine Gordon, a resident of Toledo, who passed away several days ago, will arrive in Fort Wayne Thursday evening and will be taken to Lindenwood for cremation, Friday morning. It was the wish of the deceased that her body be incinerated and since Toledo has no crematory the body had to be taken to this city. The remains will be in charge of Schone & Ankenbruck, undertakers. The family of the deceased will accompany the body and will take the ashes back to Toledo for interment.

YES, WHISKERS ARE AGAIN THE STYLE

Barbers Predict Republican Ticket Will Popularize Rugged Beard.

Bewhiskered gentlemen whose crop of alfalfa has been the butt and jokes for years are to be in style again. A wave of popularity for these appendages will be started soon or Fort Wayne barbers miss their guess.

"It's the republican ticket that'll cause it," said a local barber. "There's Hughes, with a beautiful crop. And then just to add insult to injury, they put on Fairbanks, with another healthy crop. Of course, now, personally both are mighty fine men, but say, you can't tell how far it will go when folks start to imitating those gentlemen."

Democratic barbers are thinking seriously of swinging the barber vote to Wilson, who is smooth shaven, and Marshall, who has a very thin pasture on the upper lip.

Hughes and Fairbanks compose the first "whiskered ticket" since Benjamin Harrison, years ago, sat in the presidential chair. There have been moustaches since—Cleveland, Roosevelt and Taft—but no whiskers.

"Let's hope they wait to start this new fad until next winter," said one barber, as he pounced a brushful of lather on a smooth-faced patron with more vigor than was absolutely necessary.

HEXAMER DEFINES TRUE AMERICANISM

German-American Alliance Head Flag-Day Speaker at Betsy Ross House.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 14.—Speaking at the flag day exercises at the Betsy Ross house here today, Dr. C. J. Hexamer, president of the national German-American Alliance, declared that true Americanism knows no distinction of race or creed and does not take sides with any foreign nation.

"True Americanism," he said, "demands a true neutrality, solely for the defense of American rights and in the best interest of United States against aggression from whichever side it may come. It follows faithfully and loyally where our flag leads.

"Those of us of German birth and extraction are happy in the knowledge of loyalty and devotion proved upon hundreds of battlefields and thousands of civic contests by the men of our blood since the birth of our nation to the present day. They have always, as American citizens, proved their good citizenship and have been an honor to our nation."

FIVE KNOWN DEAD; 4 OTHERS MISSING

Financial Loss in Elevator Fire at Baltimore is $2,000,000.

Baltimore, Md., June 14.—Five men are known to have lost their lives as the result of the fire yesterday that destroyed the Pennsylvania railroad elevator number 3, on the harbor front at Canton, a suburb. Four others are unaccounted for and of the 19 injured, in hospitals, two are in a critical condition.

The loss is estimated at $2,000,000. It represents the cost of the elevator, the value of the grain therein, and damage to the Dutch steamer William Van Driet, sr., and the British steamer Welbeck Hall, which were moored to the elevator. A spark from broken machinery is thought to have cause the fire.

MOOSE WILL HAVE A FLAG DAY DANCE

The Fort Wayne lodge of Moose will give a flag day dance, Wednesday evening, at the Moose home, Wayne and Webster streets, for members and their families. Good music will be provided and arrangements have been made to provide a good time for all who come. The entertainment committee of the lodge has not been exhausted by the excess of its labors last week, when the new home was formally dedicated and hundreds of visiting brethren came to enjoy the occasion and accept the hospitalities of the Fort Wayne Moose, and will see that all who attend the flag day dance are repaid for their presence.

PRESIDENT AT HEAD OF 75,000 MARCHERS

Leads Gigantic Preparedness Parade at Washington on Flag Day, Reviews It and Later Delivers Address.

Washington, June 14.—Led by President Wilson carrying the Stars and Stripes, nearly 75,000 men, women and children of Washington marched up broad Pennsylvania avenue today in a preparedness parade arranged to emphasize on Flag day the national capital's demand for an adequate army and navy.

The president, attired in white trousers, blue coat and straw hat and shouldering his flag like a musket, stepped briskly to martial airs played by the United States marine band.

He smiled broadly and frequently raised his hat in response to cheers as he marched along, escorted by Secretary Tumulty, the white house employes and the white house newspaper correspondents.

Ideal weather favored the demonstration. There was hardly a cloud in the sky and it was as cool as late spring. Enthusiastic crowds thronged along the avenue from Peace monument to the white house.

In front of the white house the president left the line of march and took his place in a stand to review the parade. He was joined there by Mrs. Wilson and all the members of the cabinet now in the city.

Confronted by Banner.

As the line swung around the treasury building at Fifteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, the president was confronted by a huge banner bearing the legend "Be prepared—if you care about ninety-one electoral votes, consider us—Woman's party."

Half a dozen young women with megaphones saw to it that the banner did not go unnoticed. It was the work of the congressional union for woman suffrage.

Besides marching himself and then reviewing the parade, the president had prepared an address of "Americanism" to be delivered at an open air meeting south of the white house.

Washington was brilliantly decorated for the occasion. It was a holiday, for under an executive order issued by the president, all government employes were excused from their work and many stores were closed. The celebration was planned in part as a response to a proclamation issued by the president calling upon the people of the nation to celebrate flag day.

The Line of March.

Tribute to Ft. Wayne Pioneer at School Which Bears His Name.

In an impressive ceremony at the public school which bears his name, at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, there was presented to the Rudisill school a bronze tablet erected near the entrance of the building, to Henry Rudisill, prominent pioneer of Fort Wayne.

The memorial tablet is the gift of Miss Eliza Rudisill and Mrs. Mary Sturgis, daughters of Mr. Rudisill, and it was formally accepted upon the part of the school board by W. H. Shambaugh.

A large audience gathered for the ceremony, and the presentation address was delivered by Henry R. Freeman.

Mr. Freeman's Address.

In his remarks Mr. Freeman addressed himself particularly to the pupils of the Rudisill school, dwelling upon some of the achievements of the pioneers and applying their lives and their achievements as an inspiration to the younger generation today, emphasizing the doctrine of America first, and which floats above the school building, no allegiance to any flag save that Continuing, he said:

"Henry Rudisill was born in 1801, in the quaint old town of Lancaster, Pa. At the age of 16 he went to Shippensburg, Pa., where he entered a store as clerk, and after a year there he entered the employ of Barr and Campbell at

SECOND TOUR OF ITS KIND

Rural Home Improvement Auto Trip Attracting Wide Attention.

U. S. DEPARTMENT IS REPRESENTED

Eight Allen County Farms on Program Wednesday and Thursday.

The Allen county home improvement automobile tour which started from the court house shortly after 9 o'clock, Wednesday morning, and will continue for two days, is the second tour of the kind ever undertaken in the United States. The first tour, which, however, was not as extensive, was conducted a couple of weeks ago in Montgomery county, Indiana.

The Allen county tour has attracted such wide interest throughout the country that the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., has sent Miss Anna K. Ward to take notes and make a report, which will be widely distributed.

Purdue university, which has charge of the agricultural extension work in Indiana, is well represented. Prof. G. I. Christie, head of the extension department, will be here Wednesday evening and take part in the tour on Thursday. On the tour Wednesday were Prof. T. A. Coleman, assistant state leader in charge of the county agent work in Indiana; C. B. Durham, Mrs. Charles Sewell, Miss Roberta McNeil, from Purdue university, and Miss Anna K. Ward, of the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C. These people are authorities on agriculture and country home improvement work.

Object of the Tours.

Briefly the purpose of the tour is to improve conditions in the rural homes and offer suggestions whereby the work of the farmer's wife may be systematized and thus eliminate the drudgery. It also has for its object the making of the country home more beautiful and attractive within and without. The tour is of equal interest to men and women, and was arranged by Clarence Henry, county agricultural agent of Allen county. Harry Gray, agent of Wells county, and a number of farmers from his county were with the party. Thursday a big delegation of farmers from Adams county is expected.

The First Stop.

The first stop Wednesday was made at the farm of Albert J. Black, where Prof. Coleman explained the purpose of the tour and Mrs. Sewell, of Otterbein, Ind., spoke to the farmers' wives. Her subject was "Conversation by a Farmer's Wife."

After inspecting the water system, grounds and buildings on the Black farm the farm of Henry Kurtz was next visited. Prof. Durham spoke on "Beautification of the Home Grounds," and Miss Roberta McNeil on "Conversation by a Would-be Farmer's Wife."

Lunch was served on the farm of J. C. Wertz, after which Miss Anna K. Ward, of the department of agriculture, spoke and Mrs. Sewell gave a demonstration of kitchen conveniences.

The farm of William Driver and son was the last place visited Wednesday afternoon. An inspection of the electric lighting system was a feature of this stop.

The following farms will be visited on Thursday: Carl Weise, H. W. Jackson, Sheldon Dawkins and Thomas Sheehan.

NOTED HOBO PATRON VISITS FORT WAYNE

Fort Wayne was visited Tuesday afternoon and night by Jeff Davis, famed as the patron of hoboes and founder of the erstwhile celebrated "Hotel de Gink," a New York hostelry that for a time was maintained as a cheap place of entertainment for Weary Willies and others of the down and out cult. Davis, who left Wednesday morning for Cincinnati, came here to consult his brother, Ed Davis, under indictment for criminal assault on Vairn Fleet, a 16-year-old girl of wayward life, for improper relations with whom Herbert H. Austin, proprietor of a skating rink here, was arrested. Austin gave a tragic turn to the case by hanging himself in his skating rink a few hours after he had given bond. On the girl's statement to the police Ed Davis was arrested on a charge of criminal assault and the grand jury later indicted him. He summoned his brother, Jeff, from New Orleans by long distance telephone and the hobo king arrived Tuesday. Jeff Davis has been a knight of the road for more than twenty years, though he is now but 32 years old. In later years his time has been mainly devoted to efforts to assist unemployed men who are deserving. He claims to have assisted 100,000 men and to have brought about the release from jails and other lockups of 25,000 men. The "Hotel de Gink" at Worth and Central streets, New York, passed out to make room for the Five Points mission. He has operated similar hotels in Seattle, Cincinnati and Alaska. He expects to return to Fort Wayne next Tuesday, when the trial of Ed Davis begins in the circuit court.

ROOSEVELT SUFFERS PAIN BENEATH HEART

Condition is Due to Bad Cold, It is Later Explained.

New York June 14.—Kermit and Mrs. Roosevelt, son and daughter-in-law of Theodore Roosevelt, arrived here with their baby from Buenos Aires today on the transport Kilpatrick. They were met at the pier by Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Persons at the dock observed that the former president walked with his left hand at times pressed under his heart. Questioned by his wife, he told her he had a pain but believed it would pass away presently. This proved to be the case by the time the vessel berthed.

Kermit Roosevelt had been in South America as representative of a New York bank. His wife, daughter of Joseph E. Willard, ambassador to Spain, suffered an attack of typhoid while in the tropics.

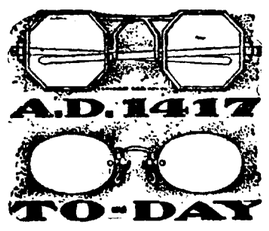
Later it was explained that Col. Roosevelt was suffering with a very bad cold contracted several months ago.

After leaving the pier he kept an appointment with a throat specialist. He has been visiting the physician upon the occasions of his coming here from Oyster Bay.

THE KRYPTOK INVISIBLE BIFOCAL

The Perfection of the Eyeglass Idea Originated A. D. 1784 by Benj. Franklin

An Illustrated Story for Folks Who Need Double Glasses.



"I am happy in the invention of double spectacles which, serving for distant objects as well as for near ones, makes my eyes as useful to me as they ever were."

So wrote Benjamin Franklin in one of his letters. He it was who first conceived the idea of taking a near-sighted lens and a far-sighted lens, cutting them in half and fitting them in a spectacle frame.

If Franklin could see the perfection of his idea in Meigs' Kryptok Invisible Bifocal, he would be astonished. Instead of a jagged line separating the two lenses Kryptok is one solid crystal-clear lens which cannot possibly be detected from single vision glasses.

The smooth and clear surface of Meigs' glasses is entirely free from the disfiguring, age-revealing lines and seams of old-fashioned bifocals. Yet Kryptoks give you all the convenience of near and far sight in one pair of glasses. They put an end to the constant removing and replacing of your reading glasses—or fussing with two pairs. You can see both close and distant objects with equal clearness.

Buying Kryptoks is like buying clothes. There are clothes and clothes and Kryptoks and Kryptoks. Meigs' Kryptoks mean comfort and certain service. It is the result of long experience in fitting eyes—our splendid factory for making glasses.

You can't regret the purchase of Meigs' glasses—they're guaranteed and sold on the "money back" plan. Nearly 25,000 wearers in and about Fort Wayne.

ABOUT SECOND PLACE BOOMS

Dough the Principal Ingredient, Says Chas. Edward Russell.

MARSHALL'S JUST A BIT DIFFERENT

Expert Analyses Yearnings of Roger Sullivan and Governor Major.

BY CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL.

(Copyright, 1916, by Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

St. Louis, June 14.—Many anxious inquirers having asked me how all these favorite son boomlets are made, and as they seem to be the favorite political dish this year, I will give the recipe of one of the best top-notch chefs in the business, bar none.

To Make a Favorite Son Boomlet: Take a sufficient quantity of dough and line the inside of a brass band and arrive at the railroad station about 6:15 p. m. with 200 gratuitous, howling maniacs.

This is the way Roger Sullivan's boomlet for vice president was put together, and it is a mighty good way. I haven't seen any better. Only in this case we didn't call it a boomlet. We called it a tartlet, because it made most persons feel sour and tired, Roger Sullivan having about as much call to be a vice presidential candidate as he has to be understudy for Mary Pickford. But some persons liked it. They said that if we were to have any exhibition of nerve they wanted to have one that was colossal and worth telling the folks at home about, and they didn't see any sense in just pulling the common garden variety on them. They seemed to be satisfied when they thought about Roger Sullivan.

Liked Marshall for That.

The sorest persons were those that, having made up their minds about Tom Marshall, naturally didn't want to be disturbed. They said that Marshall didn't pose around in a long black coat like Tom Hefflin, nor do the statesman stunt with one hand in his shirt front and a far-away look in his eyes like J. Ham Lewis, but when it came to putting real things across Marshall was the boy for them.

Which reminds me: What country is it wherein you can see the second officer of the government riding down to the capitol on the front seat of an automobile wearing a sack suit, a little soft hat somewhat on the side or his head, a big cigar in the corner of his mouth and conversing amiably and fraternally with the chauffeur, for the sake of whose company he has abandoned the luxurious seat within?

The United States of America, my son, and it is the only such country, and Thomas Marshall, vice president thereof, is the man that about every morning when congress is in session affords Pennsylvania avenue this spectacle, worth going miles to see.

Doesn't Give a Hoot.

He doesn't give a hoot. That's one reason why real folks like him so much. The Mossbacks, the Dodos, the highbrows and all right thinking persons look upon him with horror. Henry Cabot Lodge shudders at his name and old Papa Gallinger looks through his eyebrows at him like a man about to blow up. Some sneer and some swear, but he doesn't mind. He dances on the moldy remains of Senatorial Dignity, laughs at the ridiculous, slumbering old Senatorial Courtsey, thinks the dull dreary show the senate gives every afternoon is bum stuff (which it is,) and every chance he gets jolts the actors into something almost resembling human life.

If the press gallery were making nominations he would get anything he wanted, and by acclamation.

He is pretty hot stuff for a man that weighs about 90 pounds. Every now and then the senate casts a tie vote between the Petrified Dodos and the Living Beings and he invariably comes in with a vote on the side of Red Blood Corpuscles in a way beautiful to behold. The opponents of the river and harbor bill had things fixed to get a tie vote on that hoary old steal and he was all ready to vote to kill it, but two gents got cold feet and fled, and so the Dodos scored one. In a quiet, unobtrusive way he is often around trying to push over something that will make them squeal, and that's one reason why he is so popular with the discerning in this convention.

When Roger Sullivan and the Rough Neck guards from Chicago came tumbling in on the Marshall men there was so much cold disgust around the Jefferson hotel you could cut chunks out of it like a free lunch cheese.

However, at one spot the Sullivan boom met with a warm reception like an orphan child being pulled out of the wet. That was when it bumped up against Gov. Major, of Missouri, the sole proprietor of the only ray of humor that has illuminated these desiccated scenes.

Was All-Fired Lonely.

Gov. Major, a dry, thin and painfully restless little man, was conducting a boom of his own for the vice presidency and viewing it with a solemn earnestness that caused 200 newspaper men to rise up and call him blessed. He gave them something to write about. When weary of the spectacle of 1,000 automaton delegates gathered to dance when the string was pulled the journalists could always describe Major going about with his pictures and his literature, booming himself. The reason the Major boom fell with joy upon the bosom of the Sullivan boom was because the Major boom was so all-fired lonely the sight of another wanderer was like the sight of home to a dog with a can-tied tail!

The very salt cellars on the dining tables knew that Wilson was to be renominated with a rush, but there was a chance to delude somebody into a belief that there would be a contest about the second place. It wasn't much of a chance, but persons tired of phonographs and Washington-made programs clutched at it with desperate hands.

Speculation about the origin of the Sullivan boom and the origin of the Major boom helped out the fruitless speculation as to how the president's platform managed to sidestep the danger spots like the Philippines, Panama tolls, single terms, a genuine income tax, sugar and the high cost of living. Attempts to start a row over these died early. Every man know in his heart that unless the president had lost his copy of Hart's Rhetoric (which calamity God forbid!) the sidestepping would be done and everybody would say it was a good, clean job. So, what was the use?

ARMY MEN COMING TO TALK PREPAREDNESS

Public Meeting Will Be Held at Commercial Club Thursday Evening.

Messrs. Bruce Barrett and John York, who have been officially appointed by the central department of the United States army, will make an address on preparedness at the Commercial club Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

It will be interesting to know how Indiana compares with her sister states on the question of preparedness and Fort Wayne people should be particularly anxious to hear Messrs. Barrett and York explain the government proposition to the professional and business men on the citizen training camp to be held at Fort Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis.

Messrs. Barrett and York will arrive here Thursday in an armored scout auto equipped with rapid fire and anti-air craft guns, which will be on exhibition at the Commercial club. Ladies are especially invited.

Robbery, Romance and Mistaken Identity in Huntington Case.

Huntington, Ind., June 14.—A story of mistaken identity and of queer romance was brought to light when Omer Engle was fined $20 and sentenced to the penal farm for six months by Judge Cook in the circuit court. The penal farm term was suspended because of the illness of Mrs. Engle, whom Engle married after he had taken out a license which he paid for from the sale of a stolen revolver. Since May 14, the prosecuting attorney, A. H. Sapp, and police chief, Philip Baker, have been working on a clew to the robbery of the F. O. Pontius second hand store. Three witnesses were found who would swear that Sherman Bowers was seen in a pool room with a revolver of 44 caliber, which was valued at $22.50. It happens that Engle is almost an exact ringer for Bowers. Pontius has known Engle for a long time, and when Engle was in his store, he asked Engle to remain while he (Pontius) stepped out. Later the revolver was missed. Engle confesses he took the revolver while Pontius was out, and that he sold it for $2.50, and on May 14 paid $2 of this amount for a license to marry Mrs. Cora Krewson, of Warren. A charge against Bowers was filed in the police court but on the arrest of Engle the case was postponed, and later it was dismissed. The facts that Engle and Bowers, in appearance, were "ringers," and that Engle wanted $2 to get married caused the whole case, and led to the serious embarrassment of Bowers, against whom three witnesses were ready to testify.

KEYSTONE POSTMASTER DIES

William M. Baker, a Life-Long Resident of Wells County

Bluffton, Ind., June 14.—William M. Baker, postmaster at Keystone, died Tuesday at his home. Death was due to cancer of the liver. Mr. Baker had been bedfast for the last six weeks and his death had been expected. He took a sudden change for the worse early Tuesday. His death brings much sadness in the community as he was well known and highly respected. Mr. Baker was a life-long resident of Wells county and was past the fiftieth mile stone at the time of his death. He received his early education in the common schools of Wells county, took a short college course, and then began teaching in the county schools. He taught for sixteen years and then took up the practice of law in Keystone. For a few years he assisted in the Keystone hardware store. He had been postmaster there for the last two years. The deceased was a member of the K. of P. lodge at Montpelier, and was keeper of records and seal of that lodge. He also belonged to the Red Men and Woodman lodges in Keystone and the B. P. O. Elks. Surviving are the wife and son.

SCHOOL TEACHER TO PRISON.

Huntington, Ind., June 14.—Charles Anson, who was convicted for a statutory offense, has given up his fight for freedom and today he entered the reformatory at Jeffersonville to serve the two year term to which he was sentenced. Sheriff W. E. Scott left early yesterday with the prisoner. Anson, who was formerly a school teacher, in Union township, was convicted on the testimony of Miss Zorah Shriner, a former pupil of Anson. He asked for a new trial but this was denied by Judge S. E. Cook. For a time he considered making an appeal to the supreme court but Sunday decided that he would serve his sentence without further remonstrance. Sunday he was taken out to see his wife and family and his parents.

FILIPINO IS DEMENTED

Warsaw, Ind., June 14.—A Filipino, who claimed that he was a member of the Brethren church, caused quite a disturbance at the Dunkard convention at Winona, Monday evening, when he started to preach in front of the Winona book store. He was waving a small American flag over his head and acting more like a wild man than a human being. About 500 people collected around him. Some members of the Dunkard committee tried to stop him but were unsuccessful and finally had to call on Marshal Robert Hatfield. Mr. Hatfield soon persuaded him to stop and he was taken to his rooms and locked in.

CANNOT COLLECT TAXES NOW

Bluffton, Ind., June 14.—It has been learned by County Auditor Clem T. Kain and County Treasurer J. A. McBride, as the result of a trip to Huntington, that Wells county will not be able, until after the first of next year, to collect the $35,000 back taxes due from the Cincinnati, Bluffton and Chicago railroad, which was bought at Huntington by Fred Dolph. The final transaction for the sale of the road will not be made before next year, if the purchase is ever completed. Treasurer McBride's term will expire January 1, and his successor will realize the 6 per cent. fee for the collection of delinquent taxes.

BIG SNAPPING TURTLE TAKEN

Columbia City, Ind., June 14.—Dr. H. K. Harper, of Dayton, O., who took out a fishing and hunting license in this city Monday, landed a big thirty-three pound turtle at Tri Lake Monday evening. The turtle was an old style snapper and was large enough to make several meals for a family of ordinary size. In the opinion of the doctor the turtle is between eighty and eighty-five years old. His shell was covered with moss and he was landed on the north shore of the lake. Logan Staples, manager of the Tri Lake resort, thinks the turtle is the largest one ever taken from the lake. Dr. Harper shipped the turtle to friends at Dayton, Tuesday morning.

BLUFFTON TEACHERS NAMED

Bluffton, Ind., June 14. — Misses Martha Plessinger and Lela Nordyke were added to the teachers in the city schools for the next year's force at a meeting of the board of education. Much other business relative to the schools was transacted. Although there was much deliberation over a long list of candidates for the principalship of the high school, recently made vacant by the resignation of A. G. Morris, no one was elected to the position. There will be more investigation into some of the candidates.

Surviving besides her husband and her parents are two brothers, Leslie of this city, and Charles, of Detroit, Mich., and a sister, Miss Velma Gee.

STOCK RAISER IS DEAD.

Huntington, Ind., June 14.—George Samuel Fahl, for years a farmer and stock raiser in Huntington county, died at the home of his mother, Mrs. William Fahl, in this city, from abdominal cancer with which he had been suffering for two years. Mr. Fahl was born January 27, 1860, just east of Huntington, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fahl. He had always been a resident of this county and a resident of the city for the last few years. Mrs. Fahl died about five years ago.

"OSTRICH DANCE" LATEST STAGE NOVELTY.

19 YOUNG LADIES RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Normal School Holds Its Eighteenth Annual Commencement.

At the eighteenth annual commencement exercises of the Fort Wayne Normal Training school, nineteen young ladies were graduated and received their diplomas. The exercises were held in the auditorium of the Fort Wayne High and Manual Training school Tuesday evening. Prof. Justin N. Study, superintendent of the city schools, presided and Prof. Stanley I. Coulter, dean of the school of science at Purdue university, delivered the address to the students.

The theme of the address of the evening was, "The Two Great Words of Life" and it developed that the two big words were "preparation" and "service." The speaker pointed out many of the changes which had been made in the past decade in the educational system of the state in regards to physical environment and equipment, in preparatory demands of teachers and in the very conception of education itself.

Prof Stanley stated that the state had a right to expect things in return for devoting so much money, time and pains to its students. He then summed up many of the things which the state and world expects of the graduate. Among the various expectations of these two powers, the speaker mentioned, that the world expects the graduate to know a few things; to see an eagerness to learn and to know; to have the power to think; to have the correct measures of value; to have the power of a strong character; and to have a higher and better attitude of life.

Those who composed the class of 1916 are: Mable Carrie Bates, Blanche Margaret Bauer, Georgia Bauer, Clara Kanne Blondoit, Bessie Violet Cleary, Irma Comparet, Dorothea Eckhardt, Hattie Belle Greider, Gertrude Irma Gross, Lydia Emma Honeck, Mary Ruth Logue, Marie Louise McGuire, Helen Ruth Oren, Erna Huldah Tapp, Helena Josephine Thompson, Helen Lorene Trisch, Vivian Hatton Withers, Mary Elizabeth Zent, Gertrude Marie Zucker.

DOLPH TO ELECTRIFY THE C., B. & C. ROAD

After several months of dickering the C., B. & C. railroad, operating between Portland and Huntington, has been sold to Fred A. Dolph, who expects to electrify the road and extend it to Richmond by way of Union City, Randolph county. Much of the right-of-way has already been secured.

Mr. Dolph is also said to have an option on the Decatur line, which he would extend to Portland, to connect with the C., B. & C. Several roads are mentioned in the proposed merger, including the M., B. & E., which operates between Marion and Bluffton.

It is reported that Dolph paid $350,000 for the C., B. & C., and has given a check for $4,000 which, with the $1,000 he had previously posted, completed the first payment. Payments of $2,000 a month are to be made until January, 1917, when the balance must be paid.

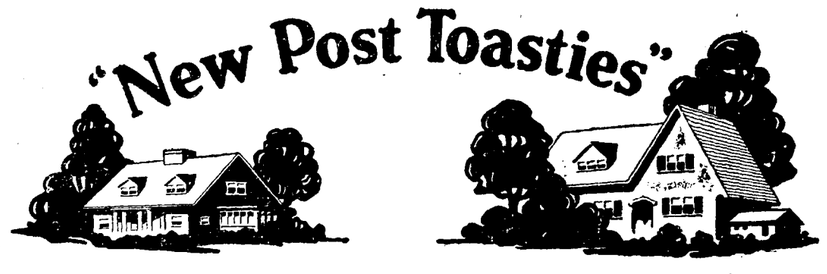
"New Post Toasties"



From House to House the Good News Spreads

Many housewives have found a happy solution of the breakfast problem in New Post Toasties.

These new corn flakes are distinctive in that they bear a self-developed flavor all their own—the delicate, fascinating flavor of choice, white Indian corn. Unlike other flakes, they do not depend on cream and sugar to make them palatable.

Try a handful without cream and sugar—note the fine flavor and new form; also the tiny "bubbles" on each flake. These bubbles are a distinguishing characteristic and are produced by the quick, intense heat of the new process of making, which also brings out the wonderful flavor.

Although the New Post Toasties are a great improvement in flavor and form, they cost no more than ordinary flakes. Have a package delivered for tomorrow's breakfast.

LIBRARY CORNERSTONE LAID.

Beginning of Notre Dame's New $250,000 Building.

Notre Dame, Ind., June 14—The cornerstone of Notre Dame's new $250,000 library was laid by Rt. Rev. Bishop Peter J. Muldoon, of Rockford, Ill., assisted by priests of the Holy Cross congregation.

The building is located on the newly formed quadrangle in the space where some of the first college buildings stood. It has a frontage of 152 feet and a depth of 108 feet. The main floor of the building will be devoted to two large reading rooms each 108x32 feet—one on the south side for a reference room and a room for newspapers and periodicals. This will be a part of the new school of journalism, which will have quarters in the basement directly under the periodical and newspaper room.

Mr. Bryan at St. Louis

There is every indication that those who have fondly indulged the expectation that Mr. Bryan would invade the democratic national convention at St. Louis with a pronounced purpose t toss monkey wrenches into the machinery, lead an insurgent opposition to the plain trend of party affairs and create a sort of general chaos there are foredoomed to sorry disappointment. Mr. Bryan is manifesting no disposition whatever to do anything of the sort. He is at St Louis, purposeful as ever, but in a new role and with a sane toleration and a consideration for those whose views are not in all respects in accord with his own.

It is natural, of course, that so conspicuous a party figure as Mr. Bryan has been for many years, should be the center of more or less attention. He is still the fine, strong figure whose leadership millions of democrats were delighted to follow in campaign after campaign. His influence, did he choose to exert it in active fashion, would still be potent with a very large following of the rank and file of his party. Few Americans have had more warm admirers, more devoted champions than has Mr. Bryan. Four years ago at Baltimore he was the outstanding figure in the convention that nominated Mr. Wilson for the presidency. The four years that have followed have been history-making, and Mr. Bryan was an active element in the direction of national affairs up to the point where his convictions led him to a division with the president on a question of national policy.

We have heard much of the possible results of the "break" between the president and Mr. Bryan, ranging all the way from the intimation that Mr. Bryan might lead a fight against the president in the convention, to the rumor that he might become the leader of the prohibitionists. None of these weird prognostications have come true. Mr. Bryan is at St. Louis as a private citizen—as a newspaper reporter, in fact—whose views and whose interpretations of events as they transpire are of importance because of the wide political experience and the political sagacity of the man who will utter them. He protests that he is to attempt no hand in directing convention procee dings, and thus far has made no pronouncement of intentions save the desire to see democracy hold out an attractive welcome to those progrssives who do not find themselves willing to accept the nomination of Mr. Hughes. It is very clear that Mr. Bryan does not intend to stage any spectacular insurgency for the edification of those who are interested at this time not in what may be best for America's future, but solely in political advantage that would accrue to them by an embarrassment to democracy.

The country is watching with uncommon concern the negotiations in New York between the railway managers and the brotherhoods relative to differences involving wage and working conditions on the railroads, and it deplores the fact that thus far progress toward adjustment has not been encouraging. There is every indication of a deadlock, with ensuing possibilities for tremendous hardships to both interests concerned and to the public as well. In spite of the tense state of the relations, however, we do not believe either the employers or the employes will fail to realize the responsibility that rests upon them, or the common duty they owe to the public which they serve.

Unanimous re-election of William H. Shambaugh as a member of the Fort Wayne city school board by the council Tuesday evening was a high testimonial to Mr. Shambaugh, and one which he no doubt deeply appreciates. He has proven himself an efficient trustee, and has given to this very important position close attention and thorough sympathy. With Fort Wayne's growth, the position of school trustee, always important, is taking on new burdens and added importance, and the man who fills the position as capably as has Mr. Shambaugh is contributing largely to the welfare of his home city.

The democratic national convention at St. Louis this week will lack much of the dramatic, much of the strenuous and all of the bitterness that characterized the conventions of the republicans and the progressives at Chicago a few days ago. In spite of the fact, however, that the outcome is known in advance and that almost no uncertainty attends its deliberations, there is an enthusiasm and an interest manifest that demonstrates that democracy is up on its toes and will be fighting in splendid fashion this year.

Fort Wayne is planning for a civic health and beauty parade to be given on June 22 in connection with the widespread effort to make this city a cleaner, more beautiful and more attractive place in which to live. The propaganda is one in which every civic patriot should at once unite. It is not a fad and not a transitory spasm of civic virtue It is a very real and very important effort that promises fruitage in healthier and happier homes and a healthier, happier city.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels has come out strongly and squarely in favor of the ballot for women. We take it that pretty soon even Secretary Daniels' enemies—and he has a lot of vigorous and vociferous ones—will be constrained to reluctantly admit that he's right once in awhile.

A casual glance at the portraits of Mr. Hughes and Mr. Fairbanks makes it evident also that whiskers have once more become a national issue in this country.

WHISKERS IN THE WHITE HOUSE.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The nomination of Hughes and Fairbanks by the republicans has aroused much interest in the subject of whiskers as a presidential adornment. It is interesting to note in that connection that thirteen, or almost exactly one-half the number of those who have been president, have not been without some kind of facial foliage. It may have been due to the influence of the civil war—for observers say that when a nation takes up the sword it lays down the razor—that beards have been most in evidence with presidents in the last half a century.

Abraham Lincoln set a fashion that was followed by Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Harrison. The first appearance of whiskers in the executive mansion dates from March 4, 1825, when John Quincy Adams took office. He wore a variety of sideburns something along the order of that made famous in recent years by Chauncey M. Depew, Martin VanBuren, who became president in 1837, had a growth even more luxuriant than that of President Adams, although of similar cut. Zachary Taylor also had side whiskers, but not very pronounced in style or quantity.

Abraham Lincoln was the first president to wear beard covering the chin. He shaved his upper lip. Gen. Grant had a complete set, mustache and all. Rutherford B. Hayes also had a full beard and one of very generous proportions. Presidents Garfield and Benjamin Harrison were fully bearded; President Arthur wore a mustache and side whiskers. Presidents Cleveland, Roosevelt and Taft had mustaches.

BILLY GOAT UPSETS GUESTS AT HOTEL

Bluecoat Squad Pursued Him on Trip Down Fifth Avenue.

New York, June 14.—"Somebody's got my goats!" shouted James McNulty, liveryman, as he appeared, excited and perspiring, before Lieut. John O'Connor at the police station.

"Your goat?" the lieutenant asked.

"My goats—Billy and Nanny. They've gone—vanished," wailed McNulty.

Nanny Goat chewed hardware or paper in somebody's cellar at Fifty-Sixth street and Fifth avenue.

Sergeant O'Connor—not the lieutenant—pushed his way to the front of the flying squadron just as Billy Goat butted into the office of the Hotel Netherlands and sent several guests to the floor. Other guests grinned and watched two policemen wrestle with the fugitive.

The patrol wagon drew up before the door. Billy Goat, chewing the remnant of some fair shopper's handkerchief, was hustled to the station house. Nanny also had been captured and placed in the wagon.

McNulty arrived to identify his property. Sergeant Conklin, one of the pursuing squad, glared at him and nursed a spot where he had accidentally bumped into the bouncing Billy.

"If you'd feed those goats enough tin cans, paper and old handkerchiefs maybe they wouldn't leave home," was Conklin's parting shot.

STREET CAR MEN MEET.

President W. D. Mahon, of the Amalgamated Association, Not Here.

President W. D. Mahon, of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes, did not get to attend the meeting of Local No. 476 which was held Tuesday night in Harmony hall for the purpose of affecting a better organization.

Emphatic denial was made by Vice President C. B. Hutson to the report that another strike is pending. "These idle rumors injure the company and hurt us," he said. "You can also say for us that we have been treated fairly and the company has lived up to its agreement. Our meeting tonight was to take up organization work. We are new at the business and as Clayton H. Johnson was out of town, we asked for an amalgamated man who was experienced in this work. President W. D. Mahon, of Detroit, was expected tonight but did not arrive. There won't be any trouble as to labor matters if we can help it; the public can depend on that."

PRETTIEST BOY IN COLLEGE.

And He's Not a Bit Proud of the Honor Conferred by Coeds.

Minneapolis, June 14.—And now a boy at the University of Minnesota is blushing under the honor of being a "vanity fair" favorite. He entered no contest. The coeds are to blame.

"Oh, there he is! Isn't he too cute for anything!" The agricultural campus is echoing with these cries.

Axel Johnson is cursing coeducational schools in general and literary societies in particular.

The offense against masculine humility was perpetrated at a meeting of the Hesperian Literary society of the university, a society composed of maidens of literary inclinations, who rebelled against the general neglect of appreciation of masculine beauty and voted Johnson the prettiest boy at college.

COUNCILMEN SLAP AT BOARD OF WORKS

Some Feel Insulted Because of a Belated Contract.

Voting with their colleagues for a suspension of the rules to place immediately on its passage an ordinance ratifying a contract, five members of the city council a few minutes later gave hearty demonstration that they only permitted the necessary unanimity of action in order to make more spectacular, emphatic and stinging the slap they were bent upon giving the board of works for sending up for approval a contract upon which work had already been far advanced. Five members voted against the ordinance when it was placed upon its passage, though any one of them could have attained the same result by refusing unanimous consent to suspend the rules. They wanted to take a resounding wallop at the board and make their protest a matter of record. They did both in passionate style, the objectors making violent protest against what they described as the board's insult to the council.

The sensational episode grew out of the contract with Henry Wehrenberg by the board of works for the construction of a brick storehouse and workshop on the city's North Clinton street property for the municipal light and power department. The contract was awarded near a month ago, but the ordinance ratifying the contract was not submitted to the council until Tuesday night. It was known that Contractor Wehrenberg had days ago began operations on the building and that work was far advanced. The storm broke when, after the second reading of the ordinance a motion was made to refer it to the committee on contracts and franchises and an amendment was proposed and seconded to suspend the rules, pass the ordinance immediately and thus save printing bills. Councilman-at-Large Paul Kinder objected and then Councilman E. B. Smith, of the Fourth ward, and Herman A. Korte, of the Tenth ward, lined up with him. The discussion became acrid.

"This is wrong—all wrong," said Councilman Kinder. "The board has no business to do anything of this kind. Who's got the contract for that carpenter work? I'd like to know."

"I'm against this. I will not sit here to be insulted by the board of works, for this is an insult. I've got some manhood and I'll stand up for it," declared Councilman Smith.

"This is no way to do business. You know it and the board knows it. We are here to represent the people, and do business according to law," said Councilman Korte.

Finally, after a great churning of speech, with sometimes several talking at once, the council got the motion to suspend the rules to a vote and the motion carried. Some more debate followed and the ordinance was put upon its passage. Kinder, Smith and Korte, joined by Councilman Johns, of the Fifth ward, and Councilman J. B. Mills, of the Sixth ward, voted against the ordinance. Unanimous vote is necessary to pass an ordinance in the session at which it is introduced and the measure was lost. It was then referred to the committee on contracts and franchises, after there had been another gabfest over the question if the ordinance had not been killed by the vote.

The five councilmen voting against the ordinance took the position that the board of works should be taught to respect the prerogatives of the council and treat its dignity in a becoming manner.

Amend and Pass Vault Ordinance.

The ordinance to extend to November 1, 1918, the time within which property owners may remove all outside vaults on premises that abut on either street or alley sewers, was amended to fix November 1, 1916, as the limit, but it took a half hour of debate to bring the issue about in this wise. Dr. John H. Gilpin, secretary of the board of health, was asked to address the council and gave an impressive talk on the necessity for the ordinance and the reasons why an extension of more than two years of the time limit would amount to a practical suspension of progress in the notable work the health department had within a short time so splendidly advanced. Dr. Gilpin said that of approximately 5,000 outside vaults in the city 1,800 had been eliminated, and he spoke in praise of Bloomingdale and Nebraska, where this great improvement of sanitary conditions had been effected. Korte and Smith voted against the amended ordinance.

Traffic Ordinances In.

Two measures for the amendment of the traffic ordinances were introduced and referred to the committee on rules, regulations and ordinances. One provides for straight traffic on Berry street and Calhoun street, where that plan will be given thorough trial, and the other relates to the traffic on Calhoun street, vehicular and pedestrian and regulates the loading and unloading of trucks on that thoroughfare, fixing hours when such interference of traffic shall be unlawful.

Other Measures in Council.

The council returned to the committee on rules, regulations and ordinances for amendment so that it will equalize fees the ordinance amending the building code in respect of the form of permit issued for buildings of the first and second class. The system of fees was shown to be absurd and the demand was general for reforming it.

The ordinance imposing a license fee on itinerant photographers and picture canvassers employing the coupon system was passed. The ordinance requires a fee of $25 for the first day, $15 for the second and $10 for each subsequent day.

City Attorney Guy Colerick reported, pursuant to a request from the council, that it would cost $1,650 to have the city ordinances up to date printed and bound in one volume, this covering merely the cost of 1,000 copies. This matter was referred to the committees on printing and finance.

To the committee on claims the council referred a communication from the city attorney suggesting that $350 be appropriated to settle the claim of Mrs. Minnie Honeck, who was injured two years ago at South Wayne and Swayne avenues.

"We have entered this hall as democrats; let us deliberate as Americans, said Mr. Glynn. "It is the business of this convention representing every section of the U. S., speaking for every racial strain in America, to send forth a message to all the world that will leave no room for doubt."

Reviews President's Course.

Reviewing President Wilson's conduct of foreign affairs, for which the president stood with Washington, Adams and Grant, who had preserved peace with honor.

"For vain glory or for selfish purpose," he declared, "others may cry for a policy of blood and iron but the president has acted on the belief that the leader of a nation who plunges his people into an unnecessary war, like Pontius Pilate, vainly washes his hands of innocent blood, while the earth quakes and the heavens are darkened and thousands give up the ghost.

"If Washington was right, if Jefferson was right, if Hamilton was right, then the president' is right today," he declared.

Big Demonstration Starts.

Gov. Glynn's declarations upon Americanism and that "the policy of the administration as to neutrality is as American as the American flag" were given a prolonged demonstration. When Mr. Glynn predicted the re-election of President Wilson the delegates rose en masse and cheered, waving flags and whistling shrilly. The band helped along the demonstration.

Glynn pounded his gavel, trying to silence the throng, but soon the floor was again a sea of flags. The New Jersey delegation, bringing its stanchion, began the first procession down the front aisle. Stanchions of Illinois, Maryland, Indiana and other states soon followed.

The crowd got entirely out of hand but police prevented a general procession by sending the delegates to their delegations.

When the demonstration had been going on 15 minutes appeals were made to delegates to take their seats and let the speaker go on. They were answered by more noise. Finally after sixteen minutes, quiet was restored and Mr. Glynn went on.

Coliseum Fills Rapidly.

The Coliseum filled rapidly just before noon, some delay in opening the doors to spectators preventing an earlier influx. The bands accompanied the delegations to the hall but were not allowed to enter the hall. A few delegations came in all together and there was little excitement or cheering during the half hour preceding the opening of the convention.

Moving picture machines and cameras were planted at every vantage point. Because of the heat, under a flaring skylight, many of the delegates soon removed their coats and it promised soon to become a coatless throng. Texas delegates tossed miniature bales of cotton to the delegates.

At 11:45 the official band began the opening concert in accompaniment to a male quartet that sang a new song about America through megaphones. The song brought the first applause of the day.

Just before the convention was called to order the band struck up "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean," and the delegates rose joining in the chorus and waving American flags.

"Dixie" brought a roar, interrupted with the rebel yell.

Ovation for Bryan.

Wm. J. Bryan was given an ovation as he took his seat in the press section. The applause for him started in the galleries and then spread to the delegates. Mr. Bryan smiled his appreciation and got out his pencil and prepared for his reportorial duties.

A "woody" tiger was sent to Chairman McCombs' deck by a New York delegate.

The crowd as patient, orderly and quiet as it waited for the convention to begin. A half hour after the time set for the start the delegations still were coming in and notables were taking seats on the platform.

McComb Calls to Order.

Chairman McCombs took his place at his desk at 12:30 amid cheers and applause.

A few thumps of his gavel on a wooden sounding board quickly secured order and he cried: "The convention will be in order." One verse of "America" was then sung by the entire crowd, with tossing flags keeping the rhytham. This was followed by one verse of the Star Spangled Banner.

Rev. James W. Lee, Methodist Episcopal clergyman of St. Louis, read a prayer.

Immediately after the prayer Chairman McCombs delivered a brief address. The first demonstration greeted McComb's declaration: "The elephant is dead, the Moose is dead, long live the American eagle."

J. Bruce Kremer, secretary of the national committee, then read the formal call for the convention. When Chairman McCombs announced the temporary officers of the convention selected by the national committee, former Governor Glynn, temporary chairman, was cheered. The full list of temporary officers was read and approved.

Senator Reed, of Missouri; Senator Taggart, of Indiana, and Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, were appointed to escort Temporary Chairman Glynn to the chair. When the cheering subsided Mr. Glynn launched into his key note speech.

There probably was not one democrat who went into the building who could recall when a national convention of that party entered upon its work with more harmony than that which prevailed among the more than one thousand delegates today. The candidates for president and vice president have been decided upon and according to the leaders there will be no friction over the party's declaration of principles. Only the phraseology of a few planks in the platform remain to be agreed upon.

Prepared for Crowds.

Despite the expected cut and dried proceedings which the party managers hope to enliven by calling upon old campaigners to deliver ringing speeches to the delegates at odd moments during the sessions, the convention was prepared with a small army of assistants to handle all crowds at the meetings. Every seat in the oval shaped hall has been allotted and arrangements were made to take care of hundreds in spaces back of the seats and in the aisles. The interior of the coliseum was handsomely decorated, the American colors, of course, predominating.

City Dressed for Occasion.

The city itself was dressed for the occasion, the fact that this was flag day, the anniversary of the birth of the American flag helped in the display of the colors. Everywhere the stars and stripes fluttered and plans were completed by enterprising business houses for electric displays of the colors tonight and on the remaining nights of the week.

In quiet contrast to the republican convention when more than a score of different candidates' buttons were worn announcing favorite son candidates for president, there was but one button seen on the delegates today and that carried a likeness of President Wilson. Delegates shouted for Wilson, wore neckties with the name Wilson embroidered on them or carried pictures of the president.

Marshall Alone in Running.

Those who did not have on Wilson buttons wore some emblem indicating their favorite for vice president—Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, Roger C. Sullivan, of Illinois, Governor Major, of Missouri, or Governor Moorehead, of Nebraska.

But only one of these appeared to be in the running, the present vice president. President Wilson has indicated his preference for his running mate of four years ago and there is not the slightest doubt that his wish will be gratified. The other candidates may receive complimentary votes but if the leaders who are managing the convention can bring it about Vice President Marshall will be renominated by acclamation.

Those who looked for clear weather for convention were a bit disappointed to learn that conditions were uncertain. There was however, one thing virtually certain and that was that it was warm enough to make the closely packed crowd in the coliseum swelter.

Plans for Opening Day.

The plans for the opening day's session provided for the convention to be called to order at 12 o'clock by Wm. F. McCombs, of New York, the retiring chairman of the national committee. The call for the convention was to be read by J. Bruce Kremer the secretary of the committee. Then the program called for the opening prayer by the Rev. James W. Lee, presiding elder of the St. Louis district Methodist Episcopal church, South. The reading of the list of temporary officers already agreed upon was the next in order.

Then comes the key note speech by the tmporary chairman, Martin H. Glynn, of New York. Mr. Glynn's speech is expected to take up more than half the convention's time. After he concludes, the states roll call is to be made for representatives and committees on organization, rules and order of business and committees to notify the candidates nominated.

Adjournment will be taken until noon Thursday when the committees will report. Permanent organization will be affected and after the permanent chairman, Senator Ollie James, of Kentucky, delivers his speech, the convention may listen to some of the party orators.

Then will follow a recess and the presidential nomination will come late Friday night.

Saturday Session Uncertain.

Whether the convention will adjourn after President Wilson has been renominated and a session held Saturday morning to name the vice president or whether the convention will take up the vice presidency immediately after the president is nominated has not yet been finally decided. A number of leaders desire to have the convention complete its work late Friday night or early Saturday morning so as to avoid Saturday session.

One of the largest organizations here is the Cook County Democratic club which arrived last night prepared to help along the boom of Roger C. Sullivan, of Illinois. All of them had in the bands of their hats a small card on which was printed this demand: "We want Roger C. Sullivan for vice president."

Wore Marshall Buttons.

The supporters of the other candidates for vice president were not so conspicuous although a group of Indiana delegates 250 strong marched to the coliseum wearing Marshall buttons and carrying small flags.

Nearly everybody who went to the convention from the eastern part of St. Louis journeyed by way of Washington street, which for two hours before the convention convened was transformed into a "golden lane." On either side of the broad avenue stood women suffragists arrayed in yellow. They stood or sat on stools as they willed, a few feet apart and did not utter a word to the passing throngs making their way to the convention hall.

The "Golden Lane."

The golden lane stretched for twelve blocks from the hotel district to the coliseum and the mighty demonstration was expected by its originator to influence the delegates in the matter of a declaration for suffrage.

The suffragists hope to have the convention adopt the plank proposed by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, which proposes a suffrage amendment to the constitution.

Many speakers from the twelve suffrage states are in the city and many meetings will be held to advance the cause while the convention is in session.

Platform Building.

Platform building was continued by potential leaders of the party today so as to have as much of the work in readiness for the consideration of the resolutions committee. The committee is expected to organize late today, receive drafts of planks and hand them over to a sub-committee for consideration. It is probable that a public hearing will be given probably on Thursday, to suffragists, labor leaders and others who have planks they desire inserted in the democratic declaration of principles. Anti-suffragists will also be given a hearing it is said.

Secretary of War Baker, who arrived here last night with the planks drafted personally by President Wilson, will submit them to the resolutions committee when it is appointed. Mr. Baker has taken extra precautions to prevent the text of the planks in his custody being made public.

Expressions of approval were heard today regarding the suggested plan to win over members of the progressive party by making overtures to them in the democratic platform. Secretary Baker in discussing this phase of the political situation said the party leaders hoped to get progressive support by drawing a platform so that it will meet with their approval.

The national committee has adopted a design for a campaign button suggested by National Chairman McLean, of North Carolina. It bears a picture of President Wilson with the motto "America first" in bold red letters.

The North Carolina delegations are urging the appointment of Edward E. Bruitton of that state, as permanent secretary of the convention. He held the place four years ago.

Nebraska Crowd Compromises.

After three days' caucusing the Bryan and anti-Bryan factions of the Nebraska delegation compromised today and elected J. J. Thomas, of Stpart, Neb., member of the platform committee. Thomas, though elected on a Bryan ticket at the primaries, was referred to by the anti-Bryan faction as a sympathizer of their cause. W. D. Oldham, the anti-Bryan candidate for platform committee, was named chairman of the delegation in pursuance of the compromise agreement, and W. H. Thompson, the Bryan candidate for platform committee, was named on the committee to notify the president of his renomination. The controversy in the delegation involved the prohibition question.

MEMORIAL IS GIVEN SCHOOL

Chillicothe, O. At the age of 23 he was sent to Lancaster, O., as junior partner of Barr & Campbell, and while there met and married Elizabeth Johns. In 1829 he came to Fort Wayne, the long journey from Lancaster, O., being made in a carriage with his wife and two children, a wagon containing the household goods accompanying him in charge of a man servant. He arrived at a place 8 miles from Fort Wayne, on the Wayne Trace Christmas Eve., and camped there until morning, when his man on horseback went to the town for a guide. After securing one, he reached Fort Wayne about noon, and stopped at the Inn kept by Zenos Henderson, corner Barr and Main streets, where he remained until he secured a residence. He opened a store for his company, and acted as agent for Barr and McCorkle, who owned the town site of Fort Wayne.

Active With Other Pioneers.

"He immediately became active with the other Pioneer settlers in all the work of developing the town and country adjacent, and built here the first flour, lumber, oil and woolen mills, which for a number of years were the only mills of this kind within a wide radius of Fort Wayne.

"He was postmaster under Jackson and Van Buren, and served as commissioner of Allen county. Shortly after locating here he purchased the property on which "Rudisill's Mill" was erected on the bank of the St. Joseph river, and on a part of this land built his home, known as the "Rudisill Homestead," and which was occupied by members of his family until 1904 when it was sold to the traction company, and the present power station erected thereon. In this home built about 1832, he started the first school in Washington township, and there the first sessions were held. In 1837 he was active in organizing the first Lutheran church in Indiana and was one of its officers and active supporters during his lifetime.

"He was identified with all public enterprises that sought to benefit the community, and active in Masonic work, being one of the high officials in that order, and a commander of the Knights Templar in the early years of their organization.

"With such pioneers as Hanna, Hamilton, Barnett, Peltier, Comparet, Ewing, Edsall, Wines and others, he did his full share in forwarding the civil, commercial and social welfare of the community, and at the age of 57 died at his home after a short illness caused by exposure during a flood that threatened the loss of the dam at his mill.

"Gentlemen, to you as representatives of the school city of Fort Wayne, and custodians of this beautiful building dedicated to the cause of education, I now have the honor of presenting on behalf of Miss Eliza Rudisill, and Mrs. Mary Sturgis, his daughters, the tablet erected by them in memory of their father, who was a patron of education and a firm believer in the public school system of this great commonwealth. I trust that the sturdy principles of manly courage, Christian fortitude and a wide and liberal charity with which he was endowed and which found expression in his daily life may be an example to the youth who enter this school to prepare for the wider field that awaits them in after life."

Inscription on the Tablet.

The tablet bears a fine portrait of the pioneer, and below it is the following inscription:

HENRY RUDISILL

Born 1801 Died 1858

Lancaster, Pa. Fort Wayne, Ind.

A Pioneer Citizen, he located at Fort Wayne in 1829, and was active in opening to civilization and development, the territory adjacent to Fort Wayne. He built the first flouring, oil, lumber and woolen mills here.

He served as commissioner of Allen county, and was postmaster at Fort Wayne under Presidents Jackson and Van Buren, from 1831 to 1841. Through his efforts the first Lutheran church in Indiana was organized in 1837 in this city. The first German speaking citizen here, he was instrumental in bringing many Germans here, who settled permanently in Fort Wayne and Allen county.

A patron and friend of education, he organized the first school in Washington township, the sessions being held in his home, then located at the N. E. corner of Spy Run avenue and Elizabeth street, north of this building.

A worshipful master of Wayne lodge, No. 25, 1833 to 1857, and first High priest of Fort Wayne Chapter No. 19, R. A. M., 1851, he was the third eminent commander of the Knights Templar in this city.

"His life was gentle, and the elements so mix'd in him, that nature might stand up and say to all the world, 'This was a man.'"

march passed the postoffice and treasury department buildings and the white house, where a reviewing stand draped with American flags had been erected. There the program provided that the president should leave the head of the parade and enter the stand with the members of the executive committee, where arrangements had been made to have Mrs. Wilson and members of the cabinet to join him to watch the remainder of the line pass by.

To control the crowds, including visitors from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Richmond and other nearby cities, the Washington police force had called for aid from soldiers from Fort Myer, Va., and marines and soldiers from the navy yard here. Street car service along Pennsylvania avenue was ordered suspended during the parade.

No Regular Military Out.

No regular military organizations were permitted to march, because Secretaries Baker and Daniels thought it would be improper for professional soldiers or sailors to participate. The national guard of the District of Columbia, the Washington high school cadets and several other volunteer military bodies were assigned to prominent place. American flags were distributed to every marcher just before the parade started. Nearly every band in Washington and Baltimore had been pressed into service and it was necessary to have some of them march by the reviewing stand several times in order to lead different organizations. The United Marine band was placed just ahead of the president.

In Eleven Divisions.

The parade was divided into eleven divisions, one of which was designated for negro citizens and organizations. After marching in review the paraders were directed to proceed to the open space back of the white house, where a temporary stand was erected for the flag day exercises, under the auspices of the committee representing the various government departments. President Wilson planned to begin speaking there at 3 p. m.

IN NEW YORK CITY.

New York, June 14.—New York city and state participated with unusual enthusiasm today in the nation-wide celebration of flag day, set apart by the president for observance of the one hundred and thirty-ninth anniversary of the acceptance of the Stars and Stripes as the national emblem. The streets and buildings were gay with flags and celebrations were held by patriotic organizations and public and private schools.

AT OMAHA.

Omaha, Neb., June 14.—Thirty thousand men and women today paraded the streets of Omaha in honor of flag day while twice that number of spectators lined the sidewalks and cheered. From reviewing stands 20,000 school children witnessed the spectacle. When the head of the column reached the disbanding point the line halted and "America" was sung to the accompaniment of several bands.

AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Indianapolis, June 14.—Flag day was more elaborately celebrated in Indianapolis today than ever before. Downtown buildings were more profusely decorated than usual and a big parade planned for this afternoon, to be followed by a mass meeting, which was to be addressed by Charles A. Bookwalter, former mayor; Capt. William English, Charles J. Orbison and Fred Van Nuys. The exercises were in charge of the local lodge of Elks.

keep them quiet. Participants not only talked among themselves but also with outsiders, both men and women, who displayed intense interest in the show.

Secretary Baker, who is said to bear a copy of a suffrage plank endorsed by the president, received Mrs. Hannah J. Patterson, of Pittsburg, a national representative today, and later he planned to talk with Sarah Bardfield, of Oregon, who will discuss the women's party demands with him.

Reports came to both suffrage camps today that the plank which Mr. Baker carries is not as strong as that submitted to the suffragists last night through Secretary Daniels and indorsed by widely known candidates. The plank Mr. Baker has it is suggested declares for suffrage but does not declare for an immediate passage of a constitutional amendment.

ANOTHER CHAPTER OF SCHOOL FIGHT

Adams County Case Back in Superior Court on a New Tack.

The second installment of the controversy in Kirkland township, Adams county, over the construction of a township central high school, has come into the superior court here on a change of venue, the present suit being an attempt by George M. T. Houck, trustee of the school township of Kirkland, to have the advisory board of the township mandated to convene and authorize the trustee to borrow the money necessary to procure a site and erect a suitable building. Some weeks ago Trustee Houck was defendant in a venue suit tried here in which citizens and taxpayers of the township got a verdict from the superior court mandating him to provide a high school building. The trustee now says in his complaint that he has no funds and no authority to proceed and that the advisory board has refused to take action, though twice convened for that purpose. Heller, Sutton and Heller are attorneys for the plaintiff in this later suit.

Abused, Beaten, Neglected.

Gertrude Shilts was married to Charles Shilts October 1, 1909, and separated June 13, 1916. She alleges cruelty, charging that her husband cursed her, called her vile and abusive names and struck her, and did not support her and the two children. P. B. Colerick appears for the plaintiff.

In addition to this she accuses him of adultery with divers women. She says he is in Toledo. The plaintiff wants her maiden name, Maggie Hamilton, restored. Howard Hanthorn is her attorney.

RUSSIANS IN MASS ATTACK

RUSSIANS CLAIM ADVANCES.

Petrograd, June 14.—In their advance upon Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina, the Russians have occupied the village of Sniatyn, twenty miles northwest of the city, the war office announced today.

In addition to their previous captures the Russians have taken twenty officers, six thousand men, six guns and ten machine guns.

EXHAUSTION AT VERDUN.

Paris, June 14.—The fighting around Verdun has once more died down from sheer exhaustion of combatants.

An entire division, half of whom were Bavarians and half Pomeranians, was used up by the Germans in twelve separate attempts Monday to storm the French position north of Thiaumont. From this position the French flanking fire prevents the enemy from advancing on Vaux plateau. No result having been attained by nightfall, French troops were brought up and an attempt made to turn the position from the southwest. After a desparate struggle a footing was obtained in some trenches on Hill 321 half a mile west of Thiaumont, and a mile west of Brais. No effort was made to increase this advantage yesterday owing probably to the losses on Monday which, according to prisoners, were exceptionally heavy.

A violent artillery engagement took place last night in the vicinity of Vaux on the Verdun front. There were no infantry actions before Verdun.

AUSTRIANS ARE REPULSED.

Rome, June 14.—(Via London 2:12 p. m.)—Austrian attacks along the line of the Posina in the southern Tyrol, made after intensive artillery preparation on Monday night, were everywhere repulsed by the Italians, the war office announced today.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

ONE OF THE NEW BLOUSES

THE vogue of silk suits has had its effect on blouses. They are given every opportunity to be deserving of the position in which they are placed. As a change from the crepe de chine and Georgette blouses, so much in evidence during the late winter and early spring months, one is offered a wonderful array of organdie and fine handkerchief linen blouses. A very dainty model is made up of pink and white organdie. The blouse proper is of the latter. The pink is used as a trimming down the front of the blouse and on the cuffs.

Among the blouses made with low necks a great feature is the deep collar. Here the collar is of embroidered organdie, and to increase its depth a piece of plain organdie edged with lace is joined. A collar of this breadth is becoming only to the slender woman. For the stout figure the collar should be very shallow in front and in back it might extend in a deep point to the waist line.

RIBBONS AND LACES FOR THE SUMMER DANCE

ISN'T it a wonder what ribbons will do? And when they are mixed up with yards of billowy nets and laces they are irresistible. Instead of silk, this frock drawn for you today uses many yards of ribbon, both for trimming the skirt and for forming the greater part of the low tight bodice.

The skirt is a white net, embroidered in a light madonna blue. The ribbon is applied to it in three rows over the hips, and under these ribbons may be run the wire necessary to give the extended hip line. If the flouncing used is not skirt width it may be joined to plain matching net under the line of ribbon below the knees. These ribbons may be hemstitched on to the net, too, by the way.

ing is first required. To this the front portion of shirred net is attached, and then the ribbon is wound back and forth to cover the net lining completely. In the front the ribbons are caught thru and carried to the shoulders, to fall in rose-trimmed festoons from the shoulder. These roses may be the artificial kind to be bought in the millinery shops, or can be made of chiffon or silk. If there is too much decollete for the average woman, the frock might be supplemented by a very thin transparent guimpe of the net with long flowing sleeves, and a straight shoulder to shoulder line picoted on the edge.

GLASS DESK SET

TO SPEAK of a desk set as being of glass sounds too coldly hygienic to be really pretty, but the newest of the fittings for the letter writer are of etched and cut glass, and are exceptionally handsome. The corners of the blotter are of the glass, and also the inkwell, calendar, small bottle handle and even the penholder, while a tiny glass clock and a slender vase for flowers suggest additional beauties for the desk. The set would make an exceptionally handsome wedding present, that has the rare combination of being both beautiful and essentially practical.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

To Remove Grease From Silk

I spilled some grease on a silk dress. Is there any way that I can remove it, as it is impossible to wear the dress as it is?
Miss J. K.

Make a paste of equal parts of powdered French chalk and fuller's earth with either water or turpentine, and apply it to the spot. Allow it to stay on a few days before brushing off.

A Summer Coat

I want to make a white coat, but find the materials are so expensive. Can you suggest any cheaper materials? Mrs. F. B.

If you buy a pair of white blankets, you will find there is plenty of material to make a beautiful white flannel coat at reasonable cost.

ICE TEA GLASSES

TINKLING ice, the cool sharpness of the scent of lemons and the sight of the clear amber-tinted tea in the glass pitcher make up one of the delights of the summertime, but, incidentally, every one knows that an ordinary tumbler is not big enough for the ice and the tea; and, what is more, it leaves a wet spot on the table. As a result, since the law of supply and demand seldom fails, new ice tea glasses have made their appearance in the shops. These are tall and barrel shaped, and are made with handles and also with tiny glass saucers under them. They come in plain and cut glass, as do the square ice tea tumblers, with glass and metal coasters for under them. To go with these glasses teaspoons with extra long, slender handles are shown; and one may even procure a special ice pick that will break the ice into little squares that fit nicely into the glasses. Even without such appurtenances there is nothing so satisfying as ice tea on a hot day, but with them the tea becomes an ambrosia that appeals as much to the eye as to the palate.

UNIQUE COAT FOR SUMMER

PERHAPS the girl who in the early summer strolled into the blanket department of a large store and pounced upon a pair of handsome white blankets purchased them and triumphantly carried them home—perhaps this girl had other reasons for purchasing these blankets than the usual one. Being a very capable girl, on returning home she gleefully told one of her friends of her purchase. Once told of the plan to use the blankets, this friend immediately purchased half interest in them, and together they cut out and made in just the style they wanted a very beautiful white flannel coat. They purchased a polo coat pattern and found laying the material on the bed the easiest way of cutting the coats out. It being summer, a lining was an unessential thing, consequently they found the putting together a very simple matter. To give their coats a tailored look they had the buttonholes made by a tailor. On the whole, their experiment was a great satisfaction.

NEW CAMISOLES

THE newest camisoles to wear under thin blouse are of allover lace or allover English embroidery, and are made in one piece. Space for the neck is cut out and edged with beading and ribbons, but the seams at the sides are not sewed up, but are edged with lace and tie under the arm and at the waist line with bows of ribbon. Some of these camisoles have an inner lining of a pale flesh tint and are tied with pale pink ribbons, and the majority are cut much higher in the neck and wider on the shoulder than the ordinary camisole, since they are designed to droop in a kimono effect over the shoulder line and lend an illusion to a tiny sleeve.

AMBER-HANDLED PARASOLS

THE popularity of amber seems to be growing rather than diminishing with the coming of the warm weather, and besides the tops of the new handbags and workbaskets there are now to be seen parasol handles of the warmly yellow tint.

These amber handles are especially effective on the parasols of yellow and dull blue, and also are a stunning combination with a white parasol which has a floral design in yellow roses. They come in straight designs, crooks and the ever-popular bracelet style.

Amber buttons have also made their appearance, while, of course, the amber-topped hat pins and long strings of beads continue in high favor with the girl who likes yellow.

FOR THE PORCH

THE furniture designed for porch use is just too attractive for words. A very useful article is a wicker table, which is provided with a wicker rack. Against this rack one can place a newspaper, a magazine or the directions for one's crochet and not be bothered by having to hold the paper affair in one's lap or hands.

The wicker birdcages are just the thing for the winged creature who likes to be with the family. A very odd cage is shaped like the globe used to teach geography. Just like the globe, the cage is suspended from a hook on a standard made of wicker.

Each guest found a little bouquet of white flowers at her place which she immediately wore. Miss Marie Beck, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Mrs. Jerry Strayer, of Los Angeles, were out of town guests.

The interesting event of tomorrow is the baby show at the exposition grounds. It is an echo of the pageant and it is hoped so much interest will be taken that the hole in the centennial committee's pocket will get a patch, at least. So everybody is urged to take notice for there are to be given twenty-four prizes for the babies, besides there are the things to see at the exposition any way, babies or no babies. But there will be many babies and the judges are Dr. Hamilton, Dr. Bruggeman, Dr. Gilpin, Mrs. James Shields, who is chairman of the committee on getting up this "show" and Mrs. Gilpin, also a judge.

Miss Violet Fields was the honor guest on Tuesday evening at a picnic given at Robison park by Miss Emma Schmidt. There were a dozen girls in the party and they enjoyed a basket supper and the numerous pleasures of the park, including a bowling contest in which Miss Fields won a prize the hostess gave. The Misses Celeste and Henrietta Petgen are to entertain in honor of Miss Fields Wednesday evening. On Monday evening a lovely party was given in honor of the same bride-elect, Miss Fields, by Miss Eleanore Schneider, of Wall street. Peonies formed a beautiful decoration, the colors throughout the house being red and white. A basket of beautiful roses and ribbons that extended to each plate and tulle bows tied to the basket made an attractive center piece for the table. Smilax that trimmed the chandeliers and tables and place cards of cupid design and a wedding bell filled with rice that somehow got tipped over at the right moment and spilled itself empty over Miss Fields, were other particulars of the entertainment which a dozen young women enjoyed.

Miss Ida Grabner who is to be a bride of the early summer, was the center of admiring friends and the recipient of those friends' shower of gifts on Monday evening at the clubrooms of the Sigma Zeta Beta club. Miss Grabner was for a number of years private secretary to S. F. Bowser and C. A. Dunkelberg and is therefore personally acquainted with all the young women of the Bowser office force. Many pink and white roses made the rooms very attractive and a tempting luncheon was served. AT KEITH PALACE.

AN AGILE BIG MAN.

Al Wilson's Drunk Scene Big Laugh in "Girl Question."

When huge Al Wilson, the towering comedian and vocalist with the Lasalle Musical comedy players at the New Palace, lurches onto the stage in "The Girl Question" after having imbibed too freely of the spiked punch at a reception, a laugh goes over the house. The laugh rises to a roar as Wilson careens towards the opposite side of the stage vainly groping for support in the empty air, but it is when he flops backwards and bending until one thinks his spine must give way under the strain weaves back and forth over the footlights the trick invariably is greeted with an enthusiastic hand, for the stunt requires no mean amount of agility on the part of a man of the proportions of Wilson. The big funster by the way sings a bass in the Lasalle quartet and his booming notes blend harmoniously with the voices of the other three.

"The Girl Question" is proving an even bigger hit than "The Time, Place and the Girl," possibly because the company is even more happily cast than in the last week's bill, for Guy Voyer's role of Con Ryan fits him without a wrinkle, while Aleen Morrison proves herself in the role of the over-looked "pal" to be a dramatic actress of skill. Harrie Lee, as the pert, saucy restaurant cashier with the misbehaving eyes and the penchant for the stage, is a captivating bit. Fred Dunham's singing of the song "I'll Follow You," done with the chorus in some novel tricks, closing with the American soldier following the flag, is a riot.

AT THE GRAND

In "Barbara Frietchie," in which little Mary Miles Minter, the fascinating and talented young actress is starred, the Popular Plays and Players have achieved a screen masterpiece that will create a distinct sensation, and will be shown at the Grand theater today and tomorrow. The picture is in five parts and was adapted from Whittier's immortal poem of the same name and the play by Clyde Fitch. In addition to the charming Miss Minter, the youngest star in the world, there appears in the supporting cast, the veteran actress, Mrs. Thomas W. Whiffen and many other artists of the stage and screen. The production marks the screen debut of Mrs. Whiffen, the "Grand Old Lady" of the stage, who has been appearing in prominent roles with notable stars for more than fifty years. "Barbara Frietchie" has the distinction of being a thrilling war play without a single battle.

QUITS PASTORATE AT SALEM CHURCH

Rev. F. W. Knatz Resigns to Take Position With College.

Rev. F. W. Knatz for the past three years pastor of Salem Reformed church of this city, has resigned as pastor of that congregation in order to accept the position of principal and teacher of the Acadamic college of the Theological seminary of the Reformed churches located at Franklin, Wis. His resignation is to take effect the first Sunday in August.

The beloved pastor presented his resignation at a meeting of the congregation Monday evening and it was with regret that the church accepted it. They were very reluctant in granting the request and made all sorts of attractive inducements to have him remain. However, after Rev. Knatz explained to them that it was a necessity that the request be granted, they accepted the resignation.

During his pastorate here he won the respect and high esteem of everyone with whom he came in contact and especially was this true in his own congregation. Every one of the members and especially the officials of the church feel that they are soon to experience a heavy loss. However, they wish their pastor the best of success in his new undertaking.

The new position, which has been offered him and which he has accepted is one which carries with it great honors. This is the college where young men are trained for the ministry in the Reformed churches. Rev. Knatz is a graduate of this school, having completed his course in 1904.

He entered into the pastorate of Salem Reformed church of this city October 20, 1913, and during his short stay here the church has progressed and grown very rapidly. The church is now one of the foremost churches in the city and much honor is due to its retiring pastor.

Previous to the local charge, Rev. Knatz was minister of the Reformed church at Buffalo, N. Y., for four years. The five years following his graduation from college he was pastor of the church at Bucyrus, Ohio.

Rev. Knatz was one of the most active workers in the Fort Wayne Ministerial association and was considered oneof the ablest speakers in the city.

Fierce Fight Staged in 'Squire Grabner's Court

Enraged because the court acquitted Herbert Meyers of the charge of provoke, Charles Jones, West Main street, forgot he was in a court of justice and without warning jumped upon Meyers, struck him several terrific blows, grabbed him by the throat and threatened to kill him when Constable Harvey Hughes and Attorney Stephen Callahan pulled him off. The scene was enacted in the court of 'Squire Henry C. Grabner Wednesday morning. Jones was fined $10 and costs for assault and battery, besides a fine of $5 and costs that had been assessed against him a few minutes before for malicious trespass.

The other night as Meyers was going home he was hailed by Jones. The hour was late and he refused to stop. Jones followed him and attempted to break in the door and did tramy down the flowers and do other damage about the premises. Meyers had him arrested on the charge of malicious trespass and when the court found him guilty and fined him $5 and costs he immediately filed a charge of provoke against Meyers. The court found Meyers not guilty, the verdict being no sooner announced than Jones pounsed upon Meyers and the scene as stated above took place. Jones is now a prisoner in the county jail.

BULLETIN.

Washington, June 14.— In a flag day speech here today President Wilson. charged that there were some foreign born persons in the U. S. who were trying to levy a kind of political blackmail on the American political parties in the interest of foreign governments.

This, the president declared, must be stopped. He was sounding what some of his advisers said would be one of the issues of the coming presidential campaign. .

C. Stout for use in his office when foreigners take the oath of allegiance and become citizens of the United States.

Reference was made to the history of the flag by speakers who addressed the gathering. Music was furnished by a quartet and the audience sang the "Star Spangled Banner." The program was in charge of Mrs. Rose Sutton, president of the corps.

Appropriate exercises were held in many of the schools of the city and county.

SACRED HEART IN GOLDEN JUBILEE

Annual Commencement is a Feature of Notable Observance.

The celebration of its golden jubilee and the annual commencement exercises of Sacred Heart academy were great and altogether most imposing events Tuesday. The exercises for the anniversary day were held at the academy north of the city, in the morning and for the graduating class in the afternoon, but the jubilee celebration was noted throughout the commencement exercises.

A large audience of friends and relatives and of the clergy connected with the diocese were present, at both morning and afternoon gatherings, including Rt. Rev. Bishop H. J. Alerding, Rev. J. A. Lynn, who celebrated the mass at the academy chapel, Rev. J. H. Durham, deacon, Rev. M. P. Louen, sub-deacon, Rev. W. C. Miller, master of ceremonies, Rev. Arthur Barry O'Neil, C. S. C., of Notre Dame, who delivered the jubilee sermon, Rev. E. J. Mungovan and Rev. T. Travers, of Portland, who addressed the graduating class. Besides the Sisters in present charge of the academy, a number of Sisters of the Holy Cross, who have been there in former years, were visitors.

The members of the graduating class are Miss M. Berling, of Decatur; Miss M. Michaels, of Chicago; Miss M. Dillon, of Union City; Miss F. Bloom, of Fort Wayne, all of whom took the academic course. In the commercial course the graduating class consisted of Miss E. Price, of Payne, O.; Miss H. Arnold, Fort Wayne; Miss G. Kilbourne, of Baltimore, Md.; Miss I. Mallicka, of South Bend; Miss E. Zurbuch, of New Haven; Miss J. Henry, Fort Wayne, and Miss A. Gretzinger, of Kendallville.

Program Beautiful One.

The program for commencement exercises was very beautiful and demonstrated musically, the excellent training the pupils receive with a special feature of the Alma Mater chorus of which both music and words were written by two Sisters of the academy. The program opened with a short piano composition rendered by Misses K. Golden, A. Murphy, R. A. Weber, B. Baltes, H. Arnold, C. Cotter, D. Morrow and M. Kiley. In singing the Alma Mater chorus the students were Misses H. M. Houder, M. Dillon, J. Henry, M. E. Carroll, L. Mallicka, H. Kenny, G. Kilbourn, B. Ryan, C. Tobey, H. McCarthy, Y. Deneen, D. Morrow, C. Morrow, who sang, and at the pianos were Misses Weber and Katherine Carroll. Miss I. Schnelker recited a poem, Mrs. Josie Alber-Horton, a former pupil of the academy, played a harp solo. Miss Hazel Houder of Chicago, also a recent pupil, sang Gounod's "Ave Maria," a piano number was played by Misses Bloom, Dillon, Berling, Tobey, Gretzinger, K. Carroll, Kuebler and McCarthy and a number of pupils who recited a poem were Misses E. Bloom, M. Michael, M. Dillon and M. Berling. Medals and diplomas were conferred upon the class.

Rev. Father Travers Speaks.

Rev. Father Travers delivered a short address which was very much to the point in suggestions to the young women of the academy classes, concerning the intellectual improvement of their minds. Father Travers addressed everyone, "old girls and young girls," and aside from calling attention to the benefits of a residence at the Academy of Sacred Heart and the daily contact with the beautiful characters of the sisters, remarked that education demands, in addition to knowledge, beautiful character, high and noble sentiments, and a refinement that is or becomes ingrain to the individual, not only spiritually, but intellectually. Father Travers condemned the general run of woman's page stuff in Sunday editions of papers, believing it to be harmful and its result a tendency toward vulgarity.

Following the graduating exercises the entire audience adjourned to another part of the academy and enjoyed a number of toasts. Father E. J. Mungovan presided as toast master and his witty remarks served as a tonic to any one the least bit tired and everyone who spoke did so in an exceedingly clever manner. Father Lynn was particularly merry and Father Louen's remarks, though in a more serious vein, were aspecially apropos to the occasion and were equally enjoyed. Rev. J. H. Schmitz's subject was "Our Holy Father," and his toast was impressive. A political toast was given by Mrs. A. E. Carroll on "Our Alma Mater," and Mrs. James M. Dinnen was equally entertaining and to the point on "Early Days." Mrs. Louise Greenwell-Nelson interested everyone with her short toast on "Loyalty" and Miss Gertrude Coleman was quite fortunate in her reminiscences of "School Days."

Bishop Speaks Briefly.

At the close, though not on the program, Bishop Alerding spoke for a few moments in his happiest manner, charming the audience with his humor and entertaining his priests of the parish present with his references to their devotion to him as well.

Altogether it was a beautiful hour and a fitting close to the rounding out of a half century of the work of the Sisters of the Holy Cross at Sacred Heart academy.

A most interesting spectator during the entire day was venerable Father Adam, who founded the academy. Reference to Father Adam and to his years of devotion in the early life of the academy was frequent. There were present two of the first pupils of the school, who live in Fort Wayne. They were Mrs. John Bostick and Mrs. John B. Reuss. Letters and telegrams were read from absent alumnae members and from former sisters now located elsewhere. A purse of over five hundred dollars in gold was presented to the sisters by former pupils of the academy. Sister M. Trinitas, a former pupil of the academy, wrote the music to the hymn referred to and the words were written by Sister Resurrection. The rooms used during the jubilee celebration were very beautifully decorated, the gold and white denoting the fiftieth year, and the green and white in other rooms the graduating class colors. The work was done entirely by the pupils and was in excellent taste.

WITH every contestant lining up her forces, and preparing for the final dash to the wire, the greatest contest ever conducted in this territory has developed into a matter of hours. But four days of the contest remains, and the prizes will then become the property of eighteen of the most popular and energetic women of this section of the state. All indications point to a furious finish and the effort NOW is worth so much more than it ever possibly can be again that even the seconds remaining have an inestimable value. Throughout these final days that are left the battle of ballots will wage at a rapid rate, and not only in Fort Wayne, but people through The Sentinel's territory are interested in the results. This intense interest, which has now reached the fever heat mark, is caused not only because of the many popular and ambitious young women entered, but also because of the magnificent prizes which are soon to be awarded. No contest ever before held in this state has offered the opportunities that has this one, nor such a grand array of rewards, given under such liberal conditions.

With such a short time remaining, practically every candidate realizes the great value and importance of her time and is determined to do her best before the finish arrives. NOW is the time when your efforts will really count, and NOW is the time you want to work as you never worked before, for the prizes are of such magnificence that to forego the opportunity to win them when they might be yours for so little effort would be a crime.

Of course you realize that it is necessary to get votes in order to win and WIN is what you want to do without a doubt. The essential thing and the only thing that is really important is to get votes in to the contest office in the ballot box by 9 o'clock Saturday night. But there is nothing like having a little leeway. If votes were deposited next Saturday they would count, but the best way is to have them in in time. Trains go wrong; crowds sometimes hinder and accidents are galore. "The Pardon That Came too Late" has furnished material for many a heartrending story and ballad. Well votes that come too late will be as much avail as the pardon was to the man who was hanged.

During the four days of the contest that remains it is essential that every contestant who expects to be a winner—and every one who wants to be a member of that class—get out and put forth her utmost efforts to securing subscriptions. Rake over your field as though with a fine tooth comb to make sure that nothing in the line of subscriptions has escaped you. Begin today and route out for yourself a list of places to be visited each day until the close. Make use of the telephone and any other legitimate means of securing these necessary adjuncts. Without them you cannot hope to finish at the top, but by earnest work during the few hours that remain you may not only surprise yourself, but destroy the illusions of some of your competitors who already have visions of receiving one of the four cars. Yours is the chance—the opportunity is too great and of a too far-reaching value to be allowed to slip away without some effort on your part to stop it, and it is up to you to make the most of it. It won't do you a bit of good, and you know it to have many subscriptions in prospect if you fail to get them in before the race ends and some one else, a little more enterprising than yourself, walks off with the particular prize upon which you set your heart.

SECOND PAYMENTS

A fruitful source of votes is that of "Second Payments." Candidates who have in the beginning of this campaign secured from their friends or acquaintances a subscription to The Sentinel for a short term, should again visit these subscribers and endeavor to secure their consent to lengthen their subscription. By having these subscribers make another payment on their subscription, and extending to say, one year, the subscription will be counted as new, and secure votes accordingly. Such subscriptions should invariably be marked, on the stubs as "Second Payments, and always mark the amount of money paid on the first payments.

To turn in an old subscription as a new one, will avail nothing to the contestants, for such a procedure merely forfeits the votes to which she would be entitled. The Sentinel carefully verifies every subscription that is brought or sent in, and where it is discovered that stubs have been marked wrong, the votes will not be issued.

If the candidates are uncertain whether the subscription is old or new, they should communicate with The Sentinel. Be sure that the stubs are marked CORRECTLY BEFORE they are turned over to the Campaign Office.

Special Offer Ballots

The special offer ballots of extra votes due all candidates on the offer which closed Saturday, June 10th, were mailed from the Sentinel office Tuesday evening. All candidates should be sure to notify the office if they do not receive theirs by Wednesday evening. Also be sure to check up your subscriptions sent during this offer to make sure that you have received the correct number of extra votes. In case of any error notify the campaign office by telephone immediately.

Merely As a Matter of Caution Are These Lines Printed

It is of utmost importance that every contestant, especially the contestant living outside of Fort Wayne, read and weigh every line of the following carefully. We would dislike to see any candidate lose votes because of the excitement and rush that will attend the closing days of the campaign, or because of any misunderstanding on the part of the contestant.

1. The campaign will close promptly at 9 p. m., Saturday, June 17th. And every vote ballot and subscription must be at the office at that time. The Sentinel will not be responsible for any letters delayed in the mails, and contestants living outside of Fort Wayne should see that their votes and subscriptions arrive before that hour.

2. The final count will take place on Monday afternoon, at the Fort Wayne Sentinel office. Same will be in the hands of a committee of Fort Wayne's most prominent business men.

3. All votes and remittances mailed after Wednesday should bear a special delivery stamp, to be assured of prompt delivery. Candidates may send remittances or votes any time later but must be certain that same will arrive at the Campaign Department not later than 9 p. m., June 17th.

4. All remittances and votes should be addressed directly to the "Campaign Manager," Fort Wayne Sentinel. Do not address your letters to individuals. This will prevent any letters going astray.

5. Candidates should be careful in making out their subscriptions, giving complete address, and also, when mailing same should be sure to have the correct amount of money to cover all subscriptions.

6. Be certain that your name is on all ballots sent in. This is absolutely necessary and very important. Also bear in mind that no votes are transferable.

7. Positively no personal checks will be accepted the last two days of the campaign. All remittances sent or brought to the campaign department on Friday and Saturday must be either money orders, certified checks, drafts or cash.

8. Every candidate should use unusual precaution in marking their subscriptions as to whether they are "new" or "old" as the subscriptions will be carefully verified before the prizes are awarded.

9. Any matter that is not perfectly clear regarding any point pertaining to the campaign should be reported to the Campaign Manager at once, so as to have a thorough understanding before the close.

10. Candidates should follow every article from now on until the close of the campaign.

NO MORE CHANGES IN STANDING OF CONTESTANTS

The standing which appears today includes every coupon, every subscription ballot and every vote published throughout the campaign up to Friday, June 9th, at 6 p. m. These votes as published today will not be counted again, as the final count will be made of the reserve votes, and votes secured from now on will be deposited in the sealed ballot box during this week. If this count is not absolutely correct according to your figures, please notify the Campaign Manager immediately, so that proper corrections can be made before the close of the campaign. If you reside outside of the city of Fort Wayne, use the telephone to notify the Campaign Manager of any errors.

This Standing Represents Votes Cast Up to 6 P. M. Friday, June 9th

WOMAN MAKES HUSBAND HAPPY

Gets Him Tanlac and He Finds It Just What He Needed

"My husband was greatly surprised when Tanlac benefited him for he had little faith in any medicine," Mrs. Katie Bixler, well known Fort Wayne woman of 1911 Sinclair avenue, said recently.

"For ten or twelve years Mr. Bixler suffered from stomach trouble," she continued. "When he ate breakfast he usually was not able to keep the food on his stomach. His trouble was so severe that he'd just toss and roll and groan at night. Often he retired without attempting to eat supper. It seemed that there was a heavy weight in his stomach all the time. Formations of gas formed, causing him much trouble.

"After taking about a bottle and a half of Tanlac my husband improved steadily. He sleeps soundly at night now and in the mornings he feels rested and refreshed. The feeling of weight in his stomarch also has left. He is not bothered with formations of gas in his stomach now. His appetite is fine.

"I bought Tanlac for my husband against his will, but he's glad he tried it now."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite and the like.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at Meyer's drug stores—Wayne and Calhoun, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor.—Advertisement.

FT. WAYNE ON ROUTE YELLOWSTONE TRAIL

National Highway is to Be Extended from Chicago Eastward.

By the extension of the Yellowstone Trail east from Chicago to the Atlantic coast, this state and city gains one of the best known transcontinental highways. The Yellowstone Trail has been organized and in operation west of Chicago for the past five years. It maintains an intense organization west of Chicago, being incorporated, and having general offices at Aberdeen, South Dakota, devoted exclusively too the interests of this road.

The decision to extend east was made at the last annual meeting held at Minneapolis, Minn., in February of this year. Since that time the association has been investigating routes east and last week the decision was reached to extend the route across Indiana, through Hammond, Valparaiso, Plymouth, Warsaw, Pierceton, Columbia City, Fort Wayne and then northeast through Harlan, entering Ohio at Hicksville. Through Ohio the route selected goes through Bowling Green, Fremont and Norwalk to Akron, and then to Franklin and Oil City, Pa., Olean, Binghamton, Elmira and Kingston, N. Y., Hartford, Conn., Providence, R. I., and to Plymouth, Mass., the slogan of the road being "A good road from Plymouth Rock to Puget Sound."

Chas. L. Biederwolf, secretary of the Fort Wayne Commercial club, has been appointed temporary member of the executive committee for Indiana on the trail association staff of officers, pending the organization of the state and regular election.

The selection of this route follows a visit to this state by General Agent H. O. Cooley, of the Trail association, at which time the matter was gone into thoroughly, and a state meeting held at Columbia City, which was largely attended. The announcement was not unexpected on the part of the cities through which the route extends, they having pledged their co-operation and support of the trail.

JUNE 22 IS DATE OF BIG CIVIC PARADE

Mayor Hosey Lending Aid to Make Affair Notable Success.

Thursday afternoon, June 22, is the time set for the great civic parade to be given in Fort Wayne in connection with the city-wide campaign for cleanliness, health and beauty, a proceeding under the auspices of the municipal department of health and the Real Estate exchange and the immediate direction of Mrs. Josephine L. Nesbitt. Plans to make this parade the greatest and most impressive demonstration for civic advance ever held in Fort Wayne are rapidly going forward. Mayor W. J. Hosey will lend every assistance possible to insure success of the demonstration, Chief of Police Charles Lenz will provide an escort of sixteen officers to escort the procession, the Elks' band will furnish music for the marchers and it is expected that there will be in line thousands of men, women and children who are interested in the great campaign to raise Fort Wayne to eminence as the cleanest and most beautiful as well as healthful city in the country. The parade will end at the Majestic theater, where the initial exhibition will be given of the National Cash Register company's wonderful kineamacolor pictures, which are to be here for two days and which may be seen by the people of Fort Wayne without cost to themselves. A meeting of the women counselors of the campaign was held Tuesday afternoon at the West Wayne street home of Mrs. A. E. Fauve, who is chairman of the parade committee, and the preliminary plans for the event were then laid. It is hoped to have a large number of automobiles for the parade.

Street Lecture Tonight.

The fifth meeting in the series of illustrated lectures in the open air by Mrs. Josephine L. Nesbitt will be given tonight at New Haven avenue and Edsall street.

The meeting Tuesday night at John and Horace streets proved to be one of the most largely attended and interesting yet given. Many questions were asked and the spirit was enthusiastic. The boys of John and Gay streets gave striking evidence of their intelligence and zeal in the work.

The lecture Thursday evening will be given at Wayne and Monroe streets.

Lafayette Place Maintained Like Park

Many of those who purchased property in Lafayette Place last year, and who have taken advantage of the ideal weather to visit their lots, during the last few days, have been delightfully surprised at the condition in which they found them, even though they were fully aware of the condition in the contract with the Lafayette Place company, which obligated company to maintain all lots in a similar way to which parks are maintained by cutting weeds, etc. The increased attractiveness, which this feature of all contracts for lots brings, is but one of the many conditions promising a rapid sale of the remaining lots and the quick development of the addition. For further information see the Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff Building, or member of the real estate exchange.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

BRETHREN START HOMEWARD TRIP

Big Convention at Winona is Nearing the End—Shop News.

The triennial meeting of the Church of Brethren at Winona, which opened last Friday, has commenced to break up and several thousand people in attendance are preparing to go to their homes. They are traveling in smaller parties than characterized their movement to the resort and so far it has not been necessary for the Pennsylvania to operate any extra trains. All of the regular trains eastbound carry extra equipment, however. Today No. 152 delivered three carloads of these people to the G. R. & I.; No. 40 had two car loads and Nos. 107 and 9, westbound, two car loads each. All the trains tomorrow will carry from two to three extra cars to accommodate this travel, but so far there has not appeared any need for special trains.

NO STRIKE OF KNITTERS.

Wayne Mills Say There is No Trouble With Employes.

"There is absolutely nothing in the report that the knitters in our factory are on strike," said John A. Thieme this morning. "Five young fellows, who claimed to belong to the Textile union, walked out of the mills at 1 o'clock yesterday, alleging that they had made a demand for increased wages and were turned down," continued Mr. Thieme, "but I nor any of the heads of the Full Fashion Knitters' union, which is the recognized labor union of the works, knew of the incident until they read it in the Daily News or heard it through other means after 6 o'clock last night."

Business Agent Johnson, of the Machinist Union, also denied the rumor that there was a general strike of knitters at the Wayne mills. "There is nothing to the story," he said. Then Mr. Johnson explained that there were two labor organizations at the Mills. The old one, formerly the Textile workers, but now the Full Fashion Knitters union, has a membership of upwards of 400 and has been in existence over six years. The new one, which is called the Textile Workers, No. 984, was organized about six months ago and as I understand it, it was members of the latter who walked out yesterday afternoon." The members of the new organization are not knitters, Mr. Thieme said. They are all employed in the seamless department and it is said that the organization has only sixten members. It is not connected with the Knitters union and he knew nothing of a strike in the seamless department and he worked up to the usual hour for quitting last evening before he heard of it.

HUSTON HEADS THE LIST.

Street Car Men's Union Elects Him the President.

At the meeting the street car men's union Tuesday evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: C. B. Huston, president; J. F. Helms, vice president; E. R. Boyer, financial secretary; U. Huff, secretary, and Herman Bruns, treasurer.

PUSHING WORK AT OSAGE STREET.

The Nickel Plate Section Foreman P. J. McAnery had a large force of men engaged today in elevating the north track in the west end of the yards, placing the temporary stringers and the ties under it to give opportunity to the men engaged in excavating for the subway to push the work. The putting of this main lead track out of commission for a day made it somewhat difficult to handle the business at the yards. The excavators have reached a point about forty feet from the north line of the Nickel Plate yards and will complete that part of the work in two or three weeks.

NOT BADLY INJURED.

The two men injured in the Nickel Plate wreck at Oakwood yesterday who are now at the St. Joseph hospital under the care of Dr. Dinnen, are not badly hurt and will soon be able to go to their homes. One, J. Mahoney, resides in Kansas City and the other, W. J. Davidson, resides in Omaha. No. 402, the engine which figured in the collision, had her front end caved in and has been sent to the Stony Island shops for repairs. The caboose, the care takers car and a car which carried live poultry were demolished and were thrown in the ditch by the wrecking crew to be picked up later.

OUT WITH SUPPLY TRAIN.

Assistant Trainmaster Thomas S. Fox and Chief Clerk Charles H. Tonsing were the only ones in authority at the G. R. & I. offices this morning, all the officials being out on the road with the supply train, which left Richmond this morning for Grand Rapids, stopping en route at all stations. With the car are Supt. B. H. Hudson, Trainmaster R. G. Casey, Division Engineer R. G. Jones, Division Operator J. F. Betts, Road Foreman of Engines A. L. Lopshire and Master Carpenter H. M. Large. They will be three days in making the trip.

STILL UNABLE TO WALK.

Mrs. Albert Hettler, who was struck by an automobile at Calhoun and Baker streets last Saturday, is still confined to her bed at the family home, 612 Masterson avenue. Mr. Hettler, who was also struck by the auto at the same time, has recovered and is at work again in the Pennsylvania shops. The machine carried the number 4027 and through it Mr. Hettler hopes to locate the man who was driving the auto on that occasion.

JOHNSON MAY LEAVE.

There is a rumor which, however, could not be verified that Clayton Johnson contemplates resigning in the near future his position as agent of the machinists' union and will leave soon for Denver, Colo., where he will make his future home. Mrs. Johnson and son have been in Denver for several months on account of their health. The regular meeting of the Machinists' union will be held Monday evening.

LOST A FINGER; ANOTHER HURT.

J. Schaefer, employed at the General Electric works, had his right hand caught between castings he was handling this orning and severely injured. Dr. F. J. Schulz, the company's surgeon, was compelled to amputate the second finger. The third finger was also badly cut and bruised, but it will be saved. The unfortunate man was taken to St. Joseph hospital where the amputation was performed.

GOING TO DETROIT TO WORK.

Willis R. Miller, for the past four months the oiler at the Pennsylvania car machine shop, resigned today and will take employment in an automobile shop in Detroit. Mr. Miller worked four or five years in the Pennsylvania planing mills, but when he was injured four months ago he was given the lighter work of oiling the machinery.

LOST INDEX FINGER.

Walter Sacher, who came here from Edgerton, Ohio, recently to take a position with the Corrugated Paper company, lost the index finger of his right hand this morning when the digit was caught in a machine he was operating. He is at the St. Joseph hospital.

COMING HOME SATURDAY.

B. F. Sarver, general foreman of the Pennsylvania boiler department, who has been at the Martinsville sanitarium three weeks, expects to come home next Saturday. He is so much improved that he will make the trip unaccompanied by any friend or member of his family.

WILL ENTERTAIN PRISCILLA AID.

The Priscilla Aid society of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Order of Railroad Conductors will be entertained by Mrs. C. H. Blue, of 329 East Woodland avenue. Mrs. Boland will be the assistant hostess.

BUSY AT KNITTING MILLS.

"The knitting mills are busy as usual," said John A. Thieme in reply to an inquiry this morning. The dye situation is not causing as much trouble at present as formerly, for there is an abundance of the American product now.

Bowel Complaints in India.

In a lecture at one of the Des Moines, Iowa, churches a missionary from India told of going into the interior of India, where he was taken sick, that he had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with him and believed that it saved his life. This remedy is used successfully in India, both as a preventive and cure for cholera. SCHOOL CHILDREN VISIT EXPOSITION

Baby Day Has Been Postponed Till Thursday—Other Attractions.

Owing to the bad weather of last week, and the consequent inability of many people to bring their families to see the big industrial exposition at League park, it is requested that the big firms of the city declare half holiday on Friday, in order that working men may take their families and spend a profitable half-day seeing the big educational display of Fort Wayne's firms.

THE CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION COMMITTEE

Hundreds of school children were the special guests of Manager J. S. Berger and Van B. Perrine of the centennial exposition committee at the big exposition on North Calhoun street, Wednesday afternoon. In spite of the clouds which threatened to hide the sun all through the morning, the youngsters came in flocks and droves, bringing their mothers or fathers or big brothers or sisters, or aunts or uncles, as Manager Berger had requested. Every youngster who came under the guardianship of an older person was admitted free, and the youngsters thoroughly enjoyed every part of the big exposition, making the rounds of all the 200 displays of the For Wayne merchants and manufacturers, and especially the great hippodrome with its marvelous showing of fifteen big circus acts. Yesterday's crowds at the exposition grounds totaled nearly 4,000, and everyone present was loud in his praises of the big attraction.

Public Marriage Tonight

Great interest is scheduled around the marriage in public at the exposition grounds scheduled for tonight of a Fort Wayne couple. While they have refused to allow their names to appear in print, there are a number of surmises going the rounds of the gossips as to whom they are. The ceremony will be performed on the Hippodrome stage, at the north end of the hippodrome grounds, immediately after the evening performance has closed. And after the couple has been united, the exposition committee will present them with a beautiful set of furniture, valued at more than $150.

Baby Day Thursday.

Big interest is centered in the Centennial Baby day show, which will be conducted at the exposition grounds Thursday afternoon. With eighteen loving cups offered as prizes for the most perfect little tots brought to the grounds. Ample space has been provided for the judges at the grounds, and accommodations will be made so that mothers will have ample facilities for caring for their babies in as thorough a manner as they could care for them at home. It is expected that nearly 1,000 mothers will be at the grounds for the baby show Thursday afternoon and the exposition committee is planning to handle that many little tots. Mothers have been asked to be at the grounds not later than 2:30, as the judging will begin shortly after 3:00.

The selection of Fort Wayne's Centeninal babies is to be conducted in no haphazzard manner, and good looks and general appearance will not be the only things that will make an impression with the judges, who are Mrs. James L. Shields, Mrs. J. H. Gilpin, Dr. Allen Hamilton, Dr. H. O. Bruggeman and Dr. J. H. Gilpin. Actual physical perfection is to be the only points that will count with the judges, and accurate scores and percentages will be recorded in determining the prize winners As each baby passes before the judges it will be weighed, measured and sounded by the judges, and a card will be made out by a clerk recording the percentage of each entrant. When all these cards have been made out for each of the six classes of babies, they will be arranged in order of percentage, and those babies whose percentages are highest will be awarded the prizes.

The order in which the babies will be judged is: First, girl babies less than one year old; second, boy babies less than one year old; third, girl babies between one and two years old; fourth, boy babies between one and two years old; fifth, girl babies between two and three years old; sixth, boy babies between two and three years old.

IN AN ATMOSPHERE OF VICTORY, HE SAYS

Address of Chairman Calling Democratic Convention to Order.

St. Louis, Mo., June 14.—In calling the democratic national convention to order at noon today Chairman William F. McCombs, of the democratic national committee spoke as follows:

"We are in an atmosphere of victory. We have no feeling of guess, but a spirit of certainty. We meet to celebrate the marvelous achievements of the democratic party since it came into power and to place a milestone upon the path of its future success.

"Over two thousand years ago, an old slave related the fable of the frog who wanted to grow the size of an elephant. Such was the ambition of his soul that his body swelled to a marvelous proportion. Indeed Aesop went so far as to predict that the frog, upon reaching the size of an elephant, would burst. I commend to your notice the wisdom of Aesop. It took over two thousand years for his prophecy to come true. Only last week the frog-elephant—or the elephant-frog exploded. The republican party for years succeeded in deceiving the people. Now it is successfully deceiving itself. In its platform it offers pulchritudinous promise—but with vacuous intent. It promises the country in the main what the democratic party has already done or is in the process of doing, having always, the bogus God —"protection." It has cloaked its iniquity with a judicial robe but the cloven hoof of special interest still protrudes.

"We have witnessed the drab spectacle of two groups of men, trading principles like competitors in a fish market, in the hope that some compromise would win public support. They have not come together—they have fallen out over the "swag." For the sake of victory, many of these men, essentially opposite in principles have been willing to become friends with false masks. The result is inevitable, 'divided they fall.' We are proud in the thought that 'united we stand.' We welcome the pent-up Americanism of the real progressives individually to our ranks, offering them a haven in principle. Their leader has abandoned them with crass cruelty.

"This is a crucial hour in the history of the world. It is an hour when every man should take stock of himself and his principles. This is an hour when every one should see whether in his inner consciousness he squares with the ideals of 1778, and the later periods of dramatic episode, when this country resolutely maintained peace with honor.

"The democratic party in the face of scandalous and vicious attacks, has maintained this great American ideal. While for peace, it has steadily and surely worked for sound and powerful preparedness. It has maintained a solemn, calm dignity in the face of circumstances which might have drawn it into the vortex of a world destruction. Though villified by self-seekers, it has maintained friendly relations throughout the world; it has been true to the spirit of America; it has been true to the great principles of Washington, Jefferson, Madison and Jackson; it has allowed no selfish interest to blind it to the fundamentals of its faith and the country has found that its confidence has been well bestowed.

"Ladies and gentlemen of this great convention, the elephant is dead, the moose is dead. Long live the American eagle."

RETURN SHAMBAUGH TO SCHOOL BOARD

Without the formality of a nomination, but by a simple referendum vote, Hon. William H. Shambaugh was unanimously re-elected to a third term on the Fort Wayne board of school trustees by the city council Tuesday evening. The entire membership of the council was present and voting. Mr.

HON. WILLIAM H. SHAMBAUGH,

Elected by City Council to His Third Consecutive Term as School Trustee.

Shambaugh entered the chamber just as the count of ballots was completed and was asked to address the council, which he did briefly. He said that the result was somewhat more unanimous than on a former occasion when he sought public office, a good-natured reference to the time more than twenty years ago when he was defeated for mayor. He spoke of the growth of the public school system of Fort Wayne and of the vast and increasing importance of the office to which he had been elected. A box of cigars was passed with Mr. Shambaugh's good wishes to the councilmen. The school board will be reorganized at its next meeting.

ATTENTION, BOY SCOUTS!

Friday evening, June 16, will be the last meeting of the Boy Scouts of Troop No. 2. Every scout is expected to be in attendance as no more meetings will be held until next September. The meeting will be held at the Jefferson school.

Henry Kruse, Incorrigible Alcoholic Rusticated for Long Term.

Henry Kruse, a tailor, who for several years has worked more at measuring alcoholic liquors than running seams in breeches, has tried about every drink cure prescribed by the Indiana penal code only to come smashing up against a miserable failure. In the city court Wednesday morning, Judge H. Waveland Kerr tried the last resort and condemned him to 149 days at the state penal farm and if that proves futile something new will have to be invented with special reference to Henry's case. On a charge of drunkenness, with previous convictions, conviction was made and sentence pronounced. Kruse has been in the city court more times than can be stated without a tedious search of the records. He has been in for drunkenness, for child neglect, for disorderly conduct and other offenses. His wife not long ago got a divorce from him. But recently he returned from the village for epileptics, to which institution he had been sent in the hope that treatment there might help him. He kept sober only so long as he was where he could not get anything to drink.

Milk Wagon Man Fined.

Allen G. Kehler, a wagon driver for the Fort Wayne Dairy company, was fined by Judge Kerr on a charge of having on his cart for delivery bottled milk containing visible dirt. Kehler offered no defense and was fined $10 and costs.

Other City Court Cases.

Tom Burns, who says he is employed at the Bass foundry, was fined $25 and costs for carrying concealed weapons and the revolver found on him by Officer John Godfrey, who arrested him on Calhoun street, was ordered destroyed.

John Wesley was the venerated name given by a gentleman who made some boast of his fraternal connections when he was arraigned on a drunk charge. He was continued until Thursday and went to jail to do his waiting.

William Kowash, a drunk, was fined $1 and costs.

Thomas Owens, a youth who was a fugitive from the state school near the city, was charged with loitering and later turned over to attaches of the institution.

JOY RIDERS ABANDON CAR.

A Ford car operated as a jitney by Charles Nelson, 1733 Howe street, stolen at 10 o'clock Tuesday night from Court street, where it had been parked by its driver, was later found on Lafayette street, where it had been abandoned by three young men who evidently had stolen it for a joy-ride.

Americanism and Peace---Preparedness and Prosperity is Democratic Program, Says Glynn in Keynote Address

St. Louis, June 14.—With the assertion that no president since the civil war has had as crucial problems to solve; and no president has displayed a grasp more sure, a statesmanship more profound, as President Wilson, Hon. Martin H. Glynn, former governor of New York, opened the democratic national convention here today.

Declaring that "Americanism and peace, preparedness and prosperity—are the issues upon which the democratic party stands, and the heart of democracy swells with pride that is more than a pride of party, as it hails the man, who has asserted this Americanism, assured this peace, advocated this preparedness and produced this prosperity," he predicted the re-election of President Wilson.

Taking up our foreign relations that has been called into emphatic prominence by the world-wide war the speaker declared that "We have entered this hall as democrats; we shall deliberate as Americans." * * * The policy of neutrality, he argued, is as truly American as the American flag. For two hundred years neutrality was a theory; America made it a fact "It took Washington and his successors eighty years of endless negotiation to win recognition of American neutrality. And this eighty years of struggle wove the doctrine of neutrality so closely into the warp and woof of our national life that to tear it out now would unravel the very threads of our existence." By the records of history Mr. Glynn maintained that if Washington and Lincoln were right, President Wilson is right. The neutrality that President Wilson stands for today was advocated by Washington, by Hamilton, by Jefferson and by Lincoln.

Defends Wilson's Course.

By citing precedents Mr. Glynn justified and defended the course of the president in the Lusitania and similar incidents. "In the face of this record," he asked: "Do Republicans realize that when they arraign the policy of the president of the United States today they arraign the policy of Harrison, of Blaine, of Lincoln and of Grant? For the pleasure of criticising a democratic president, are they willing to read out of the republican party the greatest men the republican party ever had? Are they willing to say that the republican party of today condemns what Hamilton did in revolutionary days, what Lincoln did in civil war days and what Grant and Blaine and Harrison did but yesterday.

"In his policy of peaceful negotiations today the president of the United States follows the example set him by the greatest presidents which the democratic party and the greatest presidents the republican party ever gave this nation."

Mr. Glynn impressed on his hearers that it was the business of this convention "representing every section of the United States, speaking for every racial strain in America, to send forth a message to all the world that will leave no room for doubt.

"We must enable every real American to stand up and assert his Americanism. We must make the issue so clear that every ballot box in the land may become a monument to the loyalty of American manhood.

Stand Behind President.

"The citizens of this country must stand behind their president because his policies are right. They will stand behind him because his policies are the policies which have brought the nation a century of prosperous and honored peace. They will stand behind him because they want these policies continued, that prosperity prolonged, that peace assured."

He pointed out that the promise made four years ago that a democratic administration would liberate the nation from the chains of industrial tyranny has been carried out. He eulogized the federal reserve act and declared that the "Scholar-statesman, whose rod has struck the golden rock of America's resources, to set free the wealth imprisoned for half a century, is a Moses who has led America's industries from the wilderness of doubt and despair to the Promised Land of Prosperity and hope."

The laws restraining big business from stifling competition, the trades commissions act, the movement to foster expansion of American trade, the close union of economic, commercial and financial interests between the United States and the nations of South America are shown to be legislation of the widest benefit. The Underwood tariff Mr. Glynn characterized as the fairest and the best of all we have enacted. Under the present administration the United States has enjoyed a wonderful era of good business and good times.

The American's ideals and his aspirations served as the basis for the speaker's opening discussion.

Must Prove Worthy.

"We who stand today on the fertile soil of America, who live under the smiling skies of a free and fruitful land, must prove worthy of the trust that American sacrifice has imposed on every American.

"Disregarding the divisions that make one man a tory and another a whig, one man a republican and another a democrat, Americans will cast aside the tinsel of party labels and the mummery of party emblems.

"From the great pulsing heart of the nation will come a patriot command to crush partisanship, and rebuke whatever is mean or blind.

"That command will be heard by the ploughman in his field, and by the laborer at his bench. It will reach the merchant in his office and the lawyer at his desk. We would be false to ourselves, and recreant to those who send us here if we permitted any thought of partisan profit, any consideration of political advantage to obscure our vision of the tremendous issues now before the people of the United States. We must cast aside all that is selfish; we must hold ourselves worthy of a nation's confidence by offering only the best of our intelligence, the flower of our patriotism toward the solution of what all men perceive to be a crisis in the nation's affairs."

In asking for an endorsement of the president's peace policy Mr. Glynn said:

"For two years the world has been afire; the civilization that we know has been torn by the mightiest struggle in its history. Sparks from Europe's conflagration have blazed in our own skies, echoes of her strife have sounded at our very doors. That fire still burns, that struggle still continues, but thus far the United States has held the flame at bay; thus far it has saved its people from participation in the conflict.

What Must Be Determined.

"What the people of the United States must determine through their suffrage, is whether the course the country has pursued through this crucial period is to be continued: whether the principles that have been asserted as our national policy shall be endorsed or withdrawn.

"This is the paramount issue. No lesser issue must cloud it, no unrelated problems must confuse it."

In declaring that the policy of neutrality is as American as the American flag, Mr. Glynn asserted that:

"The first president of the United States was the first man to pronounce neutrality a rule of international conduct.

"In April, 1793, Washington declared the doctrine: and within a month, John Jay, chief justice of the supreme court of the United States, in an epoch-making decision from the bench whose realization would ensure universal and perpetual peace, wrote the principle into the law of this land. The Declaration of Independence had foretold it by declaring 'the rest of mankind enemies in war, in peace friends'; the constitution recognized it: but the first president of the United States by proclamation, the first chief justice by interpretation gave it vitality and power.

Stands Where Forefathers Stood.

"The president of the United States stands today where stood the men who made America and who saved America. He stands where John Adams stood, when he told King George that America was the land he loved and that peace was her grandeur and her welfare. He stands where General Grant stood when he said there never was a war that could not have been settled better some other way, and he has shown his willingness to try the ways of peace before he seeks the paths of war. He stands where George Washington stood when he prayed that this country would never unsheath the sword except in self-defense so long as justice and our essential rights could be preserved without it.

"For vain glory or for selfish purpose, others may cry up a policy of blood and iron, but the president of the United States has acted on the belief that the leader of a nation who plunges his people into an unnecessary war, like Pontius Pilate vainly washes his hands of innocent blood while the earth quakes and the heavens are darkened and thousands give up the ghost.

What Opposition Means.

Speaking of the opposition to the president's peace policy, the speaker continued:

"By opposing what we stand for today, the republican party opposes what Hamilton stood for a century ago. The founder of the republican party and the founder of the democratic party, placing their country's happiness above every other consideration, forgot partisanship and made American neutrality a national creed. We who follow Jefferson stand where Jefferson stood, but we look in vain for a sign from the present leaders of the republican party to show that they follow where Hamilton led. Where Hamilton counseled moderation they denounce it. Where Hamilton thought only of country they think only of self. Where Hamilton placed patriotism above partisanship they placed partisanship above patriotism. How then do they dare to speak for the great body of American citizens who form the rank and file of the republican party? Do these leaders believe that their republicanism is a better republicanism than Hamilton's, their Americanism a purer Americanism than that of Washington?

"If Washington was right, if Jefferson was right, if Hamilton was right, if Lincoln was right, then the president of the United States is right today; if the republican leaders are right then Lincoln was wrong and Jefferson was wrong and Hamilton was wrong and Washington was wrong."

Justification of Policy.

The justification of our policy of neutrality is expressed by Mr. Glynn in these words:

"Before this declaration every war was a world-war; since this declaration nearly every war has been a local war. Before this declaration war was a whirlpool, ever-increasing in area and in its whirl dragging down the nations of the earth; since this declaration war has become a sea of trouble upon which nations embark only from self-will, from self-interest or the necessity of geographical position, of financial obligation or political alliance.

"Neutrality is the policy which has kept us at peace while Europe has been driving the nails of war through the hands and feet of a crucified humanity.

"The praises of this policy are not written in the ruins of American homes, not in the wreck of American industries, not in the mourning of American families; they are found in the myriad evidences of prosperity and plenty that make this a contented land. From every whirling spindle in America, from every factory wheel that turns, from every growing thing that breathes its prayer of plenty to the skies, from every quiet school, from every crowded mart, from every peaceful home goes up a song of praise, a paean of thanksgiving to hymn a nation's tribute, to the statesmanship that has brought these things to pass.

With Records of History

The issue raised by democracy's opponents of the vigor with which our neutrality has been enforced is dealt with by the records of history:

"When Grant was president, during the war between Spain and the Spanish West Indies, a Spanish gunboat seized the vessel 'Virginus' flying the American flag and a Spanish commandant in cold blood shot the captain of the 'Virginus,' thirty-six of the crew and sixteen of the passengers.

"But we didn't go to war. Grant settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

"When Harrison was president the people of Chili conceived a violent dislike to the United States for our insistence upon neutrality during the Chilian revolution. When this feeling was at its height one junior officer from the United States warship Baltimore was killed outright in the street of Valparaiso and sixteen of our sailors wounded, of whom one afterwards died.

"But we didn't go to war. Harrison settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

When Lincoln Was President

"When Lincoln was president this country's rights were violated on every side. England, Russia, France and Spain were guilty of such flagrant violations that Secretary of State Seward advanced a plan to go to war with all of them at one and the same time.

"But we didn't go to war. Lincoln settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president is trying to do today.

"When Pierce was president the British minister in this country and three of his counsel violated our neutrality during the Crimean war. We gave these representatives their passports and sent them home.

"But we didn't go to war. Pierce settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

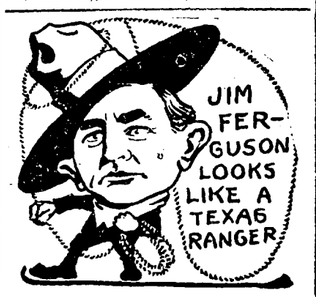
"When Van Buren was president a detachment of Canadian militia, during the internal troubles in Canada, boarded the U. S. ship Carolina in the American waters of Niagara river, killed an American member of the crew, fired the ship and sent her adrift over Niagara Falls.

"But we didn't go to war. Van Buren settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

"When Jefferson was president England seized hundreds of our ships and Napoleon hundreds more.

"When Adams was president France preyed upon our commerce. She extended her seizure, searches and confiscations to the very waters of the United States themselves until she had plied up in our state department charges of over 2,300 violations of neutrality's law.

"But we didn't go to war. Adams settled our trouble by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.



"When Washington was president and 'neutrality' first declared, war convulsed Europe, our ships dared not to put out to sea, commerce was paralyzed and business depressed. American passengers and American crews were thrown into prison and deprived of legal rights.

"But we didn' go to war. Washington settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today."

Issue of Preparedness.

In his treatment of the issue of preparedness Mr. Glynn asserts that the genius of this country is for peace.

"We have built our greatness on the resources of nature and the peaceful toil of our people. The ring of the anvil not the rattle of the saber, the song of the reaper, not the shriek of the soldier, the clatter of the shuttle, not the crack of the rifle, have won us the place we occupy in the councils of the world.

"Like the old Mohawk chief who loved peace, we would like to throw the tomahawk of war so high in the sky that no man's hand could ever pull it down. But when some other tribe among the races of men sends us a bundle of arrows wrapped in the skin of a r[illegible]e, we want, like old Governor Bradford, of Massachusetts, to be in a position to send that rattlesnake's skin back stuffed with powder and with ball.

"We have been carried too close to the rocks of war during the past two years to believe that those rocks do not exist. And looking into the future we can perceive that if our sovereignty is not challenged, if our peace is not assailed it will only be because the world knows that we are strong enough to defend ourselves from every foe.

"For these reasons this administration has done more for our army and our navy than any administration in our history.

"More than this, it has mobilized the resources of the nation to meet the needs of war. It has placed the wealth of the country back of the strength of the country, the toiler back of the soldier and the sailor.

"And to our opponents we say you can't create an army, can't create a navy in the course of a day; to them we say if our navy is not strong enough, our army not big enough the republican party is eighty percent. to blame for the republican party has been in control of this nation eighty per cent. of the time during the past fifty years.

The Democratic Position.

"The democratic party advocates and seeks preparedness, but it is preparedness for defense, not preparedness for aggression.

"It is the preparedness which builds the nation's house upon a rock, so it will not fall when the rains descend and the floods come and the winds blow.

"A regard for national surety as well as a pride of personal honor will therefore bring the American people to the support of their president. Whether their blood is drawn from the banks of the Rhine; or where the River Shannon flows, whether they hail from Alpine valleys or the meadows of the Pyrenees, whether their descent be German or French, Irish, Russian or Greek, the men who have sworn an oath of fealty to the ideals of America will be true.

"They may love the lands of their fathers much, but they love the land of their children more. They may cherish the memory of the sod from whence they sprung, but they stand ready to die for the soil that they have hallowed with their homes.

Reviews Domestic Policy.

In his review of our domestic policy the temporary chairman pointed that the promise made by democracy four years ago had been faithfully kept.

"Today the prosperity which the nation enjoys bears witness that democracy has kept the faith. Today the gates of opportunity are open; the hosts of special privilege stand disarmed. Today the forces of government are encouraging, not blocking the full expression of the nation's progress. Today the business man, the artisan and farmer find themselves free to enjoy the fruits of their labors, unhampered by the sinister power of special privilege or the selfish oppression of 'invisible government.'"

Of the federal reserve act, Mr. Glynn had this to say:

"In the panic of 1907, under the old system, New York could not lend a country bank $50,000 with which to meet factory payrolls; in 1915 under the new system, inaugurated by this democratic administration, New York loaned Europe five hundred millions even though the financial centers of the world were disrupted by the world war, and there were still left in New York the largest bank deposits in its history.

"If this democratic administration had performed no other public service than the enactment of the federal reserve act, it would deserve the unstinted approval of a grateful nation. Thanks to democracy and to democracy's leader, the business man who is struggling to establish himself may now work out of panics and hard times. The toiler in the factory may ply his tasks in security, knowing that his employer's business is safe from assault. The farmer who must borrow to move his crops may do so without spending his days in anxiety, his nights in nightmares of foreclosure and disaster.

The Underwood Tariff.

"The Underwood tariff," declared the speaker, "enacted by this administration has banished greed from the gates of our ports and written justice into our tariff schedules.

"Of all the tariffs we ever enacted this is the fairest and the best.

"Until the foreign war reduced importations no new tariff was ever more satisfactory. The highest protective tariff ever written would probably have given us no more revenue during this European war and a higher tariff on raw material would have hampered our manufactures; a higher tariff on the necessities of life would have placed a woeful burden on the poor man in the conditions which the war abroad has brought about.

"By the Underwood law this administration has taken the new tariff out of politics; by the new tariff commission it proposes to take politics out of the tariff."

Discusses Prosperity.

In the discussion of prosperity Mr. Glynn made particular reference to our industrial condition.

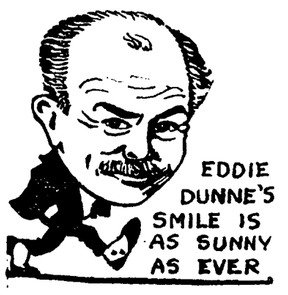
"Today prosperity shines from blazing furnaces and glowing forges. It echoes from busy docks and from thronged emporiums of trade. Its message of plenty fills the land with the chant of the spindle and of loom, lifting the mortgage from the poor man's home and promising his children a future that seemed impossible.

"During the past four years this country has experienced a steady and continuous improvement in business. Wealth has increased 21 per cent., the value of manufactured products 59 per cent., capital 43 per cent., wages 54 per cent., and exports 77 per cent. The flood-tide of our prosperity has risen to such an unprecedented height that the only limit to trade is our ability to make and transport the commodities demanded at home and abroad. Our fields and our factories cry aloud for men and unemployment has ceased to be a problem. Wages have advanced, building operations have resumed, real estate has recovered its worth.

"There is not an idle car on our railroads or an idle ship at our docks. For the first time in history America's greatest port has become the world's greatest port.

Purchasing Power of People.

"The purchasing power of our people



is greater than that of any other people on the globe. Never was there as much money in our vaults as today. The aggregate resources of our national banks are three thousand millions more than the aggregate resources of the Bank of England, the Bank of France, the Bank of Russia, the Reichbank of Germany, the Bank of Netherlands, the Swiss National bank and the Bank of Japan. We have four hundred and one millions of money more than we had a year and a half ago and our gold supply exceeds by many hundreds of millions the gold supply of any other nation on the earth.

"This avalanche of money poured into our pockets by the rest of the world as a tribute to our national resources and our fidelity to peaceful industry. It is only the symbol. Compared with our trade at home this foreign trade is a mere pittance. Our domestic commerce today is larger than the foreign commerce of all the nations of the world combined.

"Against this actual condition our opponents raise an arguments of 'ifs.' With greater truth we can also enter the realm of conjecture and declare that if another candidate had been elected four years ago, the United States would be at war today. A ton of 'ifs' do not weight as much as a single fact. Our opponents forget that 'if' the flight of the seagulls off the coast of the West Indies had not directed his course, Columbus would not have discovered America when he did. But the seagulls were there—'ifs' cannot banish them—and Columbus found our land."

Praise for Wilson.

Chairman Glynn concluded with praise for President Wilson, who, he said, has measured up to the best traditions of a great office.

"He has been wise with a wisdom that has been disciplined by training and broadened by instruction.

"He has been firm with the firmness that proceeds from deep conviction, with the firmness that is grounded in a duty well defined.

"He has been patient with the patience which believes and trusts that truth crushed to earth will rise again, with the patience that can endure and wait, watch and pray, for the certain vindication of justice, humanity and right.

"He has been patriotic with a patriotism that has never wavered, a patriotism that is as pure and strong as the faith that moved the fathers when they made our country free.

"And when the history of these days comes to be written, and the children of tomorrow read their nation's story, when time shall have dispelled all misconception and the years shall have rendered their impartial verdict one name will shine in golden splendor upon the page that is blackened with the tale of Europe's war, one name will represent the triumph of American principles over the hosts of darkness and of death.

"That name will be the name of the great president who has made democracy proud that he is a democrat, and made Americans proud that he is an American.

"It will be the name of the statesman who has kept his country true to its faith in a time that tried men's souls; the name of the student and the scholar who has championed the cause of American freedom wherever he found it oppressed; the name of the patriot who has implanted his country's flag on the highest peak to which humanity has yet aspired; the name that carried the torch of progress to victory once and will carry it to victory again, the name of Woodrow Wilson, president and president to be."

18-HOLE GOLF COURSE.

William B. Langford Directing the Work at Country Club.

The Fort Wayne Country club is to have an 18-hole golf course as soon as the gang of men put to work Tuesday clearing away the timber west of the present course finish their work. The work is being pushed rapidly and will be ready for next season.

William B. Langford, the architect from Chicago, has the work in charge, and will spend this summer here directing the work.

It is hoped in France that this year's increased wheat yield will do away with the necessity of importing wheat and that lower prices will prevail.

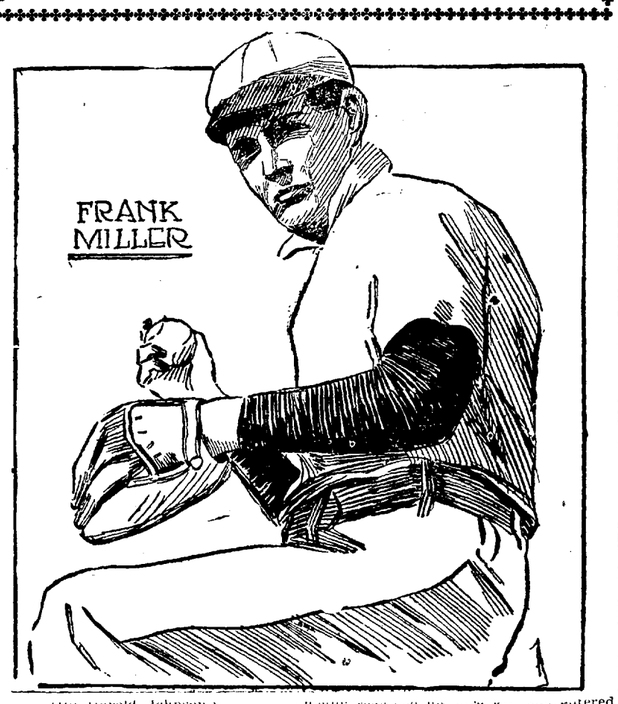
STAR PITCHER OF PIRATES IS PLAYTHING OF MISFORTUNE.



(By Harold Johnson.)

His given name is Frank but among the other members of the Pittsburg National league ball club he's known as Misfortune Miller. Despite mishaps galore this young Pirate is topping all rival pitchers in the parent circuit in the little matter of effectiveness, having allowed but five earned runs in fifty innings of service. His feat of battling the Cincinnati Reds sixteen innings stands out as one of the banner slab performances of the season.

This quiet, unassuming chap has met with more physical misfortunes than 99 out of 100 boys who are following the diamond calling. As a kid, hurling at Allegan, Mich., his work attracted attention and he got a job in the Northern league, later being drafted by the Chicago White Sox.

From Comiskey's clan Miller drifted to Des Moines and helped tha tclub win a pennant in the Western league. The seasons 1910, 1911 and 1912 saw Mileir curving for San Francisco. He returned to the White Sox but on the 1913 spring training trip became paralyzed and was out of the game the entire season. He finally regained his strength and entered the International league.

About the time Pittsburg swung the deal for his purchase last summer Miller threw his arm out at the elbow and was helpless for seven weeks. His future again was uncertain but he had lots of hope.

A week before the close of the season Miller visited Bonesetter Reese at Youngstown, O. The ailing athlete could not carry a suit case in his right hand when he entered the specialists's office but he did when he departed. The bonesetter gave his arm a few jerks and advised him not to throw any curves for a few weeks.

This season Miller reported to the Pirates in the "pink" of condition. He appeared to be a splendid athletic specimen. At Dawson Springs, Tenn., he injured a leg, but recovered quickly. In his first start of the campaign his right hand was almost broken by a batted ball and he was laid up for more than a month.

But fortune has since smiled on misfortune who has made good to the point that he's known as the topliner on Jimmy Callahan's pitching staff.

MR. BAUMGARDNER IS OFF HIS NUT

Would Not Quit Small Pay in Big League for Big Pay in Bush.

George Baumgardner, eccentric pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, prefers a contract of $75 a month with the St. Louis Browns to one at $200 per month with the Memphis Southern leaguers. The West Virginian prefers the $75 because, as he says, "nobody would see me if I went to Memphis. To collect the $75 "Baumie" must keep in condition.

When Eddie Plank visits club headquarters to collect a paltry $600 on the 1st and 15th of each month it behooves him to work fast because "Baumie" is liable to push him aside and demand his $37.50.

In Palestine, Tex., where the Browns trained last spring, Baumgardner was walking with a rookie hurler entitled Phillips, fresh from Denver. Phillips continually called George by his given name.

"When we're pasing anybody don't call me George. Just say Baumgardner. We might just as well let these hicks know who we are," corrected the mountaineer.

NO HIT, NO RUN, YOUNG PITCHER'S PERFORMANCE.

Washington, Pa., June 14.—Paul Irwin, a high school student, pitching for an independent baseball team here yesterday, did not allow a hit or a run in nine innings. He struck out nineteen players and did not permit a man to reach first base. Irwin's team won, 6 to 0.

SOUTHPAW NETMEN ARE FORGING AHEAD

Southpaw tennis players, like left-handed ball players, are regarded with suspicion. Southpaw pitchers are sometimes looked upon as being mentally unsound. In tennis, however, the case is different. In fact four of the brainiest champions in the history of the game—Beals Wright, Norman F. Brookes, Harry Waidner and Lindley Murray—are southpaws.

Left-handed tennis players show a tendency to hard hitting. They have been invariably successful as doubles players. There is a reason for this in the fact that when they are paired with right-handers the combination can cover more ground without being forced into back-handed strokes.

During the last two seasons still another hard hitting port-sider has joined the ranks of the tennis elite. His name is S. Howard Voshell. Last summer his game was wild but effective except when opposed by the greatest steadiness. His most important feat was beating T. R. Pell.

This year he has started like a whirlwind as if bent on earning a place among the first ten players of the country. He has already won the New York Lawn Tennis club title.

PENNSY VARSITY EIGHT FACES TEST

Four crews will go to the mark June 17 at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in the annual intercollegiate regatta and one of the eights—that from Pennsylvania—will enter the struggle with a crew no member of which ever rowed before in a four-mile race in the Quaker school's varsity boat.

The crew that will race against the eights of Columbia, Cornell and Syracuse was the junior machine until it defeated the varsity combination by four lengths in a special pull over the four-mile route.

Cornell will be the most important factor in the race on the Hudson Saturday. The Ithacans possess in John Collyer a stroke oar without a peer. He is the lightest man in the shell, weighing only 160 pounds, as against a crew that averages over 171.

Realizing that this is the last year for Coach "Pop" Courtney the Cornellians will probably throw themselves unrestainedly into the fight to bring a victory that will crown the end of the glorious career of the "old man" who has been tutoring the Ithacans in rowing for thirty seasons.

There's a wealth of power in the Syracuse shell and it is well applied, though the short, jerky stroke with its almost neglible body swing requires power in abundance if it needs nothing else. The Orange eight is the only crew of the four that has come through all its races undefeated. Among its victims it claims the Harvard and Yale junior varsity eights and the navy varsity eight.

The middies were beaten with surprising ease over the Henley distance on the Severn on the day that Cornell was stumbling over Harvard. Columbia's entry has been whipped into great trim and is doped to put up a brilliant fight.

FAIR YOUNG CO-ED GOING TO ALASKA TO TEACH NATIVES FANCY GARDENING.

MISS DAISY MAY SIMMONS

Berkeley, Cal., June 14.—To teach the Eskimos of Alaska to grow flowers and vegetables is the ambition of Miss Daisy May Simmons, a co-ed of the University of California. For two years she has been gathering all the lore of soil, irrigation and plant life possible to find in diligent search through the courses of the state school.

Thoroughly trained in her work, she hopes to enthuse the dusky youngsters of the north in the delights of producing multi-colored flowers and raising crisp eatables for the family table. She believes that just now the Eskimo is a bit shy on the knowledge of scientific gardening.

"I am going to have a visit with my mother in Bellingham, Wash., and then I'm going on up to Alaska," explained the fair, young instructor. "The headquarters of the Alaska schools are located at Seattle. I'll make application for a school while there and hope to get away for the north by August 1."

In spite of the fact that she is tackling a big problem in her desire to enlighten the humble dweller of the northlands, Miss Simmons has no fears of her success. She is very smily and very young and is planning her work with an enthusiasm that should win over innumerable obstacles.

"I just know I'll love the work and I am hopeful of accomplishing some real good with my pupils," she said. "Gardening in Alaska will be different from that in the states. Since the season is so short up there, vegetables grow much more rapidly than they do here. They are of remarkable size and excellent flavor, I have read.

"Adults as well as children attend the government schools in Alaska and all sorts of things are taught them, from hygiene to morals. The Eskimo grasps the practical things of life readily. For this reason I believe that agriculture will appeal to them and that I will have no trouble teaching them the things I want them to learn.

"I expect to spend a year and maybe two in the north before I come back to the university to brush up on my gardening courses."

Skin Yellow, Breath Bad, Liver Clogged?

A Wineglassful of Tollo Water Will Get Your Liver Going and Make You Feel Fine In Half an Hour

Your liver is fairly begging you for help. Probably too much rich food and not enough exercise in the open air. The liver has become clogged and is forcing the bile back into your system—your skin becomes yellow because the bile is being absorbed into the blood. It upsets the stomach, causing gas to form; your breath gets bad; your tongue coated; sometimes you get dizzy and your nerves are on edge.

Get a 15-cent bottle of concentrated Tollo Water from the drug store—drink a third of a tumbler full in a glass of plain water before breakfast or at any time on an empty stomach. In half an hour it will flush out the bile tubes, really bathe the liver and expel the waste from the system. Your skin will clear up immediately and your breath become pure and sweet.

Continue to drink a wineglassful of Tollo Water before breakfast for a few days and your natural, healthy color will return—your energy and strength will come back.

This water does not act like drugs and oils that force and irritate, leaving you feeling weak and exhausted, but flushes and bathes in nature's way, giving you more strength and energy every day.

After the skin has become clear and healthy, an occasional wineglassful in a glass of plain water before breakfast will keep your liver active and your stomach clean and ready to digest anything you eat.—Advertisement.

ADMIT MEN'S DEMANDS HAVE BEEN REJECTED

Rail Men Put Continuance of Conference Up to Brotherhoods.

New York, June 14.—Forced by W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, into admitting that the demands of the 350,000 railroad men of the United States had been rejected, the railroad managers at the conference called here to avert a general strike today declared it was up to the men to decide whether they should continue the conference.

The union leaders, after stating that the railroads' counter proposition was not acceptable, decided to continue the conference but indicated they expected it to end late today or tomorrow.

The conference has been in session most of the time since June 1, and is estimated to have cost upwards of $100,000. More than 800 delegates from the unions of railway employes representing 350,000 workers have attended.

The union men have rejected flatly a proposal by the managers that no man shall be paid twice for the same time although his day may be divided between classes of work.

The apparent crisis in the negotiations came when President Lee inquired of Elisha Lee, chairman of the railroad managers, how many of the 105 questions put by the unions regarding the railroads counter-proposition were still to be answered. When Chairman Lee replied "thirty to forty," President Lee said it was useless to go further.

SAYS POISON WAS IN LIQUID FORM

Waukegan, Ill., June 14.—Dr. John L. Taylor, coroner, testified today at the trial of William H. Orpet for the alleged murder of Marion Lambert, that the cyanide of potassium which caused death was taken in liquid form. He based this statement on the allegation that stains of the poison on Miss Lamberts person was sediment and not cyanide in crystal form. This point was regarded as important by the state in connection with the charge that young Orpet bought a two ounce bottle from Charles Hassinger, a friend in the drug business at Madison, Wis. The defense it is said, will contend that Miss Lambert brought the corrossive in crystal form with her, probably wrapped in a bit of paper.

Society

Miss Virginia Olds had planned to give several out door dances at the Country club Wednesday afternoon but the shower prevented and she danced indoors instead. Members of the Bailbe Trio furnished delightful music.

Miss Edith Stecher was the honor guest at a beautiful party that Miss Bertha DeTurk gave on Tuesday evening. It was a butterfly party, very unusual and dainty. The butterflies were handwork water color creations in pink and gold. Three large ones occupied the center of the table and resting on their wings were slender vases of pink sweet-peas and white daisies. A pink ribbon started in the center and led to Miss Stecher's plate and when she pulled the ribbon it brought a corsage of sweet peas with it. Wicker baskets filled with flowers and tied with pink tulle helped to decorate the table. The hostess had also lovely favors of her own work that were bonbon dishes of butterfly design and place cards were unique, butterfly shape to correspond. Besides the charm of the decoration the guests had a surprise to use their own handwork upon as the hostess handed each a towel to hem for Miss Stecher, who is to be a bride of June.

HOME FOR DEAF IS ASSURED.

Indianapois, June 14.—At a luncheon of the Indiana Association of the Deaf yesterday, at the Indiana School for the Deaf, sufficient money was pledged to assure a home for elderly and infirm deaf persons in Indiana. Orson H. Archibald, of Indianapolis, offered the association a farm several years ago, on condition that $10,000 be subscribed for the erection of the buildings. Of this $8,500 had been raised, and the remaining $1,500 was subscribed at the luncheon yesterday. R. O. Johnson, superintendent of the school, commented on the manner in which the members of the association responded.

The luncheon followed joint church services held at the school in the morning. The convention of the association, which had been in session three days, closed with memorial exercises in the afternoon for members who had died in the last year.

WOMEN DELEGATES LEAD IN APPLAUSE

Bryan Joins in Approval With Tears Streaming Down His Face.

Coliseum, St. Louis, June 14.—Women delegates led a demonstration which followed Mr. Glynn's keynote speech declaring that the president's neutrality policy "satisfies the mothers of the land." The crowd forced Mr. Glynn to repeat a part of his address drowned in applause in which he declared that the men of America "will fight and idie for our flag when reason primes the rifle, when honor draws the sword and when justice breathes a blessing on the cause that they uphold."

Another prolonged demonstration followed. From his desk Wm. J. Bryan joined, tears streaming and his face flushed with emotion. A Texas delegate called out "Don't forget that this policy also satisfies Wm. J. Bryan." Mr. Bryan gazed intently at Glynn and enthusiastically clapped his hands in approval of the speaker's deprecation of war.

Gov. Glynn concluded his speech at 2:20 p. m.

SAYS WAR WRECKED PROGRESSIVE PARTY

Its Machinery Will Be Scrapped, Declares Gilson Gardner.

Washington, June 14.—The European war has destroyed the progressive party of the United States.

The party has been sacrificed to the demand for preparedness. This appears as the one big fact looming up at the close of the republican and progressive conventions.

Roosevelt will not run as the progressive candidate. At this writing he has not formally declined the nomination but he will. The declaration of Charles E. Hughes will satisfy his requirements and Roosevelt will get behind Hughes to defeat the Wilson administration.

Will anybody try to rally and lead the remnants of the progressive party? A few days will determine finally the answer to this question. At present the answer is: The party's banner lies where it was flung—in the ditch.

There is a possibility the standard may be taken up by Hiram Johnson of California, or Victor Murdock or Gifford Pinchot. I have talked with these men and feel that anyone of them, with sufficient encouragement, would go in and make the fight.

Perhaps the next few days will yield the encouragement. Up to date it has not appeared and the prospect is that the party, its organization, its principles will be scrapped.

The "conscience" progressives will divide their votes between the republicans, the democrats and the socialist parties.

Members of the progressive national committee who will have the power to name a candidate believe any candidate put in the running would poll 1,000,000 votes. The party polled 4,000,000 in 1912.

This million votes might prove to be the balance of power between the old parties. Wilson won last time by just about this margin. But no one can predict from which candidate the votes would be drawn.

The most important result of naming a candidate would be the prepetuation of the party as a nucleus for future radical political action. Progressives here have been bitter in their criticism of Roosevelt. They feel he should have notified them months ago if he was not willing to be the candidate so they could have governed themselves accordingly.

There is another element which sees in Roosevelt's course nothing but commendable self-sacrifice. They say he has shown conclusively that he places the country's need above personal resentments or even ambition, and is ready not only to withdraw himself but to do all in his power to withdraw not only himself put his party when it stands in the way of defeating the democratic administration.

The truth is, Roosevelt has from the beginning had only one end in view, the election of a president in place of Wilson committed to preparedness and Americanism issues. To accomplish this he would ride down friends, party or any other obstruction. Roosevelt never promised to run against Hughes or any candidate strong enough to promise the defeat of Wilson and an American platform. Some people did not understand this and they are disappointed.

Members of the progressive national committee are called to meet again June 26 and by that time they will have decided whether to name a candidate for president, or read the burial service over the remains.

HOWLING HOOSIERS WAKE UP OLD TOWN

Over 600 on the Ground at St. Louis Boosting for Marshall.

By Willis S. Thompson.

St. Louis, June 14.—The noise, the real noise of the week, broke loose at 4:15 Tuesday when the Indana delegation came in with brass bands, banners and Palm Beach suits. The weather man had mercy on the suits and also on the parade and he couldn't have fixed it nicer.

There were half a hundred Hoosiers who wouldn't wait for the Tuesday special train and the early birds went to the station to meet the late arrivals and with Senator Thomas Taggart, Meredith Nicholson, Bowman Elder, Billy Kunkel, W. H. Heller, Ed Hoffman, Billy O'Brien, Billy Vollmer and a host of others leading, the old town was woke up with the noise and music and hotel lobbies were shown what the real enthusiasm of the week is to be. Over six hundred howling Hoosiers are now quartered at the American hotel and boosting for Marshall.

Speaking of Marshall, he is the only vice presidential candidate who isn't advertising all the hotel lobbies, elevators, bell boys and walls of all the hotels are plastered with posters of Roger Sullivan, Governor Major and other aspirants. And speaking of aspirants, Solomon in all the glory he ever knew, never dreamed of what some of these have discovered in the way of garb. Governor Major, for instance, changes his entire outfit every forty-five minutes by the clock, this process continuing from 6 a. m. till 2 a. m. When J. Ham Lewis landed his whiskers changed from pink to green and he declared he was going to take the nomination himself and he could hardly wait to get to his room to change his apparel twice. But the Missouri governor has him handicapped, being right at home. J. Ham only carries three large trunks.

"YES SIR! CADOMENE IS MY FRIEND" IT PROVED ITS WORTH

Several years ago, at one time—when I was a nervous wreck, mentally and physically—I guess morally, too. It made a well man of me; and I was "down and out" as the saying goes. Why, I couldn't sleep, was weak, nervous, irritable, sick—the result of dissipation, hard work and worry, too, for after I realized my condition I did worry, any man would, or woman, either, if they found themselves in a similar condition.

Well, 'twas like this, a friend of mine said: "Look here, fellow, you can't go on like this, you'll be a dead man 'fore long," and then he told me of Cadomene Tablets. I decided to "try" Cadomene Tablets, but I had not much faith in them, for I had taken nearly everything I had ever heard of—all alike—they did me no good.

I can honestly say that I had only taken about 30 Cadomene Tablets when I could notice a change in my condition and then gradually my health came back. Every tablet I took seemed to advance and improve my condition, and every step taken was held, no sliding back.

Now I sleep, eat, enjoy life, have strength in my tissues, do not feel nervous any more, and the pains have disappeared from my head and back—all told I feel fine—a new man—able and glad to meet my duties, whether business, social or domestic. Life looks good now from every angle, and I owe my abounding strength, my keen enjoyment and my health to Cadomene Tablets, and I don't think I am overstating it when I say that Cadomene Tablets actually saved my life, for I could never have continued the way I felt, and it would not have been desirable to continue a life of blasted hopes and ambition and wholly devoid of energy.

IT'S GOOD TO BE ALIVE, and Cadomene Tablets are my best friend. They'll be YOUR BEST FRIEND, TOO, if your condition requires them.

I have told many fellow-men about Cadomene Tablets, and they are just as glad to know about them as I am.

Cadomene Tablets is a preparation which will supply proper strength and energy to the flesh and muscles of the body, and, at the same time, to the highly complex and delicate nervous system.

Don't put off using Cadomene Tablets (3 grain). You can't lose, for if they do not give complete satisfaction you may have your money back. Obtain of any live druggist in sealed tubes with full directions.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, June 14.—Heaviness developed in the wheat market today owing to the fact that Liverpool quotations were unresponsive to yesterday's advance on this side of the Atlantic. The opening, which ranged from ⅜@½c lower to a shade advance, with July $1.04¼ to $1.04⅜, and September at $1.05⅝ to $1.06⅛, was followed by slight net gains, but then as decided general sag.

The close was unsettled, 1¼c to 1⅝@1⅝c net thigher, with July at $1.02⅝@1.02¾ and September at $1.04⅝.

Unfavorable weather and improved cash demand gave some firmness to corn. After opening ⅛@¼c to ⅜c higher, prices receded to slightly under yesterday's finish.

The close was firm at a gain of a shade to ½c net.

Oats were upheld by a fair demand from commission houses and cash interests.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, June 14.—The noteworthy feature of today's early trading was the overnight decline of 36 points in Willys-Overland to 279, due to reports of a hitch in the consolidation of which that company was to form one of the chief constituents.

Other motor issues were heavy in sympathy. General Electric rose a point, with a similar gain of Beet Sugar, which established the new record of 90⅞. New York, Chicago and St. Louis (Nickel Plate) featured the rails, advancing 1¼, and coppers also were strong.

Willys-Overland made a further decline of two points before it rallied to 282 and other issues of the same character improved. The balance of the active list, except Mexicans, which continued heavy, hardened under a demand for Reading and Steel. Beet Sugar continued to climb, touching 2½. Rails as a whole were far less prominent than yesterday, and trading slackened visibly before midday. Bonds were steady.

Metal stocks and some specialties made further progress later, with general strength in rails, including Norfolk and Western, Canadians and Reading. The closing was irregular.

LAFAYETTE PLACE RIGIDLY RESTRICTED

New additions with rigid restrictions placed upon them have always been exceedingly popular in Fort Wayne, but it is doubtful if a more rigid set of restrictions have been incorporated for the protection of the property holders in any addition than those placed upon Lafayette Place; the new addition between Calhoun and Lafayette streets, McKinnie and Pettit avenues. Stores, stables or business houses of any kind are tabooed; unsightly fences and advertising signs will not be permitted.

Improvements Within Three Years for LAFAYETTE PLACE

City improvements are all in at this time up to the northern limits of Lafayette Place.

All improvements will be installed in Lafayette Place itself, within three years.

Why aren't they installed now?

If they were their cost would have to be added to the price of each lot, and the interest on this amount plus the amount by which the improvements would depreciate before they were ready to be used would total at least $125.00.

Under the Lafayette Place Improvement plan you are saved this amount. Isn't it well worth while?

Average Price Per Lot $475.00

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Thirteen young men will graduate from the Central Catholic high school Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The exercises will be held in Library hall and Rt. Rev. Bishop Herman J. Alerding will present the diplomas. An interesting program has been arranged.

Forethought.

People are learning that a little forethought often saves them a big expense. Here is an instance: E. W. Archer, Caldwell, Ohio, writes: "I do not believe that our family has been without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since we commenced keeping house years ago. When we go on an extended visit we take it with us." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Rev. Thomas Hench, a Pennsylvania minister of Georgetown, Ohio, is visiting Judge S. M. Hench and other relatives and friends in the city.

Kathleen Kloss, lady commander of review No. 6, Lady Maccabees, will entertain members of the Maccabees and friends Thursday afternoon from 2 to 8 o'clock at 723 Wlnut street.

NATIONAL HIGHWAYS

THEIR EFFECTS ON CITIES.

(By Chas. L. Biederwolf, Secretary Commercial Club, Fort Wayne, Indiana).

Almost comparable to railroads in their effect on Civic Development, highways are being built by popular interest all over the country. At this time of preparedness discussion the National Highway gains an unusual share of attention from the public. This article is of peculiar interest to those communities who are being enthused in behalf of National Highways. This article will be published exclusively in the Summer Number of THE WILDWOOD MAGAZINE. On sale next week, all newsdealers, 15c per copy, or by mail, 50c per year.

Chicago, Ill., June 14.—At least twenty-one states, probably more, will be represented on the roll call when the first military training camp, under the central department of the war department, opens at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, Ind., July 5. To date eight hundred and six men have applied "to give their vacations to their country" at the trining camp.

The states in the central department are Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri Kansas Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming.

Men from the far east and far west, without the district, are enrolled. Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Virginia will be represented by one man each; West Virginia has two men enrolled, while from Idaho, Montana, Oklahoma and Arkansas one man each is enrolled.

WEIGHED SIX OUNCES MORE.

Brain of Late Dr. W. J. White Found Much Heavier Than Normal.

Philadelphia, June 14.—The brain of Dr. Wm. J. White, professor emeritus of the University of Pennsylvania, weighed six ounces more than the average, according to a statement by Dr. J. Milton Greenman, director of the Wistar institute of anatomy at the university, to which Dr. White bequeathed his brain for scientific study. Its weight was 53 1-3 ounces as compared to 47 ounces, the weight of the average brain. It will probably require from three to four years to make a complete analysis of the organ, Dr. Greenman said.

Cheering Democrats Hail Glynn's Keynote

Coliseum, St. Louis, Mo., June 14.—With the keynote of "Americanism and peace, preparedness and prosperity," the democratic national convention began its first session shortly after noon today, with not a single element in sight to disturb the harmonious renomination of President Wilson and Vice President Marshall.

When National Chairman McCombs called the convention to order twelve thousand delegates, alternates and spectators packed the big coliseum to the roof. Members of the national committee, members of President Wilson's cabinet and party leaders from all over the country had places on the platform.

Vice presidential booms, wilted by President Wilson's direct word that he desired the renomination of Vice President Marshall, were brought to the convention hall but only as favorite son compliments.

When National Chairman McCombs had called the convention to order, the next business was the reading of the call by Secretary J. Bruce Kremer. Former Gov. Glynn, of New York, was next with the keynote speech.

Down under the speaker's stand direct telephone and telegraph wires to the white house carried momentary reports of the proceedings in the hall.

No Prospect for Fight.

All prospect of a fight in the convention had gone glimmering overnight with Wm. J. Bryan's announcement that he did not propose to press certain planks before the resolutions committee and that he would make can-

But Happy Women Simply Had to Talk in "Talkless Display.

St. Louis, June 14.—Under a sweltering sun and uncomfortable humidity, 8,000 suffragettes carried out their "golden lane" program today in the twelve blocks of Locust street leading to convention hall.

They were enthusiastically received by the thousands of delegates and convention visitors who passed between their white and yellow garbed lines, ranged on the two sides of the street and not a single untoward incident marked the occasion.

Simply Had to Talk.

Advertised as a "walkless, talkless" display, it failed to carry out that promise. The women were so happy over their reception and their prospects of obtaining a favorable plank in the democratic platform they moved about a great deal, some delegations took the street and marched and everybody talked.

STARS AND CHORUS TO PICNIC AT PARK

The Lasalle Musical Comedy players have heard the call of the open, and tomorrow will spend the entire day in a picnic and ball game at Robison park. Stars and chorus will mingle in an all day romp as special cars will convey the actor people to the grounds in the morning and not bring them back until time for the evening performance.

The baseball game in the afternoon will be between the Elks' team and a club composed of members of the company, with Guy Voyer, the light comedian as captain. Voyer is a baseball bug following the doings of the big league clubs with a fidelity that would do credit to a major league scout. He's some pumpkins as a player himself, too, and claims that his team has been beaten but once in two years.

A basket luncheon will be served at noon by the theater management.

Fighting at Verdun Dies Down from Exhaustion of Combatants.

Berlin, June 14.—(Via London 4:11 P. M.)—The Russian offensive which has been directed against the southern portion of the eastern front, broke out yesterday against Field Marshal von Hindenburg's forces at a point about seventy-five miles north of Pinsk.

There is a momentary lull in the desperate infantry fighting which has been going on for several days northeast of Verdun. Preparations for further assaults on the French defenses are in progress however, Paris today reporting a violent bombardment in the Vaux sector. The anticipated effort of the Germans to make a further advance there is expected to be facilitated by the headway made recently in ousting the French from their commanding position on Hill 321 to the west, from which they have been able to enfilade the Vaux plateau.

In the southern Tyrol the Austrians are now encountering a resistance which they are unable to break down, according to the war office at Rome, which today reports the failure of a series of assaults on Italian positions along the Posina line. Elsewhere there were no Austrian attacks but the whole Italian front has been subjected to a severe bombardment.

Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina, is apparently on the eve of falling into Russian hands in the course of General Brusiloff's widespread offensive movement. His troops are reported to have cut the railway running north from the city severing the Austrian communications and his cavalry to have reached a point twenty miles beyond.

One woman was killed and four civilians injured in Monday night's raid by Austrian seaplanes on Venice. Rome declares that the property damage was slight.

FORT WAYNE IN GOOD SHOWING AT ST. LOUIS

Local Democrats Get Full Share of Honors at Convention.

St. Louis, June 14.—Fort Wayne democrats are thoroughly in evidence here. Fort Wayne not only sent a big delegation of the party rank and file to the national convention, but in the selection for official honors E. G. Hoffman, Indiana member of the national committee, has seen to it that his home city is well represented.

At the Indiana caucus Sephen B. Fleming was chosen a member of the committee on resolutions and William P. Breen is Indiana's member of the committee to notify President Wilson of his renomination.

Every child in the public and parochial schools of Fort Wayne will be given a copy of the pageant book, "The Glorious Gateway of the West," written by Wallace Rice and presented by Donald Robertson.

Throughout the entire centennial celebration Chairman E. C. Miller and the committee have made a special effort to take care of the children. They were given an opportunity of seeing the wonderful pageant free and now the books are presented to them. As is stated in the foreword: "The play will pass away. Its spirit will remain to the end of time; for the work here done by willing hearts and hands, can never fade from the lives of those who see and those who do. And coming generations of men will feel the power of an unseen influence of the centennial year of nineteen hundred and sixteen."

REMAINS ARE SHIPPED HERE FOR CREMATION

The remains of Mrs. Catherine Gordon, a resident of Toledo, who passed away several days ago, will arrive in Fort Wayne Thursday evening and will be taken to Lindenwood for cremation, Friday morning. It was the wish of the deceased that her body be incinerated and since Toledo has no crematory the body had to be taken to this city. The remains will be in charge of Schone & Ankenbruck, undertakers. The family of the deceased will accompany the body and will take the ashes back to Toledo for interment.

YES, WHISKERS ARE AGAIN THE STYLE

Barbers Predict Republican Ticket Will Popularize Rugged Beard.

Bewhiskered gentlemen whose crop of alfalfa has been the butt and jokes for years are to be in style again. A wave of popularity for these appendages will be started soon or Fort Wayne barbers miss their guess.

"It's the republican ticket that'll cause it," said a local barber. "There's Hughes, with a beautiful crop. And then just to add insult to injury, they put on Fairbanks, with another healthy crop. Of course, now, personally both are mighty fine men, but say, you can't tell how far it will go when folks start to imitating those gentlemen."

Democratic barbers are thinking seriously of swinging the barber vote to Wilson, who is smooth shaven, and Marshall, who has a very thin pasture on the upper lip.

Hughes and Fairbanks compose the first "whiskered ticket" since Benjamin Harrison, years ago, sat in the presidential chair. There have been moustaches since—Cleveland, Roosevelt and Taft—but no whiskers.

"Let's hope they wait to start this new fad until next winter," said one barber, as he pounced a brushful of lather on a smooth-faced patron with more vigor than was absolutely necessary.

HEXAMER DEFINES TRUE AMERICANISM

German-American Alliance Head Flag-Day Speaker at Betsy Ross House.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 14.—Speaking at the flag day exercises at the Betsy Ross house here today, Dr. C. J. Hexamer, president of the national German-American Alliance, declared that true Americanism knows no distinction of race or creed and does not take sides with any foreign nation.

"True Americanism," he said, "demands a true neutrality, solely for the defense of American rights and in the best interest of United States against aggression from whichever side it may come. It follows faithfully and loyally where our flag leads.

"Those of us of German birth and extraction are happy in the knowledge of loyalty and devotion proved upon hundreds of battlefields and thousands of civic contests by the men of our blood since the birth of our nation to the present day. They have always, as American citizens, proved their good citizenship and have been an honor to our nation."

Financial Loss in Elevator Fire at Baltimore is $2,000,000.

Baltimore, Md., June 14.—Five men are known to have lost their lives as the result of the fire yesterday that destroyed the Pennsylvania railroad elevator number 3, on the harbor front at Canton, a suburb. Four others are unaccounted for and of the 19 injured, in hospitals, two are in a critical condition.

The loss is estimated at $2,000,000. It represents the cost of the elevator, the value of the grain therein, and damage to the Dutch steamer William Van Driet, sr., and the British steamer Welbeck Hall, which were moored to the elevator. A spark from broken machinery is thought to have cause the fire.

MOOSE WILL HAVE A FLAG DAY DANCE

The Fort Wayne lodge of Moose will give a flag day dance, Wednesday evening, at the Moose home, Wayne and Webster streets, for members and their families. Good music will be provided and arrangements have been made to provide a good time for all who come. The entertainment committee of the lodge has not been exhausted by the excess of its labors last week, when the new home was formally dedicated and hundreds of visiting brethren came to enjoy the occasion and accept the hospitalities of the Fort Wayne Moose, and will see that all who attend the flag day dance are repaid for their presence.

PRESIDENT AT HEAD OF 75,000 MARCHERS

Leads Gigantic Preparedness Parade at Washington on Flag Day, Reviews It and Later Delivers Address.

Washington, June 14.—Led by President Wilson carrying the Stars and Stripes, nearly 75,000 men, women and children of Washington marched up broad Pennsylvania avenue today in a preparedness parade arranged to emphasize on Flag day the national capital's demand for an adequate army and navy.

The president, attired in white trousers, blue coat and straw hat and shouldering his flag like a musket, stepped briskly to martial airs played by the United States marine band.

He smiled broadly and frequently raised his hat in response to cheers as he marched along, escorted by Secretary Tumulty, the white house employes and the white house newspaper correspondents.

Ideal weather favored the demonstration. There was hardly a cloud in the sky and it was as cool as late spring. Enthusiastic crowds thronged along the avenue from Peace monument to the white house.

In front of the white house the president left the line of march and took his place in a stand to review the parade. He was joined there by Mrs. Wilson and all the members of the cabinet now in the city.

Confronted by Banner.

As the line swung around the treasury building at Fifteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, the president was confronted by a huge banner bearing the legend "Be prepared—if you care about ninety-one electoral votes, consider us—Woman's party."

Half a dozen young women with megaphones saw to it that the banner did not go unnoticed. It was the work of the congressional union for woman suffrage.

Besides marching himself and then reviewing the parade, the president had prepared an address of "Americanism" to be delivered at an open air meeting south of the white house.

Washington was brilliantly decorated for the occasion. It was a holiday, for under an executive order issued by the president, all government employes were excused from their work and many stores were closed. The celebration was planned in part as a response to a proclamation issued by the president calling upon the people of the nation to celebrate flag day.

The Line of March.

Tribute to Ft. Wayne Pioneer at School Which Bears His Name.

In an impressive ceremony at the public school which bears his name, at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, there was presented to the Rudisill school a bronze tablet erected near the entrance of the building, to Henry Rudisill, prominent pioneer of Fort Wayne.

The memorial tablet is the gift of Miss Eliza Rudisill and Mrs. Mary Sturgis, daughters of Mr. Rudisill, and it was formally accepted upon the part of the school board by W. H. Shambaugh.

A large audience gathered for the ceremony, and the presentation address was delivered by Henry R. Freeman.

Mr. Freeman's Address.

In his remarks Mr. Freeman addressed himself particularly to the pupils of the Rudisill school, dwelling upon some of the achievements of the pioneers and applying their lives and their achievements as an inspiration to the younger generation today, emphasizing the doctrine of America first, and which floats above the school building, no allegiance to any flag save that

Continuing, he said:

Callers Continue to Besiege Mr. Hughes

New York, June 14.—With no definite appointments in prospect during the day but prepared to confer with many callers with political and personal missions, Charles E. Hughes, republican candidate for president, entered his headquarters here shortly before noon. He had spent the early hours opening letters and telegrams which arrived over night. These have come in such volume that he has decided it will physically be impossible for him to answer the majority of them.

The number of persons waiting to see him was larger than yesterday. Early callers included John Hays Hammond, George J. Wickersham, jr., and a number of prominent republicans. Mr. Hughes' campaign plans were still indefinite today. He will remain here until Saturday afternoon, when he will go out of town over the week-end, returning later Sunday night or early Monday and on Monday will start for Providence to address the Brown university graduates.

Everett Colby, of New Jersey, a progressive leader, was expected to call on Mr. Hughes today. He visited headquarters yesterday but found the candidate out. There was an insistent report today that Mr. Colby, Oscar S. Straus, progressive candidate for governor of New York in 1912, and Samuel W. Fairchild, president of the Union league club and a personal friend of both Mr. Hughes and Theodore Roosevelt, were working hard to bring the candidate and the colonel together.

Among the subjects which Mr. Hughes is discussing with callers is the problem of selecting a national chairman. Those under consideration include Herbert Parsons; Frederick T. Tanner, New York state chairman; Frank H. Hitchcock, a leader of the Hughes forces at Chicago; William Hayward, public service commissioner of this city, and Ralph E. Williams, national committeeman from Oregon.

SECOND TOUR OF ITS KIND

Rural Home Improvement Auto Trip Attracting Wide Attention.

U. S. DEPARTMENT IS REPRESENTED

Eight Allen County Farms on Program Wednesday and Thursday.

The Allen county home improvement automobile tour which started from the court house shortly after 9 o'clock, Wednesday morning, and will continue for two days, is the second tour of the kind ever undertaken in the United States. The first tour, which, however, was not as extensive, was conducted a couple of weeks ago in Montgomery county, Indiana.

The Allen county tour has attracted such wide interest throughout the country that the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., has sent Miss Anna K. Ward to take notes and make a report, which will be widely distributed.

Purdue university, which has charge of the agricultural extension work in Indiana, is well represented. Prof. C. I. Christie, head of the extension department, will be here Wednesday evening and take part in the tour on Thursday. On the tour Wednesday were Prof. T. A. Coleman, assistant state leader in charge of the county agent work in Indiana; C. B. Durham, Mrs. Charles Sewell, Miss Roberta McNeil, from Purdue university, and Miss Anna K. Ward, of the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C. These people are authorities on agriculture and country home improvement work.

Object of the Tours.

Briefly the purpose of the tour is to improve conditions in the rural homes and offer suggestions whereby the work of the farmer's wife may be systematized and thus eliminate the drudgery. It also has for its object the making of the country home more beautiful and attractive within and without. The tour is of equal interest to men and women, and was arranged by Clarence Henry, county agricultural agent of Allen county. Harry Gray, agent of Wells county, and a number of farmers from his county were with the party. Thursday a big delegation of farmers from Adams county is expected.

The First Stop.

The first stop Wednesday was made at the farm of Albert J. Black, where Prof. Coleman explained the purpose of the tour and Mrs. Sewell, of Otterbein, Ind., spoke to the farmers' wives. Her subject was "Conversation by a Farmer's Wife."

After inspecting the water system, grounds and buildings on the Black farm the farm of Henry Kurtz was next visited. Prof. Durham spoke on "Beautification of the Home Grounds," and Miss Roberta McNeil on "Conversation by a Would-be Farmer's Wife."

Lunch was served on the farm of J. C. Wertz, after which Miss Anna K. Ward, of the department of agriculture, spoke and Mrs. Sewell gave a demonstration of kitchen conveniences.

The farm of William Driver and son was the last place visited Wednesday afternoon. An inspection of the electric lighting system was a feature of this stop.

The following farms will be visited on Thursday: Carl Weise, H. W. Jackson, Sheldon Dawkins and Thomas Sheehan.

NOTED HOBO PATRON VISITS FORT WAYNE

Fort Wayne was visited Tuesday afternoon and night by Jeff Davis, famed as the patron of hoboes and founder of the erstwhile celebrated "Hotel de Glak," a New York hostelry that for a time was maintained as a cheap place of entertainment for Weary Willies and others of the down and out cult. Davis, who left Wednesday morning for Cincinnati, came here to consult his brother, Ed Davis, under indictment for criminal assault on Vairn Fleet, a 16-year-old girl of wayward life, for improper relations with whom Herbert H. Austin, proprietor of a skating rink here, was arrested. Austin gave a tragic turn to the case by hanging himself in his skating rink a few hours after he had given bond. On the girl's statement to the police Ed Davis was arrested on a charge of criminal assault and the grand jury later indicted him. He summoned his brother, Jeff, from New Orleans by long distance telephone and the hobo king arrived Tuesday. Jeff Davis has been a knight of the road for more than twenty years, though he is now but 32 years old. In later years his time has been mainly devoted to efforts to assist unemployed men who are deserving. He claims to have assisted 100,000 men and to have brought about the release from jails and other lockups of 25,000 men. The "Hotel de Glak" at Worth and Central streets, New York, passed out to make room for the Five Points mission. He has operated similar hotels in Seattle, Cincinnati and Alaska. He expects to return to Fort Wayne next Tuesday, when the trial of Ed Davis begins in the circuit court.

ROOSEVELT SUFFERS PAIN BENEATH HEART

Condition is Due to Bad Cold, It is Later Explained.

New York June 14.—Kermit and Mrs. Roosevelt, son and daughter-in-law of Theodore Roosevelt, arrived here with their baby from Buenos Aires today on the transport Kilpatrick. They were met at the pier by Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Persons at the dock observed that the former president walked with his left hand at times pressed under his heart. Questioned by his wife, he told her he had a pain but believed it would pass away presently. This proved to be the case by the time the vessel berthed.

Kermit Roosevelt had been in South America as representative of a New York bank. His wife, daughter of Joseph E. Willard, ambassador to Spain, suffered an attack of typhoid while in the tropics.

Later it was explained that Col. Roosevelt was suffering with a very bad cold contracted several months ago.

After leaving the pier he kept an appointment with a throat specialist. He has been visiting the physician upon the occasions of his coming here from Oyster Bay.

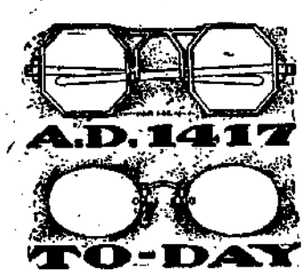
An Illustrated Story for Folks Who Need Double Glasses.



"I am happy in the invention of double spectacles which, serving for distant objects as well as for near ones, makes my eyes as useful to me as they ever were."

So wrote Benjamin Franklin in one of his letters. He it was who first conceived the idea of taking a near-sighted lens and a far-sighted lens, cutting them in half and fitting them in a spectacle frame.

If Franklin could see the perfection of his idea in Meigs' Kryptok Invisible Bifocal, he would be astonished. Instead of a jagged line separating the two lenses Kryptok is one solid crystal-clear lens which cannot possibly be detected from single vision glasses.

The smooth and clear surface of Meigs' glasses is entirely free from the disfiguring, age-revealing, lines and seams of old-fashioned bifocals. Yet Kryptoks give you all the convenience of near and far sight in one pair of glasses. They put an end to the constant removing and replacing of your reading glasses—or fussing with two pairs. You can see both close and distant objects with equal clearness.

Buying Kryptoks is like buying clothes. There are clothes and clothes and Kryptoks and Kryptoks. Meigs' Kryptoks mean comfort and certain service. It is the result of long experience in fitting eyes—our splendid factory for making glasses.

Dough the Principal Ingredient, Says Chas. Edward Russell.

MARSHALL'S JUST A BIT DIFFERENT

Expert Analyses Yearnings of Roger Sullivan and Governor Major.

(Copyright, 1916, by Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

St. Louis, June 14.—Many anxious inquirers having asked me how all these favorite son boomlets are made, and as they seem to be the favorite political dish this year, I will give the recipe of one of the best top-notch chefs in the business, bar none.

To Make a Favorite Son Boomlet. Take a sufficient quantity of dough and line the inside of a brass band and arrive at the railroad station about 6:15 p. m. with 200 gratuitous, howling maniacs.

This is the way Roger Sullivan's boomlet for vice president was put together, and it is a mighty good way. I haven't seen any better. Only in this case we didn't call it a boomlet. We called it a tartlet, because it made most persons feel sour and tired, Roger Sullivan having about as much call to be a vice presidential candidate as he has to be understudy for Mary Pickford. But some persons liked it. They said that if we were to have any exhibition of nerve they wanted to have one that was colossal and worth telling the folks at home about, and they didn't see any sense in just pulling the common garden variety on them. They seemed to be satisfied when they thought about Roger Sullivan.

Liked Marshall for That.

The surest persons were those that, having made up their minds about Tom Marshall, naturally didn't want to be disturbed. They said that Marshall didn't pose around in a long black coat like Tom Hefflin, nor do the statesman stunt with one hand in his shirt front and a far-away look in his eyes like J. Ham Lewis, but when it came to putting real things across Marshall was the boy for them.

Which reminds me:

What country is it wherein you can see the second officer of the government riding down to the capitol on the front seat of an automobile wearing a sack suit, a little soft hat somewhat on the side or his head, a big cigar in the corner of his mouth and conversing amiably and fraternally with the chauffeur, for the sake of whose company he has abandoned the luxurious seat within?

The United States of America, my son, and it is the only such country, and Thomas Marshall, vice president thereof, is the man that about every morning when congress is in session affords Pennsylvania avenue this spectacle, worth going miles to see.

Doesn't Give a Hoot.

He doesn't give a hoot. That's one reason why real folks like him so much. The Mossbacks, the Dodos, the highbrows and all right thinking persons look upon him with horror. Henry Cabot Lodge shudders at his name and old Papa Gallinger looks through his eyebrows at him like a man about to blow up. Some sneer and some swear, but he doesn't mind. He dallies on the moldy remains of Senatorial Dignity, laughs at the ridiculous, slumbering old Senatorial Courtsey, thinks the dull dreary show the senate gives every afternoon is bum stuff (which it is,) and every chance he gets jolts the actors into something almost resembling human life.

If the press gallery were making nominations he would get anything he wanted, and by acclamation.

He is pretty hot stuff for a man that weighs about 90 pounds. Every now and then the senate casts a tie vote between the Petrified Dodos and the Living Beings and he invariably comes in with a vote on the side of Red Blood Corpuscles in a way beautiful to behold. The opponents of the river and harbor bill had things fixed to get a tie vote on that hoary old steal and he was all ready to vote to kill it, but two gents got cold feet and fled, and so the Dodos scored one. In a quiet, unobtrusive way he is often around trying to push over something that will make them squeal, and that's one reason why he is so popular with the discerning in this convention.

When Roger Sullivan and the Rough Neck guards from Chicago came tumbling in on the Marshall men there was so much cold disgust around the Jefferson hotel you could cut chunks out of it like a free lunch cheese.

However, at one spot the Sullivan boom met with a warm reception like an orphan child being pulled out of the wet. That was when it humped up against Gov. Major, of Missouri, the sole proprietor of the only ray of humor that has illuminated these desiccated scenes.

Was All-Fired Lonely.

Gov. Major, a dry, thin and painfully restless little man, was conducting a boom of his own for the vice presidency and viewing it with a solemn earnestness that caused 200 newspaper men to rise up and call him blessed. He gave them something to write about. When weary of the spectacle of 1,000 automaton delegates gathered to dance when the string was pulled the journalists could always describe Major going about with his pictures and his literature, booming himself. The reason the Major boom fell with joy upon the bosom of the Sullivan boom was because the Major boom was so all-fired lonely the sight of another wanderer was like the sight of home to a dog with a can-tied tail!

The very salt cellars on the dining tables knew that Wilson was to be renominated with a rush, but there was a chance to delude somebody into a belief that there would be a contest about the second place. It wasn't much of a chance, but persons tired of phonographs and Washington-made programs clutched at it with desperate hands.

Speculation about the origin of the Sullivan boom and the origin of the Major boom helped out the fruitless speculation as to how the president's platform managed to sidestep the danger spots like the Philippines, Panama tolls, single terms, a genuine income tax, sugar and the high cost of living. Attempts to start a row over these died early. Every man know in his heart that unless the president had lost his copy of Hart's Rhetoric (which calamity God forbid!) the sidestepping would be done and everybody would say it was a good, clean job. So, what was the use?

Robbery, Romance and Mistaken Identity in Huntington Case.

Huntington, Ind., June 14.—A story of mistaken identity and of queer romance was brought to light when Omer Engle was fined $20 and sentenced to the penal farm for six months by Judge Cook in the circuit court. The penal farm term was suspended because of the illness of Mrs. Engle, whom Engle married after he had taken out a license which he paid for from the sale of a stolen revolver. Since May 14, the prosecuting attorney, A. H. Sapp, and police chief, Philip Baker, have been working on a clew to the robbery of the F. O. Pontius second hand store. Three witnesses were found who would swear that Sherman Bowers was seen in a pool room with a revolver of 44 caliber, which was valued at $22.50. It happens that Engle is almost an exact ringer for Bowers. Pontius has known Engle for a long time, and when Engle was in his store, he asked Engle to remain while he (Pontius) stepped out. Later the revolver was missed. Engle confesses he took the revolver while Pontius was out, and that he sold it for $2.50, and on May 14 paid $2 of this amount for a license to marry Mrs. Cora Krewson, of Warren. A charge against Bowers was filed in the police court but on the arrest of Engle the case was postponed, and later it was dismissed. The facts that Engle and Bowers, in appearance, were "ringers," and that Engle wanted $2 to get married caused the whole case, and led to the serious embarrassment of Bowers, against whom three witnesses were ready to testify.

KEYSTONE POSTMASTER DIES

William M. Baker, a Life-Long Resident of Wells County

Bluffton, Ind., June 14.—William M. Baker, postmaster at Keystone, died Tuesday at his home. Death was due to cancer of the liver. Mr. Baker had been bedfast for the last six weeks and his death had been expected. He took a sudden change for the worse early Tuesday. His death brings much sadness in the community as he was well known and highly respected. Mr. Baker was a life-long resident of Wells county and was past the fiftieth mile stone at the time of his death. He received his early education in the common schools of Wells county, took a short college course, and then began teaching in the county schools. He taught for sixteen years and then took up the practice of law in Keystone. For a few years he assisted in the Keystone hardware store. He had been postmaster there for the last two years. The deceased was a member of the K. of P. lodge at Montpelier, and was keeper of records and seal of that lodge. He also belonged to the Red Men and Woodman lodges in Keystone and the B. P. O. Elks. Surviving are the wife and son.

SCHOOL TEACHER TO PRISON.

Huntington, Ind., June 14.—Charles Anson, who was convicted for a statutory offense, has given up his fight for freedom and today he entered the reformatory at Jeffersonville to serve the two year term to which he was sentenced. Sheriff W. E. Scott left early yesterday with the prisoner. Anson, who was formerly a school teacher, in Union township, was convicted on the testimony of Miss Zorah Shriner, a former pupil of Anson. He asked for a new trial but this was denied by Judge S. E. Cook. For a time he considered making an appeal to the supreme court but Sunday decided that he would serve his sentence without further remonstrance. Sunday he was taken out to see his wife and family and his parents.

FILIPINO IS DEMENTED

Warsaw, Ind., June 14.—A Filipino, who claimed that he was a member of the Brethren church, caused quite a disturbance at the Dunkard convention at Winona. Monday evening, when he started to preach in front of the Winona book store. He was waving a small American flag over his head and acting more like a wild man than a human being. About 500 people collected around him. Some members of the Dunkard committee tried to stop him but were unsuccessful and finally had to call on Marshal Robert Hatfield. Mr. Hatfield soon persuaded him to stop and he was taken to his rooms and locked in.

CANNOT COLLECT TAXES NOW

Bluffton, Ind., June 14.—It has been learned by County Auditor Clem T. Kain and County Treasurer J. A. McBride, as the result of a trip to Huntington, that Wells county will not be able, until after the first of next year, to collect the $35,000 back taxes due from the Cincinnati, Bluffton and Chicago railroad, which was bought at Huntington by Fred Dolph. The final transaction for the sale of the road will not be made before next year, if the purchase is ever completed. Treasurer McBride's term will expire January 1, and his successor will realize the 6 per cent. fee for the collection of delinquent taxes.

BIG SNAPPING TURTLE TAKEN

BLUFFTON TEACHERS NAMED

Bluffton, Ind., June 14. — Misses Martha Plessinger and Lela Nordyke were added to the teachers in the city schools for the next year's force at a meeting of the board of education. Morris, no one was elected to the position. There will be more investigation into some of the candidates.

"OSTRICH DANCE" LATEST STAGE NOVELTY.

Normal School Holds Its Eighteenth Annual Commencement.

At the eighteenth annual commencement exercises of the Fort Wayne Normal Training school, nineteen young ladies were graduated and received their diplomas. The exercises were held in the auditorium of the Fort Wayne High and Manual Training school Tuesday evening. Prof. Justin N. Study, superintendent of the city schools, presided and Prof. Stanley I. Coulter, dean of the school of science at Purdue university, delivered the address to the students.

The theme of the address of the evening was, "The Two Great Words of Life" and it developed that the two big words were "preparation" and "service." The speaker pointed out many of the changes which had been made in the past decade in the educational system of the state in regards to physical environment and equipment, in preparatory demands of teachers and in the very conception of education itself.

Prof Stanley stated that the state had a right to expect things in return for devoting so much money, time and pains to its students. He then summed up many of the things which the state and world expects of the graduate. Among the various expectations of these two powers, the speaker mentioned, that the world expects the graduate to know a few things: to see an eagerness to learn and to know; to have the power to think; to have the correct measures of value; to have the power of a strong character; and to have a higher and better attitude of life.

Those who composed the class of 1916 are: Mable Carrie Bates, Blanche Margaret Bauer, Georgia Bauer, Clara Kanne Blondoit, Bessie Violet Cleary, Irma Comparet, Dorothea Eckhardt, Hattie Belle Greider, Gertrude Irma Gross, Lydia Emma Honeck, Mary Ruth Logue, Marie Louise McGuire, Helen Ruth Oren, Erna Huldah Tapp, Helen Josephine Thompson, Helen Lorene Trisch, Vivian Hatton Withers, Mary Elizabeth Zent, Gertrude Marie Zucker.

The main floor of the building will be devoted to two large reading rooms each 108x32 feet—one on the south side for a reference room and a room for newspapers and periodicals. This will be a part of the new school of journalism, which will have quarters in the basement directly under the periodical and newspaper room.

"New Post Toasties"

From House to House the Good News Spreads

Many housewives have found a happy solution of the breakfast problem in New Post Toasties.

These new corn flakes are distinctive in that they bear a self-developed flavor all their own—the delicate, fascinating flavor of choice, white Indian corn. Unlike other flakes, they do not depend on cream and sugar to make them palatable.

Try a handful without cream and sugar—note the fine flavor and new form; also the tiny "bubbles" on each flake. These bubbles are a distinguishing characteristic and are produced by the quick, intense heat of the new process of making, which also brings out the wonderful flavor.

Although the New Post Toasties are a great improvement in flavor and form, they cost no more than ordinary flakes. Have a package delivered for tomorrow's breakfast.

There is every indication that those who have fondly indulged the expectation that Mr. Bryan would invade the democratic national convention at St. Louis with a pronounced purpose t toss monkey wrenches into the machinery, lead an insurgent opposition to the plain trend of party affairs and create a sort of general chaos there are foredoomed to sorry disappointment. Mr. Bryan is manifesting no disposition whatever to do anything of the sort. He is at St Louis, purposeful as ever, but in a new role and with a sane toleration and a consideration for those whose views are not in all respects in accord with his own.

It is natural, of course, that so conspicuous a party figure as Mr. Bryan has been for many years, should be the center of more or less attention. He is still the fine, strong figure whose leadership millions of democrats were delighted to follow in campaign after campaign. His influence, did he choose to exert it in active fashion, would still be potent with a very large following of the rank and file of his party. Few Americans have had more warm admirers, more devoted champions than has Mr. Bryan. Four years ago at Baltimore he was the outstanding figure in the convention that nominated Mr. Wilson for the presidency. The four years that have followed have been history-making, and Mr. Bryan was an active element in the direction of national affairs up to the point where his convictions led him to a division with the president on a question of national policy.

We have heard much of the possible results of the "break" between the president and Mr. Bryan, ranging all the way from the intimation that Mr. Bryan might lead a fight against the president in the convention, to the rumor that he might become the leader of the prohibitionists. None of these weird prognostications have come true. Mr. Bryan is at St. Louis as a private citizen—as a newspaper reporter, in fact—whose views and whose interpretations of events as they transpire are of importance because of the wide political experience and the political sagacity of the man who will utter them. He protests that he is to attempt no hand in directing convention procee dings, and thus far has made no pronouncement of intentions save the desire to see democracy hold out an attractive welcome to those progrssives who do not find themselves willing to accept the nomination of Mr. Hughes. It is very clear that Mr. Bryan does not intend to stage any spectacular insurgency for the edification of those who are interested at this time not in what may be best for America's future, but solely in political advantage that would accrue to them by an embarrassment to democracy.

The country is watching with uncommon concern the negotiations in New York between the railway managers and the brotherhoods relative to differences involving wage and working conditions on the railroads, and it deplores the fact that thus far progress toward adjustment has not been encouraging. There is every indication of a deadlock, with ensuing possibilities for tremendous hardships to both interests concerned and to the public as well. In spite of the tense state of the relations, however, we do not believe either the employers or the employes will fail to realize the responsibility that rests upon them, or the common duty they owe to the public which they serve.

Unanimous re-election of William H. Shambaugh as a member of the Fort Wayne city school board by the council Tuesday evening was a high testimonial to Mr. Shambaugh, and one which he no doubt deeply appreciates. He has proven himself an efficient trustee, and has given to this very important position close attention and thorough sympathy. With Fort Wayne's growth, the position of school trustee, always important, is taking on new burdens and added importance, and the man who fills the position as capably as has Mr. Shambaugh is contributing largely to the welfare of his home city.

The democratic national convention at St. Louis this week will lack much of the dramatic, much of the strenuous and all of the bitterness that characterized the conventions of the republicans and the progressives at Chicago a few days ago. In spite of the fact, however, that the outcome is known in advance and that almost no uncertainty attends its deliberations, there is an enthusiasm and an interest manifest that demonstrates that democracy is up on its toes and will be fighting in splendid fashion this year.

Fort Wayne is planning for a civic health and beauty parade to be given on June 22 in connection with the widespread effort to make this city a cleaner, more beautiful and more attractive place in which to live. The propaganda is one in which every civic patriot should at once unite. It is not a fad and not a transitory spasm of civic virtue It is a very real and very important effort that promises fruitage in healthier and happier homes and, a healthier, happier city.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels has come out strongly and squarely in favor of the ballot for women. We take it that pretty soon even Secretary Daniels' enemies—and he has a lot of vigorous and vociferous ones—will be constrained to reluctantly admit that he's right once in awhile.

A casual glance at the portraits of Mr. Hughes and Mr. Fairbanks makes it evident also that whiskers have once more become a national issue in this country.

WHISKERS IN THE WHITE HOUSE.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The nomination of Hughes and Fairbanks by the republicans has aroused much interest in the subject of whiskers as a presidential adornment. It is interesting to note in that connection that thirteen, or almost exactly one-half the number of those who have been president, have not been without some kind of facial foliage. It may have been due to the influence of the civil war—for observers say that when a nation takes up the sword it lays down the razor—that beards have been most in evidence with presidents in the last half a century.

Abraham Lincoln set a fashion that was followed by Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Harrison. The first appearance of whiskers in the executive mansion dates from March 4, 1825, when John Quincy Adams took office. He wore a variety of sideburns something along the order of that made famous in recent years by Chauncey M. Depew, Martin VanBuren, who became president in 1837, had a growth even more luxuriant than that of President Adams, although of similar cut. Zachary Taylor also had side whiskers, but not very pronounced in style or quantity.

Abraham Lincoln was the first president to wear beard covering the chin. He shaved his upper lip. Gen. Grant had a complete set, mustache and all. Rutherford B. Hayes also had a full beard and one of very generous proportions. Presidents Garfield and Benjamin Harrison were fully bearded; President Arthur wore a mustache and side whiskers. Presidents Cleveland, Roosevelt and Taft had mustaches.

BILLY GOAT UPSETS GUESTS AT HOTEL

Bluecoat Squad Pursued Him on Trip Down Fifth Avenue.

New York, June 14.—"Somebody's got my goats!" shouted James McNulty, liveryman, as he appeared, excited and perspiring, before Lieut. John O'Connor at the police station.

"Your goat?" the lieutenant asked.

"My goats—Billy and Nanny. They've gone—vanished," wailed McNulty.

The lieutenant sent a police detail in search of Billy and Nanny.

Nanny Goat chewed hardware or paper in somebody's cellar at Fifty-Sixth street and Fifth avenue.

Sergeant O'Connor—not the lieutenant—pushed his way to the front of the flying squadron just as Billy Goat butted into the office of the Hotel Netherlands and sent several guests to the floor. Other guests grinned and watched two policemen wrestle with the fugitive.

The patrol wagon drew up before the door. Billy Goat, chewing the remnant of some fair shopper's handkerchief, was hustled to the station house. Nanny also had been captured and placed in the wagon.

McNulty arrived to identify his property. Sergeant Conklin, one of the pursuing squad, glared at him and nursed a spot where he had accidentally bumped into the bouncing Billy.

"If you'd feed those goats enough tin cans, paper and old handkerchiefs maybe they wouldn't leave home," was Conklin's parting shot.

President W. D. Mahon, of the Amalgamated Association, Not Here.

President W. D. Mahon, of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes, did not get to attend the meeting of Local No. 476 which was held Tuesday night in Harmony hall for the purpose of affecting a better organization.

Emphatic denial was made by Vice President C. B. Hutson to the report that another strike is pending. "These idle rumors injure the company and hurt us," he said. "You can also say for us that we have been treated fairly and the company has lived up to its agreement. Our meeting tonight was to take up organization work. We are new at the business and as Clayton H. Johnson was out of town, we asked for an amalgamated man who was experienced in this work. President W. D. Mahon, of Detroit, was expected tonight but did not arrive. There won't be any trouble as to labor matters if we can help it; the public can depend on that."

PRETTIEST BOY IN COLLEGE.

And He's Not a Bit Proud of the Honor Conferred by Coeds.

Minneapolis, June 14.—And now a boy at the University of Minnesota is blushing under the honor of being a "vanity fair" favorite. He entered no contest. The coeds are to blame.

"Oh, there he is! Isn't he too cute for anything!" The agricultural campus is echoing with these cries.

Axel Johnson is cursing coeducational schools in general and literary societies in particular.

The offense against masculine humility was perpetrated at a meeting of the Hesperian Literary society of the university, a society composed of maidens of literary inclinations, who rebelled against the general neglect of appreciation of masculine beauty and voted Johnson the prettiest boy at college.

Some Feel Insulted Because of a Belated Contract.

Voting with their colleagues for a suspension of the rules to place immediately on its passage an ordinance ratifying a contract, five members of the city council a few minutes later gave hearty demonstration that they only permitted the necessary unanimity of action in order to make more spectacular, emphatic and stinging the slap they were bent upon giving the board of works for sending up for approval a contract upon which work had already been far advanced. Five members voted against the ordinance when it was placed upon its passage, though any one of them could have attained the same result by refusing unanimous consent to suspend the rules. They wanted to take a resounding wallop at the board and make their protest a matter of record. They did both in passionate style, the objectors making violent protest against what they described as the board's insult to the council.

The sensational episode grew out of the contract with Henry Wehrenberg by the board of works for the construction of a brick storehouse and workshop on the city's North Clinton street property for the municipal light and power department. The contract was awarded near a month ago, but the ordinance ratifying the contract was not submitted to the council until Tuesday night. It was known that Contractor Wehrenberg had days ago began operations on the building and that work was far advanced. The storm broke when, after the second reading of the ordinance a motion was made to refer it to the committee on contracts and franchises and an amendment was proposed and seconded to suspend the rules, pass the ordinance immediately and thus save printing bills. Councilman-at-Large Paul Kinder objected and then Councilman E. B. Smith, of the Fourth ward, and Herman A. Korte, of the Tenth ward, lined up with him. The discussion became acrid.

"This is wrong—all wrong," said Councilman Kinder. "The board has no business to do anything of this kind. Who's got the contract for that carpenter work? I'd like to know."

"I'm against this. I will not sit here to be insulted by the board of works, for this is an insult. I've got some manhood and I'll stand up for it," declared Councilman Smith.

"This is no way to do business. You know it and the board knows it. We are here to represent the people, and do business according to law," said Councilman Korte.

Finally, after a great churning of speech, with sometimes several talking at once, the council got the motion to suspend the rules to a vote and the motion carried. Some more debate followed and the ordinance was put upon its passage. Kinder, Smith and Korte, joined by Councilman Johns, of the Fifth ward, and Councilman J. B. Mills, of the Sixth ward, voted against the ordinance. Unanimous vote is necessary to pass an ordinance in the session at which it is introduced and the measure was lost. It was then referred to the committee on contracts and franchises, after there had been another gabfest over the question if the ordinance had not been killed by the vote.

The five councilmen voting against the ordinance took the position that the board of works should be taught to respect the prerogatives of the council and treat its dignity in a becoming manner.

Amend and Pass Vault Ordinance.

The ordinance to extend to November 1, 1918, the time within which property owners may remove all outside vaults on premises that abut on either street or alley sewers, was amended to fix November 1, 1916, as the limit, but it took a half hour of debate to bring the issue about in this wise. Dr. John H. Gilpin, secretary of the board of health, was asked to address the council and gave an impressive talk on the necessity for the ordinance and the reasons why an extension of more than two years of the time limit would amount to a practical suspension of progress in the notable work the health department had within a short time so splendidly advanced. Dr. Gilpin said that of approximately 5,000 outside vaults in the city 1,800 had been eliminated, and he spoke in praise of Bloomingdale and Nebraska, where this great improvement of sanitary conditions had been effected. Korte and Smith voted against the amended ordinance.

Traffic Ordinances In.

Two measures for the amendment of the traffic ordinances were introduced and referred to the committee on rules, regulations and ordinances. One provides for straight traffic on Berry street and Calhoun street, where that plan will be given thorough trial, and the other relates to the traffic on Calhoun street, vehicular and pedestrian and regulates the loading and unloading of trucks on that thoroughfare, fixing hours when such interference of traffic shall be unlawful.

Other Measures in Council.

The council returned to the committee on rules, regulations and ordinances for amendment so that it will equalize fees the ordinance amending the building code in respect of the form of permit issued for buildings of the first and second class. The system of fees was shown to be absurd and the demand was general for reforming it.

The ordinance imposing a license fee on itinerant photographers and picture canvassers employing the coupon system was passed. The ordinance requires a fee of $25 for the first day, $15 for the second and $10 for each subsequent day.

City Attorney Guy Colerick reported, pursuant to a request from the council, that it would cost $1,650 to have the city ordinances up to date printed and bound in one volume, this covering merely the cost of 1,000 copies. This matter was referred to the committees on printing and finance.

To the committee on claims the council referred a communication from the city attorney suggesting that $350 be appropriated to settle the claim of Mrs. Minnie Honeck, who was injured two years ago at South Wayne and Swayne avenues.

"We have entered this hall as democrats; let us deliberate as Americans, said Mr. Glynn. "It is the business of this convention representing every section of the U. S., speaking for every racial strain in America, to send forth a message to all the world that will leave no room for doubt."

Reviews President's Course.

Reviewing President Wilson's conduct of foreign affairs, for which the president stood with Washington, Adams and Grant, who had preserved peace with honor.

"For vain glory or for selfish purpose," he declared, "others may cry for a policy of blood and iron but the president has acted on the belief that the leader of a nation who plunges his people into an unnecessary war, like Pontius Pilate, vainly washes his hands of innocent blood, while the earth quakes and the heavens are darkened and thousands give up the ghost.

"If Washington was right, if Jefferson was right, if Hamilton was right, then the president is right today," he declared.

Big Demonstration Starts.

Gov. Glynn's declarations upon Americanism and that "the policy of the administration as to neutrality is as American as the American flag" were given a prolonged demonstration. When Mr. Glynn predicted the re-election of President Wilson the delegates rose en masse and cheered, waving flags and whistling shrilly. The band helped along the demonstration.

Glynn pounded his gavel, trying to silence the throng, but soon the floor was again a sea of flags. The New Jersey delegation, bringing its stanchion, began the first procession down the front aisle. Stanchions of Illinois, Maryland, Indiana and other states soon followed.

The crowd got entirely out of hand but police prevented a general procession by sending the delegates to their delegations.

When the demonstration had been going on 15 minutes appeals were made to delegates to take their seats and let the speaker go on. They were answered by more noise. Finally after sixteen minutes, quiet was restored and Mr. Glynn went on.

Coliseum Fills Rapidly.

The Coliseum filled rapidly just before noon, some delay in opening the doors to spectators preventing an earlier influx. The bands accompanied the delegations to the hall but were not allowed to enter the hall. A few delegations came in all together and there was little excitement or cheering during the half hour preceding the opening of the convention.

Moving picture machines and cameras were planted at every vantage point. Because of the heat, under a flaring skylight, many of the delegates soon removed their coats and it promised soon to become a coatless throng. Texas delegates tossed miniature bales of cotton to the delegates.

At 11:45 the official band began the opening concert in accompaniment to a male quartet that sang a new song about America through megaphones. The song brought the first applause of the day.

Just before the convention was called to order the band struck up "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean," and the delegates rose joining in the chorus and waving American flags.

"Dixie" brought a roar, interrupted with the rebel yell.

Ovation for Bryan.

Wm. J. Bryan was given an ovation as he took his seat in the press section. The applause for him started in the galleries and then spread to the delegates. Mr. Bryan smiled his appreciation and got out his pencil and prepared for his reportorial duties.

A "woody" tiger was sent to Chairman McCombs' desk by a New York delegate.

The crowd as patient, orderly and quiet as it waited for the convention to begin. A half hour after the time set for the start the delegations still were coming in and notables were taking seats on the platform.

McComb Calls to Order.

Chairman McCombs took his place at his desk at 12:30 amid cheers and applause.

A few thumps of his gavel on a wooden sounding board quickly secured order and he cried: "The convention will be in order." One verse of "America" was then sung by the entire crowd, with tossing flags keeping the rhytham. This was followed by one verse of the Star Spangled Banner.

Rev. James W. Lee, Methodist Episcopal clergyman of St. Louis, read a prayer.

Immediately after the prayer Chairman McCombs delivered a brief address. The first demonstration greeted McComb's declaration: "The elephant is dead, the Moose is dead, long live the American eagle."

J. Bruce Kremer, secretary of the national committee, then read the formal call for the convention. When Chairman McCombs announced the temporary officers of the convention selected by the national committee, former Governor Glynn, temporary chairman, was cheered. The full list of temporary officers was read and approved.

Senator Reed, of Missouri; Senator Taggart, of Indiana, and Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, were appointed to escort Temporary Chairman Glynn to the chair. When the cheering subsided Mr. Glynn launched into his key note speech.

There probably was not one democrat who went into the building who could recall when a national convention of that party entered upon its work with more harmony than that which prevailed among the more than one thousand delegates today. The candidates for president and vice president have been decided upon and according to the leaders there will be no friction over the party's declaration of principles. Only the phraseology of a few planks in the platform remain to be agreed upon.

Prepared for Crowds.

Despite the expected cut and dried proceedings which the party managers hope to enliven by calling upon old campaigners to deliver ringing speeches to the delegates at odd moments during the sessions, the convention was prepared with a small army of assistants to handle all crowds at the meetings. Every seat in the oval shaped hall has been allotted and arrangements were made to take care of hundreds in spaces back of the seats and in the aisles. The interior of the coliseum was handsomely decorated, the American colors, of course, predominating.

City Dressed for Occasion.

The city itself was dressed for the occasion, the fact that this was flag day, the anniversary of the birth of the American flag helped in the display of the colors. Everywhere the stars and stripes fluttered and plans were completed by enterprising business houses for electric displays of the colors tonight and on the remaining nights of the week.

In quiet contrast to the republican convention when more than a score of different candidates' buttons were worn announcing favorite son candidates for president, there was but one button seen on the delegates today and that carried a likeness of President Wilson. Delegates shouted for Wilson, wore neckties with the name Wilson embroidered on them or carried pictures of the president.

Marshall Alone in Running.

Those who did not have on Wilson buttons wore some emblem indicating their favorite for vice president—Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, Roger C. Sullivan, of Illinois, Governor Major, of Missouri, or Governor Moorehead, of Nebraska.

But only one of these appeared to be in the running, the present vice president. President Wilson has indicated his preference for his running mate of four years ago and there is not the slightest doubt that his wish will be gratified. The other candidates may receive complimentary votes but if the leaders who are managing the convention can bring it about Vice President Marshall will be renominated by acclamation.

Those who looked for clear weather for convention were a bit disappointed to learn that conditions were uncertain. There was however, one thing virtually certain and that was that it was warm enough to make the closely packed crowd in the coliseum swelter.

Plans for Opening Day.

The plans for the opening day's session provided for the convention to be called to order at 12 o'clock by Wm. F. McCombs, of New York, the retiring chairman of the national committee. The call for the convention was to be read by J. Bruce Kremer the secretary of the committee. Then the program called for the opening prayer by the Rev. James W. Lee, presiding elder of the St. Louis district Methodist Episcopal church, South. The reading of the list of temporary officers already agreed upon was the next in order.

Then comes the key note speech by the tmporary chairman, Martin H. Glynn, of New York. Mr. Glynn's speech is expected to take up more than half the convention's time. After he concludes, the states roll call is to be made for representatives and committees on organization, rules and order of business and committees to notify the candidates nominated.

Adjournment will be taken until noon Thursday when the committees will report. Permanent organization will be affected and after the permanent chairman, Senator Ollie James, of Kentucky, delivers his speech, the convention may listen to some of the party orators.

Then will follow a recess and the presidential nomination will come late Friday night.

Saturday Session Uncertain.

Whether the convention will adjourn after President Wilson has been renominated and a session held Saturday morning to name the vice president or whether the convention will take up the vice presidency immediately after the president is nominated has not yet been finally decided. A number of leaders desire to have the convention complete its work late Friday night or early Saturday morning so as to avoid Saturday session.

One of the largest organizations here is the Cook County Democratic club which arrived last night prepared to help along the boom of Roger C. Sullivan, of Illinois. All of them had in the bands of their hats a small card on which was printed this demand: "We want Roger C. Sullivan for vice president."

Wore Marshall Buttons.

The supporters of the other candidates for vice president were not so conspicuous although a group of Indiana delegates 250 strong marched to the coliseum wearing Marshall buttons and carrying small flags.

Nearly everybody who went to the convention from the eastern part of St. Louis journeyed by way of Washington street, which for two hours before the convention convened was transformed into a "golden lane." On either side of the broad avenue stood women suffragists arrayed in yellow. They stood or sat on stools as they willed, a few feet apart and did not utter a word to the passing throngs making their way to the convention hall.

The "Golden Lane."

The golden lane stretched for twelve blocks from the hotel district to the coliseum and the mighty demonstration was expected by its originator to influence the delegates in the matter of a declaration for suffrage.

The suffragists hope to have the convention adopt the plank proposed by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, which proposes a suffrage amendment to the constitution.

Many speakers from the twelve suffrage states are in the city and many meetings will be held to advance the cause while the convention is in session.

Platform Building.

Platform building was continued by potential leaders of the party today so as to have as much of the work in readiness for the consideration of the resolutions committee. The committee is expected to organize late today, receive drafts of planks and hand them over to a sub-committee for consideration. It is probable that a public hearing will be given probably on Thursday, to suffragists, labor leaders and others who have planks they desire inserted in the democratic declaration of principles. Anti-suffragists will also be given a hearing it is said.

Secretary of War Baker, who arrived here last night with the planks drafted personally by President Wilson, will submit them to the resolutions committee when it is appointed. Mr. Baker has taken extra precautions to prevent the text of the planks in his custody being made public.

Expressions of approval were heard today regarding the suggested plan to win over members of the progressive party by making overtures to them in the democratic platform. Secretary Baker in discussing this phase of the political situation said the party leaders hoped to get progressive support by drawing a platform so that it will meet with their approval.

The national committee has adopted a design for a campaign button suggested by National Chairman McLean, of North Carolina. It bears a picture of President Wilson with the motto "America first" in bold red letters.

The North Carolina delegations are urging the appointment of Edward E. Britton of that state, as permanent secretary of the convention. He held the place four years ago.

Nebraska Crowd Compromises.

After three days' caucusing the Bryan and anti-Bryan factions of the Nebraska delegation compromised today and elected J. J. Thomas, of Stpart, Neb., member of the platform committee. Thomas, though elected on a Bryan ticket at the primaries, was referred to by the anti-Bryan faction as a sympathizer of their cause. W. D Oldham, the anti-Bryan candidate for platform committee, was named chairman of the delegation in pursuance of the compromise agreement, and W. H Thompson, the Bryan candidate for platform committee, was named on the committee to notify the president of his renomination. The controversy in the delegation involved the prohibition question.

Chillicothe, O. At the age of 23 he was sent to Lancaster, O., as junior partner of Barr & Campbell, and while there met and married Elizabeth Johns. In 1820 he came to Fort Wayne, the long journey from Lancaster, O., being made in a carriage with his wife and two children, a wagon containing the household goods accompanying him in charge of a man servant. He arrived at a place 8 miles from Fort Wayne, on the Wayne Trace Christmas Eve., and camped there until morning, when his man on horseback went to the town for a guide. After securing one, he reached Fort Wayne about noon, and stopped at the Inn kept by Zenos Henderson, corner Barr and Main streets, where he remained until he secured a residence. He opened a store for his company, and acted as agent for Barr and McCorkle, who owned the town site of Fort Wayne.

Active With Other Pioneers.

"He immediately became active with the other Pioneer settlers in all the work of developing the town and country adjacent, and built here the first flour, lumber, oil and woolen mills, which for a number of years were the only mills of this kind within a wide radius of Fort Wayne.

"He was postmaster under Jackson and Van Buren, and served as commissioner of Allen county. Shortly after locating here he purchased the property on which "Rudisill's Mill" was erected on the bank of the St. Joseph river, and on a part of this land built his home, known as the "Rudisill Homestead," and which was occupied by members of his family until 1904 when it was sold to the traction company, and the present power station erected thereon. In this home built about 1832, he started the first school in Washington township, and there the first sessions were held. In 1837 he was active in organizing the first Lutheran church in Indiana and was one of its officers and active supporters during his lifetime.

"He was identified with all public enterprises that sought to benefit the community, and active in Masonic work, being one of the high officials in that order, and a commander of the Knights Templar in the early years of their organization.

"With such pioneers as Hanna, Hamilton, Barnett, Peltier, Comparet, Ewing, Edsall, Wines and others, he did his full share in forwarding the civil, commercial and social welfare of the community, and at the age of 57 died at his home after a short illness caused by exposure during a flood that threatened the loss of the dam at his mill.

"Gentlemen, to you as representatives of the school city of Fort Wayne, and custodians of this beautiful building dedicated to the cause of education, I now have the honor of presenting on behalf of Miss Eliza Rudisill, and Mrs. Mary Sturgis, his daughters, the tablet erected by them in memory of their father, who was a patron of education and a firm believer in the public school system of this great commonwealth. I trust that the sturdy principles of manly courage, Christian fortitude and a wide and liberal charity with which he was endowed and which found expression in his daily life may be an example to the youth who enter this school to prepare for the wider field that awaits them in after life."

Inscription on the Tablet.

The tablet bears a fine portrait of the pioneer, and below it is the following inscription:

HENRY RUDISILL
Born 1801 Died 1858
Lancaster, Pa. Fort Wayne, Ind.

A Pioneer Citizen, he located at Fort Wayne in 1829, and was active in opening to civilization and development, the territory adjacent to Fort Wayne. He built the first flouring, oil, lumber and woolen mills here.

He served as commissioner of Allen county, and was postmaster at Fort Wayne under Presidents Jackson and Van Buren, from 1831 to 1841. Through his efforts the first Lutheran church in Indiana was organized in 1837 in this city. The first German speaking citizen here, he was instrumental in bringing many Germans here, who settled permanently in Fort Wayne and Allen county.

A patron and friend of education, he organized the first school in Washington township, the sessions being held in his home, then located at the N. E. corner of Spy Run avenue and Elizabeth street, north of this building.

A worshipful master of Wayne lodge, No. 25, 1833 to 1857, and first High priest of Fort Wayne Chapter No. 19, R. A. M., 1851, he was the third eminent commander of the Knights Templar in this city.

"His life was gentle, and the elements so mix'd in him, that nature might stand up and say to all the world, 'This was a man.'"

march passed the postoffice and treasury department buildings and the white house, where a reviewing stand draped with American flags had been erected. There the program provided that the president should leave the head of the parade and enter the stand with the members of the executive committee, where arrangements had been made to have Mrs. Wilson and members of the cabinet to join him to watch the remainder of the line pass by.

To control the crowds, including visitors from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Richmond and other nearby cities, the Washington police force had called for aid from soldiers from Fort Myer, Va., and marines and soldiers from the navy yard here. Street car service along Pennsylvania avenue was ordered suspended during the parade.

No Regular Military Out.

No regular military organizations were permitted to march, because Secretaries Baker and Daniels thought it would be improper for professional soldiers or sailors to participate. The national guard of the District of Columbia, the Washington high school cadets and several other volunteer military bodies were assigned to prominent place. American flags were distributed to every marcher just before the parade started. Nearly every band in Washington and Baltimore had been pressed into service and it was necessary to have some of them march by the reviewing stand several times in order to lead different organizations. The United Marine band was placed just ahead of the president.

In Eleven Divisions.

The parade was divided into eleven divisions, one of which was designated for negro citizens and organizations. After marching in review the paraders were directed to proceed to the open space back of the white house, where a temporary stand was erected for the flag day exercises, under the auspices of the committee representing the various government departments. President Wilson planned to begin speaking there at 3 p. m.

IN NEW YORK CITY.

New York, June 14.—New York city and state participated with unusual enthusiasm today in the nation-wide celebration of flag day, set apart by the president for observance of the one hundred and thirty-ninth anniversary of the acceptance of the Stars and Stripes as the national emblem. The streets and buildings were gay with flags and celebrations were held by patriotic organizations and public and private schools.

AT OMAHA.

Omaha, Neb., June 14.—Thirty thousand men and women today paraded the streets of Omaha in honor of flag day while twice that number of spectators lined the sidewalks and cheered. From reviewing stands 20,000 school children witnessed the spectacle. When the head of the column reached the disbanding point the line halted and "America" was sung to the accompaniment of several bands.

AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Indianapolis, June 14.—Flag day was more elaborately celebrated in Indianapolis today than ever before. Downtown buildings were more profusely decorated than usual and a big parade planned for this afternoon, to be followed by a mass meeting, which was to be addressed by Charles A. Bookwalter, former mayor; Capt. William English, Charles J. Orbison and Fred Van Nuys. The exercises were in charge of the local lodge of Elks.

GOLDEN LANE SCENE STAGED

keep them quiet. Participants not only talked among themselves but also with outsiders, both men and women, who displayed intense interest in the show.

Secretary Baker, who is said to hear a copy of a suffrage plank endorsed by the president, received Mrs. Hannah J. Patterson, of Pittsburg, a national representative today, and later he planned to talk with Sarah Bardfield, of Oregon, who will discuss the women's party demands with him.

Reports came to both suffrage camps today that the plank which Mr. Baker carries is not as strong as that submitted to the suffragists last night through Secretary Daniels and indorsed by widely known candidates. The plank Mr. Baker has it is suggested declares for suffrage but does not declare for an immediate passage of a constitutional amendment.

ANOTHER CHAPTER OF SCHOOL FIGHT

Adams County Case Back in Superior Court on a New Tack.

The second installment of the controversy in Kirkland township, Adams county, over the construction of a township central high school, has come into the superior court here on a change of venue, the present suit being an attempt by George M. T. Houck, trustee of the school township of Kirkland, to have the advisory board of the township mandated to convene and authorize the trustee to borrow the money necessary to procure a site and erect a suitable building. Some weeks ago Trustee Houck was defendant in a venue suit tried here in which citizens and taxpayers of the township got a verdict from the superior court mandating him to provide a high school building. The trustee now says in his complaint that he has no funds and no authority to proceed and that the advisory board has refused to take action, though twice convened for that purpose. Heller, Sutton and Heller are attorneys for the plaintiff in this later suit.

Abused, Beaten, Neglected.

Gertrude Shilts was married to Charles Shilts October 1, 1909, and separated June 13, 1916. She alleges cruelty, charging that her husband cursed her, called her vile and abusive names and struck her, and did not support her and the two children. P. B. Colerick appears for the plaintiff.

Has Her Automobile Plastered.

Maggie Allman, in her divorce complaint to the superior court, against Frank Allman, says that prior to their separation last April, her husband had obtained three or four loans of money from loan agencies, giving her automobile as security, the total sums so procured amounting to six times the value of the machine. In addition to this she accuses him of adultery with divers women. She says he is in Toledo. The plaintiff wants her maiden name, Maggie Hamilton, restored. Howard Hawthorn is her attorney.

Notes of the Courts.

In the superior court Henry E. Branning, jr., as receiver for the Cream of Rice company, has filed suits to recover money alleged due the concern against defendants as follows: James C. Thatcher, $100; W. Deitschel, $325; Frank B. Strodel, $100; Otis L. Friedline, $590. The suits grow out of the involved affairs of the corporation. Ryan, Ryan & Aldrich are attorneys for the receiver.

The suit of Calvin K. Rieman vs. Frank E. Shreve, et al., has been dismissed from the superior court.

In the case of Fay Lufcy vs. William H. Scherer, et al., the defendants have filed in the superior court a motion for a new trial. A jury in that court returned a verdict May 20 finding for the plaintiff in the sum of $450 with $27 interest.

Herman Sheets has begun action in the superior court against Emma Kallenbach to foreclose a mortgage and recover $250 on a note. Ryan, Ryan & Aldrich appear for the plaintiff.

The superior court has fixed September 15 for hearing the suit of Claude H. Davies vs. William S. Ringwalt.

In the circuit court the following cases have been disposed of: Emma Beard vs. Perry Beard, divorce, dismissed; Julius Schindler vs. the Bass Foundry & Machine works, for damages, dismissed; John N. Pfeiffer vs. the city of Fort Wayne, set for trial September 13; Margaret D. Fansler vs. William E. Sible, to DeKalb county on a change of venue as was also the case of Josiah King vs. Owen Falls.

On recommendation of Attorney John J. B. Jones the superior court has admitted to practice at the Allen county bar Attorney Martin Van Buren Scales. Mr. Scales comes here from Terre Haute, where he formerly was in practice.

RUSSIANS CLAIM ADVANCES.

Petrograd, June 14.—In their advance upon Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina, the Russians have occupied the village of Sniatyn, twenty miles northwest of the city, the war office announced today.

In addition to their previous captures the Russians have taken twenty officers, six thousand men, six guns and ten machine guns.

EXHAUSTION AT VERDUN.

Paris, June 14.—The fighting around Verdun has once more died down from sheer exhaustion of combatants.

An entire division, half of whom were Bavarians and half Pomeranians, was used up by the Germans in twelve separate attempts Monday to storm the French position north of Thiaumont. From this position the French flanking fire prevents the enemy from advancing on Vaux plateau. No result having been attained by nightfall, French troops were brought up and an attempt made to turn the position from the southwest. After a desparate struggle a footing was obtained in some trenches on Hill 321 half a mile west of Thiaumont, and a mile west of Brais. No effort was made to increase this advantage yesterday owing probably to the losses on Monday which, according to prisoners, were exceptionally heavy.

A violent artillery engagement took place last night in the vicinity of Vaux on the Verdun front. There were no infantry actions before Verdun.

AUSTRIANS ARE REPULSED.

Rome, June 14.—(Via London 2:12 p. m.)—Austrian attacks along the line of the Posina in the southern Tyrol, made after intensive artillery preparation on Monday night, were everywhere repulsed by the Italians, the war office announced today.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

ONE OF THE NEW BLOUSES

THE vogue of silk suits has had its effect on blouses. They are given every opportunity to be deserving of the position in which they are placed. As a change from the crepe de chine and Georgette blouses, so much in evidence during the late winter and early spring months, one is offered a wonderful array of organdie and fine handkerchief linen blouses. A very dainty model is made up of pink and white organdie. The blouse proper is of the latter. The pink is used as a trimming down the front of the blouse and on the cuffs.

Among the blouses made with low necks a great feature is the deep collar. Here the collar is of embroidered organdie, and to increase its depth a piece of plain organdie edged with lace is joined. A collar of this breadth is becoming only to the slender woman. For the stout figure the collar should be very shallow in front and in back it might extend in a deep point to the waist line.

RIBBONS AND LACES FOR THE SUMMER DANCE

ISN'T it a wonder what ribbons will do? And when they are mixed up with yards of billowy nets and laces they are irresistible. Instead of silk, this frock drawn for you today uses many yards of ribbon, both for trimming the skirt and for forming the greater part of the low tight bodice.

The skirt is a white net, embroidered in a light madonna blue. The ribbon is applied to it in three rows over the hips, and under these ribbons may be run the wire necessary to give the extended hip line. If the flouncing used is not skirt width it may be joined to plain matching net under the line of ribbon below the knees. These ribbons may be hemstitched on to the net, too, by the way.

ing is first required. To this the front portion of shirred net is attached, and then the ribbon is wound back and forth to cover the net lining completely. In the front the ribbons are caught thru and carried to the shoulders, to fall in rose-trimmed festoons from the shoulder. These roses may be the artificial kind to be bought in the millinery shops, or can be made of chiffon or silk. If there is too much decollete for the average woman, the frock might be supplemented by a very thin transparent guimpe of the net with long flowing sleeves, and a straight shoulder to shoulder line picoted on the edge.

GLASS DESK SET

TO SPEAK of a desk set as being of glass sounds too coldly hygienic to be really pretty, but the newest of the fittings for the letter writer are of etched and cut glass, and are exceptionally handsome. The corners of the blotter are of the glass, and also the inkwell, calendar, small bottle handle and even the penholder, while a tiny glass clock and a slender vase for flowers suggest additional beauties for the desk. The set would make an exceptionally handsome wedding present that has the rare combination of being both beautiful and essentially practical.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

To Remove Grease From Silk.

I spilled some grease on a silk dress. Is there any way that I can remove it, as it is impossible to wear the dress as it is?
Miss J. K.

Make a paste of equal parts of powdered French chalk and fuller's earth with either water or turpentine, and apply it to the spot. Allow it to stay on a few days before brushing off.

A Summer Coat.

I want to make a white coat, but find the materials are so expensive. Can you suggest any cheaper materials? Mrs. F. B.

If you buy a pair of white blankets, you will find there is plenty of material to make a beautiful white flannel coat at reasonable cost.

ICE TEA GLASSES

TINKLING ice, the cool sharpness of the scent of lemons and the night of the clear amber-tinted tea in the glass pitcher make up one of the delights of the summertime, but, incidentally, every one knows that an ordinary tumbler is not big enough for the ice and the tea; and, what is more, it leaves a wet spot on the table. As a result, since the law of supply and demand seldom fails, new ice tea glasses have made their appearance in the shops. These are tall and, barrel shaped, and are made with handles and also with tiny glass saucers under them. They come in plain and cut glass, as do the square ice tea tumblers, with glass and metal coasters for under them. To go with these glasses teaspoons with extra long, slender handles are shown; and one may even procure a special ice pick that will break the ice into little squares that fit nicely into the glasses. Even without such appurtenances there is nothing so satisfying as ice tea on a hot day, but with them the tea becomes an ambrosia that appeals as much to the eye as to the palate.

UNIQUE COAT FOR SUMMER

PERHAPS the girl who in the early summer strolled into the blanket department of a large store and pounced upon a pair of handsome white blankets purchased them and triumphantly carried them home—perhaps this girl had other reasons for purchasing these blankets than the usual one. Being a very capable girl, on returning home she gleefully told one of her friends of her purchase. Once told of the plan to use the blankets, this friend immediately purchased half interest in them, and together they cut out and made in just the style they wanted a very beautiful white flannel coat. They purchased a polo coat pattern and found laying the material on the bed the easiest way of cutting the coats out. It being summer, a lining was an unessential thing, consequently they found the putting together a very simple matter. To give their coats a tailored look they had the buttonholes made by a tailor. On the whole, their experiment was a great satisfaction.

NEW CAMISOLES

THE newest camisoles to wear under thin blouse are of allover lace or allover English embroidery, and are made in one piece. Space for the neck is cut out and edged with beading and ribbons, but the seams at the sides are not sewed up, but are edged with lace and tie under the arm and at the waist line with bows of ribbon. Some of these camisoles have an inner lining of a pale flesh tint and are tied with pale pink ribbons, and the majority are cut much higher in the neck and wider on the shoulder than the ordinary camisole, since they are designed to droop in a kimono effect over the shoulder line and lend an illusion to a tiny sleeve.

AMBER-HANDLED PARASOLS

THE popularity of amber seems to be growing rather than diminishing with the coming of the warm weather, and besides the tops of the new handbags and workbaskets there are now to be seen parasol handles of the warmly yellow tint.

These amber handles are especially effective on the parasols of yellow and dull blue, and also are a stunning combination with a white parasol which has a floral design in yellow roses. They come in straight designs, crooks and the ever-popular bracelet style.

Amber buttons have also made their appearance, while, of course, the amber-topped hat pins and long strings of beads continue in high favor with the girl who likes yellow.

FOR THE PORCH

THE furniture designed for porch use is just too attractive for words. A very useful article is a wicker table, which is provided with a wicker rack. Against this rack one can place a newspaper, a magazine or the directions for one's crochet and not be bothered by having to hold the paper affair in one's lap or hands.

The wicker birdcages are just the thing for the winged creature who likes to be with the family. A very odd cage is shaped like the globe used to teach geography. Just like the globe, the cage is suspended from a hook on a standard made of wicker.

Society

Mrs. Louis Baker and Miss Hazel Malone united in entertaining this afternoon for two of the season's brides-elect, Miss Dorothy Kilgore and Miss Marie Pierre. There were about sixteen young women who visited over their needlework and enjoyed the fragrance of garden flowers and the delectable refreshments served to them. Each guest found a little bouquet of white flowers at her place which she immediately wore. Miss Marie Beck, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Mrs. Jerry Strayer, of Los Angeles, were out of town guests.

The interesting event of tomorrow is the baby show at the exposition grounds. It is an echo of the pageant and it is hoped so much interest will be taken that the hole in the centennial committee's pocket will get a patch, at least. So everybody is urged to take notice for there are to be given twenty-four prizes for the babies, besides there are the things to see at the exposition any way, babies or no babies. But there will be many babies and the judges are Dr. Hamilton, Dr. Bruggeman, Dr. Gilpin, Mrs. James Shields, who is chairman of the committee on getting up this "show" and Mrs. Gilpin, also a judge.

AN AGILE BIG MAN.

Al Wilson's Drunk Scene Big Laugh in "Girl Question."

When huge Al Wilson, the towering comedian and vocalist with the Lasalle Musical comedy players at the New Palace, lurches onto the stage in "The Girl Question" after having imbibed too freely of the spiked punch at a reception, a laugh goes over the house. The laugh rises to a roar as Wilson careens towards the opposite side of the stage vainly groping for support in the empty air, but it is when he flops backwards and bending until one thinks his spine must give way under the strain weaves back and forth over the footlights the trick invariably is greeted with an enthusiastic hand, for the stunt requires no mean amount of agility on the part of a man of the proportions of Wilson. The big funster by the way sings a bass in the Lasalle quartet and his booming notes blend harmoniously with the voices of the other three.

"The Girl Question" is proving an even bigger hit than "The Time, Place and the Girl," possibly because the company is even more happily cast than in the last week's bill, for Guy Voyer's role of Con Ryan fits him without a wrinkle, while Aleen Morrison proves herself in the role of the over-looked "pal" to be a dramatic actress of skill. Harrie Lee, as the pert, saucy restaurant cashier with the misbehaving eyes and the penchant for the stage, is a captivating bit. Fred Dunham's singing of the song "I'll Follow You," done with the chorus in some novel tricks, closing with the American soldier following the flag, is a riot.

AT THE GRAND

In "Barbara Frietchie," in which little Mary Miles Minter, the fascinating and talented young actress is starred, the Popular Plays and Players have achieved a screen masterpiece that will create a distinct sensation, and will be shown at the Grand theater today and tomorrow. The picture is in five parts and was adapted from Whittier's immortal poem of the same name and the play by Clyde Fitch. In addition to the charming Miss Minter, the youngest star in the world, there appears in the supporting cast, the veteran actress, Mrs. Thomas W. Whiffen and many other artists of the stage and screen. The production marks the screen debut of Mrs. Whiffen, the "Grand Old Lady" of the stage, who has been appearing in prominent roles with notable stars for more than fifty years. "Barbara Frietchie" has the distinction of being a thrilling war play without a single battle.

QUITS PASTORATE AT SALEM CHURCH

Rev. F. W. Knatz Resigns to Take Position With College.

Rev. F. W. Knatz for the past three years pastor of Salem Reformed church of this city, has resigned as pastor of that congregation in order to accept the position of principal and teacher of the Acadamie college of the Theological seminery of the Reformed churches located at Franklin, Wis. His resignation is to take effect the first Sunday in August.

The beloved pastor presented his resignation at a meeting of the congregation Monday evening and it was with regret that the church accepted it. They were very reluctant in granting the request and made all sorts of attractive inducements to have him remain. However, after Rev. Knatz explained to them that it was a necessity that the request be granted, they accepted the resignation.

During his pastorate here he won the respect and high esteem of everyone with whom he came in contact and especially was this true in his own congregation. Every one of the members and especially the officials of the church feel that they are soon to experience a heavy loss. However, they wish their pastor the best of success in his new undertaking.

The new position, which has been offered him and which he has accepted is one which carries with it great honors. This is the college where young men are trained for the ministry in the Reformed churches. Rev. Knatz is a graduate of this school, having completed his course in 1904.

He entered into the pastorate of Salem Reformed church of this city October 20, 1913, and during his short stay here the church has progressed and grown very rapidly. The church is now one of the foremost churches in the city and much honor is due to its retiring pastor.

Previous to the local charge, Rev. Knatz was minister of the Reformed church at Buffalo, N. Y., for four years. The five years following his graduation from college he was pastor of the church at Bucyrus, Ohio.

Rev. Knatz was one of the most active workers in the Fort Wayne Ministerial association and was considered oneof the ablest speakers in the city.

Fierce Fight Staged in 'Squire Grabner's Court

Enraged because the court acquitted Herbert Meyers of the charge of provoke, Charles Jones, West Main street, forgot he was in a court of justice and without warning jumped upon Meyers, struck him several terrific blows, grabbed him by the throat and threatened to kill him when Constable Harvey Hughes and Attorney Stephen Callahan pulled him off. The scene was enacted in the court of 'Squire Henry C. Grabner Wednesday morning. Jones was fined $10 and costs for assault and battery, besides a fine of $5 and costs that had been assessed against him a few minutes before for malicious trespass.

The other night as Meyers was going home he was hailed by Jones. The hour was late and he refused to stop. Jones followed him and attempted to break in the door and did tramy down the flowers and do other damage about the premises. Meyers had him arrested on the charge of malicious trespass and when the court found him guilty and fined him $5 and costs he immediately filed a charge of provoke against Meyers. The court found Meyers not guilty, the verdict being no sooner announced than Jones pounced upon Meyers and the scene as stated above took place. Jones is now a prisoner in the county jail.

SACRED HEART IN GOLDEN JUBILEE

The celebration of its golden jubilee and the annual commencement exercises of Sacred Heart academy were great and altogether most imposing events Tuesday. The exercises for the anniversary day were held at the academy north of the city, in the morning and for the graduating class in the afternoon, but the jubilee celebration was noted throughout the commencement exercises.

A large audience of friends and relatives and of the clergy connected with the diocese were present at both morning and afternoon gatherings, including Rt. Rev. Bishop H. J. Alerding, Rev. J. A. Lynn, who celebrated the mass at the academy chapel, Rev. J. H. Durham, deacon, Rev. M. P. Louen, sub-deacon, Rev. W. C. Miller, master of ceremonies, Rev. Arthur Barry O'Neil, C. S. C., of Notre Dame, who delivered the jubilee sermon, Rev. E. J. Mungovan and Rev. T. Travers, of Portland, who addressed the graduating class. Besides the Sisters in present charge of the academy, a number of Sisters of the Holy Cross, who have been there in former years, were visitors.

The members of the graduating class are Miss M. Berling, of Decatur; Miss M. Michaels, of Chicago; Miss M. Dillon, of Union City; Miss F. Bloom, of Fort Wayne, all of whom took the academic course. In the commercial course the graduating class consisted of Miss E. Price, of Payne, O.; Miss H. Arnold, Fort Wayne; Miss G. Kilbourne, of Baltimore, Md.; Miss I. Mallicka, of South Bend; Miss E. Zurbuch, of New Haven; Miss J. Henry, Fort Wayne, and Miss A. Gretzinger, of Kendallville.

Program Beautiful One.

The program for commencement exercises was very beautiful and demonstrated musically, the excellent training the pupils receive with a special feature of the Alma Mater chorus of which both music and words were written by two Sisters of the academy. The program opened with a short piano composition rendered by Misses K. Golden, A. Murphy, R. A. Weber, B. Baltes, H. Arnold, C. Cotter, D. Morrow and M. Kiley. In singing the Alma Mater chorus the students were Misses H. M. Houder, M. Dillon, J. Henry, M. E. Carroll, I. Mallicka, H. Kenny, G. Kilbourn, B. Ryan, C. Tobey, H. McCarthy, Y. Deneen, D. Morrow, C. Morrow, who sang, and at the pianos were Misses Weber and Katherine Carroll. Miss I. Schneiker recited a poem. Mrs. Josie Uber-Horton, a former pupil of the academy, played a harp solo. Miss Hazel Houder of Chicago, also a recent pupil, sang Gounod's "Ave Maria," a piano number was played by Misses Bloom, Dillon, Berling, Tobey, Gretzinger, K. Carroll, Kuebler and McCarthy and a number of pupils who recited a poem were Misses E. Bloom, M. Michael, M. Dillon and M. Berling. Medals and diplomas were conferred upon the class.

Rev. Father Travers Speaks.

Rev. Father Travers delivered a short address which was very much to the point in suggestions to the young women of the academy classes, concerning the intellectual improvement of their minds. Father Travers addressed everyone, "old girls and young girls," and aside from calling attention to the benefits of a residence at the Academy of Sacred Heart and the daily contact with the beautiful characters of the sisters, remarked that education demands, in addition to knowledge, beautiful character, high and noble sentiments, and a refinement that is or becomes ingrain to the individual, not only spiritually, but intellectually. Father Travers condemned the general run of woman's page stuff in Sunday editions of papers, believing it to be harmful and its result a tendency toward vulgarity.

Following the graduating exercises the entire audience adjourned to another part of the academy and enjoyed a number of toasts. Father E. J. Mungovan presided as toast master and his witty remarks served as a tonic to any one the least bit tired and everyone who spoke did so in an exceedingly clever manner. Father Lynn was particularly merry and Father Louen's remarks, though in a more serious vein, were especially apropos to the occasion and were equally enjoyed. Rev. J. H. Schmitz's subject was "Our Holy Father," and his toast was impressive. A political toast was given by Mrs. A. E. Carroll on "Our Alma Mater," and Mrs. James M. Dinnen was equally entertaining and to the point on "Early Days." Mrs. Louise Greenwell-Nelson interested everyone with her short toast on "Loyalty" and Miss Gertrude Coleman was quite fortunate in her reminiscences of "School Days."

Bishop Speaks Briefly.

At the close, though not on the program, Bishop Alerding spoke for a few moments in his happiest manner, charming the audience with his humor and entertaining his priests of the parish present with his references to their devotion to him as well.

Altogether it was a beautiful hour and a fitting close to the rounding out of a half century of the work of the Sisters of the Holy Cross at Sacred Heart academy.

A most interesting spectator during the entire day was venerable Father Adam, who founded the academy. Reference to Father Adam and to his years of devotion in the early life of the academy was frequent. There were present two of the first pupils of the school, who live in Fort Wayne. They were Mrs. John Bostick and Mrs. John B. Reuss. Letters and telegrams were read from absent alumnae members and from former sisters now located elsewhere. A purse of over five hundred dollars in gold was presented to the sisters by former pupils of the academy. Sister M. Trinitas, a former pupil of the academy, wrote the music to the hymn referred to and the words were written by Sister Resurrection. The rooms used during the jubilee celebration were very beautifully decorated, the gold and white denoting the fiftieth year, and the green and white in other rooms the graduating class colors. The work was done entirely by the pupils and was in excellent taste.

THREE MORE DAYS OF THE GREAT PRIZE CAMPAIGN!

Sentinel Selects Prominent Business Men of Fort Wayne As Contest Judges

The following well-known citizens of Fort Wayne have been selected by the Fort Wayne Sentinel to preside as the official contest judges, and these gentlemen will have charge of the final count of votes that will determine the eighteen prize winners in the great circulation campaign, which closes Saturday, June 17th. A battery of Burroughs adding machines will be used to insure an absolutely correct count.

WITH every contestant lining up her forces, and preparing for the final dash to the wire, the greatest contest ever conducted in this territory has developed into a matter of hours. But four days of the contest remains, and the prizes will then become the property of eighteen of the most popular and energetic women of this section of the state. All indications point to a furious finish and the effort NOW is worth so much more than it ever possibly can be again that even the seconds remaining have an inestimable value. Throughout these final days that are left the battle of ballots will wage at a rapid rate, and not only in Fort Wayne, but people through The Sentinel's territory are interested in the results. This intense interest, which has now reached the fever heat mark, is caused not only because of the many popular and ambitious young women entered, but also because of the magnificent prizes which are soon to be awarded. No contest ever before held in this state has offered the opportunities that has this one, nor such a grand array of rewards, given under such liberal conditions.

With such a short time remaining, practically every candidate realizes the great value and importance of her time and is determined to do her best before the finish arrives. NOW is the time when your efforts will really count, and NOW is the time you want to work as you never worked before, for the prizes are of such magnificence that to forego the opportunity to win them when they might be yours for so little effort would be a crime.

Of course you realize that it is necessary to get votes in order to win and WIN is what you want to do without a doubt. The essential thing and the only thing that is really important is to get votes in to the contest office in the ballot box by 9 o'clock Saturday night. But there is nothing like having a little leeway. If votes were deposited next Saturday they would count, but the best way is to have them in in time. Trains go wrong; crowds sometimes hinder and accidents are galore. "The Pardon That Came too Late" has furnished material for many a heartrending story and ballad. Well votes that come too late will be as much avail as the pardon was to the man who was hanged.

During the four days of the contest that remains it is essential that every contestant who expects to be a winner—and every one who wants to be a member of that class—get out and put forth her utmost efforts to securing subscriptions. Rake over your field as though with a fine tooth comb to make sure that nothing in the line of subscriptions has escaped you. Begin today and route out for yourself a list of places to be visited each day until the close. Make use of the telephone and any other legitimate means of securing these necessary adjuncts. Without them you cannot hope to finish at the top, but by earnest work during the few hours that remain you may not only surprise yourself, but destroy the illusions of some of your competitors who already have visions of receiving one of the four cars. Yours is the chance—the opportunity is too great and of a too far-reaching value to be allowed to slip away without some effort on your part to stop it, and it is up to you to make the most of it. It won't do you a bit of good, and you know it to have many subscriptions in prospect if you fail to get them in before the race ends and some one else, a little more enterprising than yourself, walks off with the particular prize upon which you set your heart.

SECOND PAYMENTS

A fruitful source of votes is that of "Second Payments." Candidates who have in the beginning of this campaign secured from their friends or acquaintances a subscription to The Sentinel for a short term, should again visit these subscribers and endeavor to secure their consent to lengthen their subscription. By having these subscribers make another payment on their subscription, and extending to say, one year, the subscription will be counted as new, and secure votes accordingly. Such subscriptions should invariably be marked, on the stubs as "Second Payments, and always mark the amount of money paid on the first payments.

To turn in an old subscription as a new one, will avail nothing to the contestants, for such a procedure merely forfeits the votes to which she would be entitled. The Sentinel carefully verifies every subscription that is brought or sent in, and where it is discovered that stubs have been marked wrong, the votes will not be issued.

If the candidates are uncertain whether the subscription is old or new, they should communicate with The Sentinel. Be sure that the stubs are marked CORRECTLY BEFORE they are turned over to the Campaign Office.

Special Offer Ballots

The special offer ballots of extra votes due all candidates on the offer which closed Saturday, June 10th, were mailed from the Sentinel office Tuesday evening. All candidates should be sure to notify the office if they do not receive theirs by Wednesday evening. Also be sure to check up your subscriptions sent during this offer to make sure that you have received the correct number of extra votes. In case of any error notify the campaign office by telephone immediately.

Merely As a Matter of Caution Are These Lines Printed

It is of utmost importance that every contestant, especially the contestant living outside of Fort Wayne, read and weigh every line of the following carefully. We would dislike to see any candidate lose votes because of the excitement and rush that will attend the closing days of the campaign, or because of any misunderstanding on the part of the contestant.

1. The campaign will close promptly at 9 p. m., Saturday, June 17th. And every vote ballot and subscription must be at the office at that time. The Sentinel will not be responsible for any letters delayed in the mails, and contestants living outside of Fort Wayne should see that their votes and subscriptions arrive before that hour.

2. The final count will take place on Monday afternoon, at the Fort Wayne Sentinel office. Same will be in the hands of a committee of Fort Wayne's most prominent business men.

3. All votes and remittances mailed after Wednesday should bear a special delivery stamp, to be assured of prompt delivery. Candidates may send remittances or votes any time later but must be certain that same will arrive at the Campaign Department not later than 9 p. m., June 17th.

4. All remittances and votes should be addressed directly to the "Campaign Manager," Fort Wayne Sentinel. Do not address your letters to individuals. This will prevent any letters going astray.

5. Candidates should be careful in making out their subscriptions, giving complete address, and also, when mailing same should be sure to have the correct amount of money to cover all subscriptions.

6. Be certain that your name is on all ballots sent in. This is absolutely necessary and very important. Also bear in mind that no votes are transferable.

7. Positively no personal checks will be accepted the last two days of the campaign. All remittances sent or brought to the campaign department on Friday and Saturday must be either money orders, certified checks, drafts or cash.

8. Every candidate should use unusual precaution in marking their sub scriptions as to whether they are "new" or "old" as the subscriptions will be carefully verified before the prizes are awarded.

9. Any matter that is not perfectly clear regarding any point pertaining to the campaign should be reported to the Campaign Manager at once, so as to have a thorough understanding before the close.

10. Candidates should follow every article from now on until the close of the campaign.

NO MORE CHANGES IN STANDING OF CONTESTANTS

The standing which appears today includes every coupon, every subscription ballot and every vote published throughout the campaign up to Friday, June 9th, at 6 p. m. These votes as published today will not be counted again, as the final count will be made of the reserve votes, and votes secured from now on will be deposited in the sealed ballot box during this week. If this count is not absolutely correct according to your figures, please notify the Campaign Manager immediately, so that proper corrections can be made before the close of the campaign. If you reside outside of the city of Fort Wayne, use the telephone to notify the Campaign Manager of any errors.

This Standing Represents Votes Cast Up to 6 P. M. Friday, June 9th

WOMAN MAKES HUSBAND HAPPY

Gets Him Tanlac and He Finds It Just What He Needed

"My husband was greatly surprised when Tanlac benefited him for he had little faith in any medicine," Mrs. Katie Bixler, well known Fort Wayne woman of 1911 Sinclair avenue, said recently.

"For ten or twelve years Mr. Bixler suffered from stomach trouble," she continued. "When he ate breakfast he usually was not able to keep the food on his stomach. His trouble was so severe that he'd just toss and roll and groan at night. Often he retired without attempting to eat supper. It seemed that there was a heavy weight in his stomach all the time. Formations of gas formed, causing him much trouble.

"After taking about a bottle and a half of Tanlac my husband improved steadily. He sleeps soundly at night now and in the mornings he feels rested and refreshed. The feeling of weight in his stomarch also has left. He is not bothered with formations of gas in his stomach now. His appetite is fine.

"I bought Tanlac for my husband against his will, but he's glad he tried it now."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite and the like.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at Meyer's drug stores—Wayne and Calhoun, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor.—Advertisement.

FT. WAYNE ON ROUTE YELLOWSTONE TRAIL

National Highway is to Be Extended from Chicago Eastward.

By the extension of the Yellowstone Trail east from Chicago to the Atlantic coast, this state and city gains one of the best known transcontinental highways. The Yellowstone Trail has been organized and in operation west of Chicago for the past five years. it maintains an intense organization west of Chicago, being incorporated, and having general offices at Aberdeen, South Dakota, devoted exclusively too the interests of this road.

The decision to extend east was made at the last annual meeting held at Minneapolis, Minn., in February of this year. Since that time the association has been investigating routes east and last week the decision was reached to extend the route across Indiana, through Hammond, Valparaiso, Plymouth, Warsaw, Pierceton, Columbia City, Fort Wayne and then northeast through Harlan, entering Ohio at Hicksville. Through Ohio the route selected goes through Bowling Green, Fremont and Norwalk to Akron, and then to Franklin and Oil City, Pa., Olean, Binghamton, Elmira and Kingston, N. Y., Hartford, Conn., Providence, R. I., and to Plymouth, Mass., the slogan of the road being "A good road from Plymouth Rock to Puget Sound."

Chas. L. Biederwolf, secretary of the Fort Wayne Commercial club, has been appointed temporary member of the executive committee for Indiana on the trail association staff of officers, pending the organization of the state and regular election.

The selection of this route follows a visit to this state by General Agent H. O. Cooley, of the Trail association, at which time the matter was gone into thoroughly, and a state meeting held at Columbia City, which was largely attended. The announcement was not unexpected on the part of the cities through which the route extends, they having pledged their co-operation and support of the trail.

JUNE 22 IS DATE OF BIG CIVIC PARADE

Mayor Hosey Lending Aid to Make Affair Notable Success.

Thursday afternoon, June 22, is the time set for the great civic parade to be given in Fort Wayne in connection with the city-wide campaign for cleanliness, health and beauty, a proceeding under the auspices of the municipal department of health and the Real Estate exchange and the immediate direction of Mrs. Josephine L. Nesbitt. Plans to make this parade the greatest and most impressive demonstration for civic advance ever held in Fort Wayne are rapidly going forward. Mayor W. J. Hosey will lend every assistance possible to insure success of the demonstration. Chief of Police Charles Lenz will provide an escort of sixteen officers to escort the procession, the Elks' band will furnish music for the marchers and it is expected that there will be in line thousands of men, women and children who are interested in the great campaign to raise Fort Wayne to eminence as the cleanest and most beautiful as well as healthful city in the country. The parade will end at the Majestic theater, where the initial exhibition will be given of the National Cash Register company's wonderful kinemacolor pictures, which are to be here for two days and which may be seen by the people of Fort Wayne without cost to themselves. A meeting of the women counselors of the campaign was held Tuesday afternoon at the West Wayne street home of Mrs. A. E. Fauve, who is chairman of the parade committee, and the preliminary plans for the event were then laid. It is hoped to have a large number of automobiles for the parade.

Lafayette Place Maintained Like Park

Many of those who purchased property in Lafayette Place last year, and who have taken advantage of the ideal weather to visit their lots, during the last few days, have been delightfully surprised at the condition in which they found them, even though they were fully aware of the condition in the contract with the Lafayette Place company, which obligated company to maintain all lots in a similar way to which parks are maintained by cutting weeds, etc. The increased attractiveness, which this feature of all contracts for lots brings, is but one of the many conditions promising a rapid sale of the remaining lots and the quick development of the addition. BRETHREN START HOMEWARD TRIP

Big Convention at Winona is Nearing the End—Shop News.

The triennial meeting of the Church of Brethren at Winona, which opened last Friday, has commenced to break up and several thousand people in attendance are preparing to go to their homes. They are traveling in smaller parties than characterized their movement to the resort and so far it has not been necessary for the Pennsylvania to operate any extra trains. All of the regular trains eastbound carry extra equipment, however. Today No. 152 delivered three carloads of these people to the G. R. & I.; No. 40 had two car loads and Nos. 107 and 9, westbound, two car loads each. All the trains tomorrow will carry from two to three extra cars to accommodate this travel, but so far there has not appeared any need for special trains.

NO STRIKE OF KNITTERS.

Wayne Mills Say There is No Trouble With Employes.

"There is absolutely nothing in the report that the knitters in our factory are on strike," said John A. Thieme this morning. "Five young fellows, who claimed to belong to the Textile union, walked out of the mills at 1 o'clock yesterday, alleging that they had made a demand for increased wages and were turned down," continued Mr. Thieme, "but I nor any of the heads of the Full Fashion Knitters' union, which is the recognized labor union of the works, knew of the incident until they read it in the Daily News or heard it through other means after 6 o'clock last night."

Business Agent Johnson, of the Machinist Union, also denied the rumor that there was a general strike of knitters at the Wayne mills. "There is nothing to the story," he said. Then Mr. Johnson explained that there were two labor organizations at the Mills. The old one, formerly the Textile workers, but now the Full Fashion Knitters union, has a membership of upwards of 400 and has been in existence over six years. The new one, which is called the Textile Workers, No. 984, was organized about six months ago and as I understand it, it was members of the latter who walked out yesterday afternoon." The members of the new organization are not knitters, Mr. Thieme said. They are all employed in the seamless department and it is said that the organization has only sixten members. It is not connected with the Knitters union and he knew nothing of a strike in the seamless department and he worked up to the usual hour for quitting last evening before he heard of it.

PUSHING WORK AT OSAGE STREET.

The Nickel Plate Section Foreman P. J. McAnery had a large force of men engaged today in elevating the north track in the west end of the yards, placing the temporary stringers and the ties under it to give opportunity to the men engaged in excavating for the subway to push the work. The putting of this main lead track out of commission for a day made it somewhat difficult to handle the business at the yards. The excavators have reached a point about forty feet from the north line of the Nickel Plate yards and will complete that part of the work in two or three weeks.

NOT BADLY INJURED.

The two men injured in the Nickel Plate wreck at Oakwood yesterday who are now at the St. Joseph hospital under the care of Dr. Dinnen, are not badly hurt and will soon be able to go to their homes. One, J. Mahoney, resides in Kansas City and the other, W. J. Davidson, resides in Omaha. No. 402, the engine which figured in the collision, had her front end caved in and has been sent to the Stony Island shops for repairs. The caboose, the care takers car and a car which carried live poultry were demolished and were thrown in the ditch by the wrecking crew to be picked up later.

OUT WITH SUPPLY TRAIN.

Assistant Trainmaster Thomas S. Fox and Chief Clerk Charles H. Tonsing were the only ones in authority at the G. R. & I. offices this morning, all the officials being out on the road with the supply train, which left Richmond this morning for Grand Rapids, stopping en route at all stations. With the car are Supt. B. H. Hudson, Trainmaster R. G. Casey, Division Engineer R. G. Jones, Division Operator J. F. Betts, Road Foreman of Engines A. L. Lopshire and Master Carpenter H. M. Large. They will be three days in making the trip.

STILL UNABLE TO WALK.

Mrs. Albert Hettler, who was struck by an automobile at Calhoun and Baker streets last Saturday, is still confined to her bed at the family home, 612 Masterson avenue. Mr. Hettler, who was also struck by the auto at the same time, has recovered and is at work again in the Pennsylvania shops. The machine carried the number 4027 and through it Mr. Hettler hopes to locate the man who was driving the auto on that occasion.

JOHNSON MAY LEAVE.

There is a rumor which, however, could not be verified that Clayton Johnson contemplates resigning in the near future his position as agent of the machinists' union and will leave soon for Denver, Colo., where he will make his future home. Mrs. Johnson and son have been in Denver for several months on account of their health. The regular meeting of the Machinists' union will be held Monday evening.

LOST A FINGER; ANOTHER HURT.

Schulz, the company's surgeon, was compelled to amputate the second finger. The third finger was also badly cut and bruised, but it will be saved. The unfortunate man was taken to St. Joseph hospital where the amputation was performed.

GOING TO DETROIT TO WORK.

Willis R. Miller, for the past four months the oiler at the Pennsylvania car machine shop, resigned today and will take employment in an automobile shop in Detroit. Mr. Miller worked four or five years in the Pennsylvania planing mills, but when he was injured four months ago he was given the lighter work of oiling the machinery.

LOST INDEX FINGER.

Walter Sacher, who came here from Edgerton, Ohio, recently to take a position with the Corrugated Paper company, lost the index finger of his right hand this morning when the digit was caught in a machine he was operating. He is at the St. Joseph hospital.

COMING HOME SATURDAY.

B. F. Sarver, general foreman of the Pennsylvania boiler department, who has been at the Martinsville sanitarium three weeks, expects to come home next Saturday. He is so much improved that he will make the trip unaccompanied by any friend or member of his family.

WILL ENTERTAIN PRISCILLA AID.

The Priscilla Aid society of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Order of Railroad Conductors will be entertained by Mrs. C. H. Blue, of 329 East Woodland avenue. Mrs. Boland will be the assistant hostess.

BUSY AT KNITTING MILLS.

"The knitting mills are busy as usual," said John A. Thieme in reply to an inquiry this morning. The dye situation is not causing as much trouble at present as formerly, for there is an abundance of the American product now.

Bowel Complaints in India.

In a lecture at one of the Des Moines, Iowa, churches a missionary from India told of going into the interior of India, where he was taken sick, that he had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with him and believed that it saved his life. This remedy is used successfully in India, both as a preventive and cure for cholera. You may know from this that it can be depended upon for the milder forms of bowel complaint that occur in this country. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

He selected Baby Bonds because of their assured security, good rate of interest and small denominations.

Baby Bonds are in $10 denominations, secured by first mortgages on local real estate and pay a six per cent. interest. For further information, call Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff Building.

SCHOOL CHILDREN VISIT EXPOSITION

Baby Day Has Been Postponed Till Thursday—Other Attractions.

Owing to the bad weather of last week, and the consequent inability of many people to bring their families to see the big industrial exposition at League park, it is requested that the big firms of the city declare half holiday on Friday, in order that working men may take their families and spend a profitable half-day seeing the big educational display of Fort Wayne's firms.

THE CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION COMMITTEE

Hundreds of school children were the special guests of Manager J. S. Berger and Van B. Perrine of the centennial exposition committee at the big exposition on North Calhoun street, Wednesday afternoon. In spite of the clouds which threatened to hide the sun all through the morning, the youngsters came in flocks and droves, bringing their mothers or fathers or big brothers or sisters, or aunts or uncles, as Manager Berger had requested. Every youngster who came under the guardianship of an older person was admitted free, and the youngsters thoroughly enjoyed every part of the big exposition, making the rounds of all the 200 displays of the Fort Wayne merchants and manufacturers, and especially the great hippodrome with its marvelous showing of fifteen big circus acts. Yesterday's crowds at the exposition grounds totaled nearly 4,000, and everyone present was loud in his praises of the big attraction.

Public Marriage Tonight

Great interest is scheduled around the marriage in public at the exposition grounds scheduled for tonight of a Fort Wayne couple. While they have refused to allow their names to appear in print, there are a number of surmises going the rounds of the gossips as to whom they are. The ceremony will be performed on the Hippodrome stage, at the north end of the hippodrome grounds, immediately after the evening performance has closed. And after the couple has been united, the exposition committee will present them with a beautiful set of furniture, valued at more than $150.

Baby Day Thursday.

Big interest is centered in the Centennial Baby day show, which will be conducted at the exposition grounds Thursday afternoon. With eighteen loving cups offered as prizes for the most perfect little tots brought to the grounds. Ample space has been provided for the judges at the grounds, and accommodations will be made so that mothers will have ample facilities for caring for their babies in as thorough a manner as they could care for them at home. It is expected that nearly 1,000 mothers will be at the grounds for the baby show Thursday afternoon and the exposition committee is planning to handle that many little tots. Mothers have been asked to be at the grounds not later than 2:30, as the judging will begin shortly after 3:00.

The selection of Fort Wayne's Centennial babies is to be conducted in no haphazzard manner, and good looks and general appearance will not be the only things that will make an impression with the judges, who are Mrs. James L. Shields, Mrs. J. H. Gilpin, Dr. Allen Hamilton, Dr. H. O. Bruggeman and Dr. J. U. Gilpin. Actual physical perfection is to be the only points that will count with the judges, and accurate scores and percentages will be recorded in determining the prize winners. As each baby passes before the judges it will be weighed, measured and sounded by the judges, and a card will be made out by a clerk recording the percentage of each entrant. When all these cards have been made out for each of the six classes of babies, they will be arranged in order of percentage, and those babies whose percentages are highest will be awarded the prizes.

The order in which the babies will be judged is: First, girl babies less than one year old; second, boy babies less than one year old; third, girl babies between one and two years old; fourth, boy babies between one and two years old; fifth, girl babies between two and three years old; sixth, boy babies between two and three years old.

IN AN ATMOSPHERE OF VICTORY, HE SAYS

Address of Chairman Calling Democratic Convention to Order.

St. Louis, Mo., June 14.—In calling the democratic national convention to order at noon today Chairman William F. McCombs, of the democratic national committee spoke as follows:

"We are in an atmosphere of victory. We have no feeling of guess, but a spirit of certainty. We meet to celebrate the marvelous achievements of the democratic party since it came into power and to place a milestone upon the path of its future success.

"Over two thousand years ago, an old slave related the fable of the frog who wanted to grow the size of an elephant. Such was the ambition of his soul that his body swelled to a marvelous proportion. Indeed Aesop went so far as to predict that the frog, upon reaching the size of an elephant, would burst. I commend to your notice the wisdom of Aesop. It took over two thousand years for his prophecy to come true. Only last week the frog-elephant—or the elephant-frog exploded. The republican party for years succeeded in deceiving the people. Now it is successfully deceiving itself. In its platform it offers pulchritudinous promise—but with vacuous intent. It promises the country in the main what the democratic party has already done or is in the process of doing, having always, the bogus God—"protection." It has cloaked its iniquity with a judicial robe but the cloven hoof of special interest still protrudes.

"We have witnessed the drab spectacle of two groups of men, trading principles like competitors in a fish market, in the hope that some compromise would win public support. They have not come together—they have fallen out over the "swag." For the sake of victory, many of these men, essentially opposite in principles have been willing to become friends with false masks. The result is inevitable, 'divided they fall.' We are proud in the thought that 'united we stand.' We welcome the pent-up Americanism of the real progressives individually to our ranks, offering them a haven in principle. Their leader has abandoned them with crass cruelty.

"This is a crucial hour in the history of the world. It is an hour when every man should take stock of himself and his principles. This is an hour when every one should see whether in his inner consciousness he squares with the ideals of 1778, and the later periods of dramatic episode, when this country resolutely maintained peace with honor.

"The democratic party in the face of scandalous and vicious attacks, has maintained this great American ideal. While for peace, it has steadily and surely worked for sound and powerful preparedness. It has maintained a solemn, calm dignity in the face of circumstances which might have drawn it into the vortex of a world destruction. Though villified by self-seekers, it has maintained friendly relations throughout the world; it has been true to the spirit of America; it has been true to the great principles of Washington, Jefferson, Madison and Jackson; it has allowed no selfish interest to blind it to the fundamentals of its faith and the country has found that its confidence has been well bestowed.

"Ladies and gentlemen of this great convention, the elephant is dead, the moose is dead. Long live the American eagle."

RETURN SHAMBAUGH TO SCHOOL BOARD

Without the formality of a nomination, but by a simple referendum vote, Hon. William H. Shambaugh was unanimously re-elected to a third term on the Fort Wayne board of school trustees by the city council Tuesday evening. The entire membership of the council was present and voting. Mr.

HON. WILLIAM H. SHAMBAUGH,
Elected by City Council to His Third Consecutive Term as School Trustee.

Shambaugh entered the chamber just as the count of ballots was completed and was asked to address the council, which he did briefly. He said that the result was somewhat more unanimous than on a former occasion when he sought public office, a good-natured reference to the time more than twenty years ago when he was defeated for mayor. He spoke of the growth of the public school system of Fort Wayne and of the vast and increasing importance of the office to which he had been elected. A box of cigars was passed with Mr. Shambaugh's good wishes to the councilmen. The school board will be reorganized at its next meeting.

ATTENTION, BOY SCOUTS!

Friday evening, June 16, will be the last meeting of the Boy Scouts of Troop No. 2. Every scout is expected to be in attendance as no more meetings will be held until next September. The meeting will be held at the Jefferson school.

Henry Kruse, Incorrigible Alcoholic Rusticated for Long Term.

Henry Kruse, a tailor, who for several years has worked more at measuring alcoholic liquors than running seams in breeches, has tried about every drink cure prescribed by the Indiana penal code only to come smashing up against a miserable failure. In the city court Wednesday morning, Judge H. Waveland Kerr tried the last resort and condemned him to 149 days at the state penal farm and if that proves futile something new will have to be invented with special reference to Henry's case. On a charge of drunkenness, with previous convictions, conviction was made and sentence pronounced. Kruse has been in the city court more times than can be stated without a tedious search of the records. He has been in for drunkenness, for child neglect, for disorderly conduct and other offenses. His wife not long ago got a divorce from him. But recently he returned from the village for epileptics, to which institution he had been sent in the hope that treatment there might help him. He kept sober only so long as he was where he could not get anything to drink.

Milk Wagon Man Fined.

Allen G. Kehler, a wagon driver for the Fort Wayne Dairy company, was fined by Judge Kerr on a charge of having on his cart for delivery bottled milk containing visible dirt. Kehler offered no defense and was fined $10 and costs.

Other City Court Cases.

Tom Burns, who says he is employed at the Bass foundry, was fined $25 and costs for carrying concealed weapons and the revolver found on him by Officer John Godfrey, who arrested him on Calhoun street, was ordered destroyed.

John Wesley was the venerated name given by a gentleman who made some boast of his fraternal connections when he was arraigned on a drunk charge. He was continued until Thursday and went to jail to do his waiting.

William Kowash, a drunk, was fined $1 and costs.

Thomas Owens, a youth who was a fugitive from the state school near the city, was charged with loitering and later turned over to attaches of the institution.

JOY RIDERS ABANDON CAR.

A Ford car operated as a jitney by Charles Nelson, 1733 Howe street, stolen at 10 o'clock Tuesday night from Court street, where it had been parked by its driver, was later found on Lafayette street, where it had been abandoned by three young men who evidently had stolen it for a joy-ride.

Americanism and Peace—Preparedness and Prosperity is Democratic Program, Says Glynn in Keynote Address

St. Louis, June 14.—With the assertion that no president since the civil war has had as crucial problems to solve; and no president has displayed a grasp more sure, a statesmanship more profound, as President Wilson, Hon. Martin H. Glynn, former governor of New York, opened the democratic national convention here today.

Declaring that "Americanism and peace, preparedness and prosperity—are the issues upon which the democratic party stands, and the heart of democracy swells with pride that is more than a pride of party, as it hails the man, who has asserted this Americanism, assured this peace, advocated this preparedness and produced this prosperity," he predicted the re-election of President Wilson.

Taking up our foreign relations that has been called into emphatic prominence by the world-wide war the speaker declared that "We have entered this hall as democrats; we shall deliberate as Americans." * * * The policy of neutrality, he argued, is as truly American as the American flag. For two hundred years neutrality was a theory; America made it a fact. "It took Washington and his successors eighty years of endless negotiation to win recognition of American neutrality. And this eighty years of struggle wove the doctrine of neutrality so closely into the warp and woof of our national life that to tear it out now would unravel the very threads of our existence." By the records of history Mr. Glynn maintained that if Washington and Lincoln were right, President Wilson is right. The neutrality that President Wilson stands for today was advocated by Washington, by Hamilton, by Jefferson and by Lincoln.

Defends Wilson's Course.

By citing precedents Mr. Glynn justified and defended the course of the president in the Lusitania and similar incidents. "In the face of this record," he asked: "Do Republicans realize that when they arraign the policy of the president of the United States today they arraign the policy of Harrison, of Blaine, of Lincoln and of Grant? For the pleasure of criticising a democratic president, are they willing to read out of the republican party the greatest men the republican party ever had? Are they willing to say that the republican party of today condemns what Hamilton did in revolutionary days, what Lincoln did in civil war days and what Grant and Blaine and Harrison did but yesterday.

"In his policy of peaceful negotiations today the president of the United States follows the example set him by the greatest presidents which the democratic party and the greatest presidents the republican party ever gave this nation."

Mr. Glynn impressed on his hearers that it was the business of this convention "representing every section of the United States, speaking for every racial strain in America, to send forth a message to all the world that will leave no room for doubt.

"We must enable every real American to stand up and assert his Americanism. We must make the issue so clear that every ballot box in the land may become a monument to the loyalty of American manhood.

Stand Behind President.

"The citizens of this country must stand behind their president because his policies are right. They will stand behind him because his policies are the policies which have brought the nation a century of prosperous and honored peace. They will stand behind him because they want these policies continued, that prosperity prolonged, that peace assured."

He pointed out that the promise made four years ago that a democratic administration would liberate the nation from the chains of industrial tyranny has been carried out. He eulogized the federal reserve act and declared that the "Scholar-statesman, whose rod has struck the golden rock of America's resources, to set free the wealth imprisoned for half a century, is a Moses who has led America's industries from the wilderness of doubt and despair to the Promised Land of Prosperity and hope."

The laws restraining big business from stifling competition, the trades commissions act, the movement to foster expansion of American trade, the close union of economic, commercial and financial interests between the United States and the nations of South America are shown to be legislation of the widest benefit. The Underwood tariff Mr. Glynn characterized as the fairest and the best of all we have enacted. Under the present administration the United States has enjoyed a wonderful era of good business and good times.

The American's ideals and his aspirations served as the basis for the speaker's opening discussion.

Must Prove Worthy.

"We who stand today on the fertile soil of America, who live under the smiling skies of a free and fruitful land, must prove worthy of the trust that American sacrifice has imposed on every American.

"Disregarding the divisions that make one man a tory and another a whig, one man a republican and another a democrat, Americans will cast aside the tinsel of party labels and the mummery of party emblems.

"From the great pulsing heart of the nation will come a patriot command to crush partisanship, and rebuke whatever is mean or blind.

"That command will be heard by the ploughman in his field, and by the laborer at his bench. It will reach the merchant in his office and the lawyer at his desk. We would be false to ourselves, and recreant to those who send us here if we permitted any thought of partisan profit, any consideration of political advantage to obscure our vision of the tremendous issues now before the people of the United States. We must cast aside all that is selfish, we must hold ourselves worthy of a nation's confidence by offering only the best of our intelligence, the flower of our patriotism toward the solution of what all men perceive to be a crisis in the nation's affairs."

In asking for an endorsement of the president's peace policy Mr. Glynn said:

"For two years the world has been afire; the civilization that we know has been torn by the mightiest struggle in its history. Sparks from Europe's conflagration have blazed in our own skies, echoes of her strife have sounded at our very doors. That fire still burns, that struggle still continues, but thus far the United States has held the flame at bay; thus far it has saved its people from participation in the conflict.

What Must Be Determined.

"What the people of the United States must determine through their suffrage, is whether the course the country has pursued through this crucial period is to be continued; whether the principles that have been asserted as our national policy shall be endorsed or withdrawn.

"This is the paramount issue. No lesser issue must cloud it, no unrelated problems must confuse it."

In declaring that the policy of neutrality is as American as the American flag, Mr. Glynn asserted that:

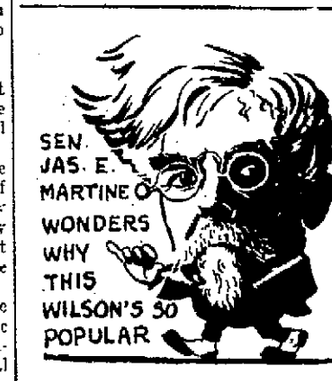
"The first president of the United States was the first man to pronounce neutrality a rule of international conduct.

"In April, 1793, Washington declared the doctrine; and within a month, John Jay, chief justice of the supreme court of the United States, in an epoch-making decision from the bench whose realization would ensure universal and perpetual peace, wrote the principle into the law of this land. The Declaration of Independence had foretold it by declaring 'the rest of mankind enemies in war, in peace friends'; the constitution recognized it; but the first president of the United States by proclamation, the first chief justice by interpretation gave it vitality and power.

Stands Where Forefathers Stood.

"The president of the United States stands today where stood the men who made America and who saved America. He stands where John Adams stood, when he told King George that America was the land he loved and that peace was her grandeur and her welfare. He stands where General Grant stood when he said there never was a war that could not have been settled better some other way, and he has shown his willingness to try the ways of peace before he seeks the paths of war. He stands where George Washington stood when he prayed that this country would never unsheath the sword except in self-defense so long as justice and our essential rights could be preserved without it.

"For vain glory or for selfish purpose, others may cry up a policy of blood and iron, but the president of the United States has acted on the belief that the leader of a nation who plunges



his people into an unnecessary war, like Pontius Pilate vainly washes his hands of innocent blood while the earth quakes and the heavens are darkened and thousands give up the ghost.

What Opposition Means.

Speaking of the opposition to the president's peace policy, the speaker continued:

"By opposing what we stand for today, the republican party opposes what Hamilton stood for a century ago. The founder of the republican party and the founder of the democratic party, placing their country's happiness above every other consideration, forgot partisanship and made American neutrality a national creed. We who follow Jefferson stand where Jefferson stood, but we look in vain for a sign from the present leaders of the republican party to show that they follow where Hamilton led. Where Hamilton counseled moderation they denounce it. Where Hamilton thought only of country they think only of self. Where Hamilton placed patriotism above partisanship they placed partisanship above patriot-wrong and Hamilton was wrong and Washington was wrong."

Justification of Policy.

The justification of our policy of neutrality is expressed by Mr. Glynn in these words:

"Before this declaration every war was a world-war; since this declaration nearly every war has been a local war. Before this declaration war was a whirlpool, ever-increasing in area and in its whirl dragging down the nations of the earth; since this declaration war has become a sea of trouble upon which nations embark only from self-will, from self-interest or the necessity of geographical position, of financial obligation or political alliance.

"Neutrality is the policy which has kept us at peace while Europe has been driving the nails of war through the hands and feet of a crucified humanity.

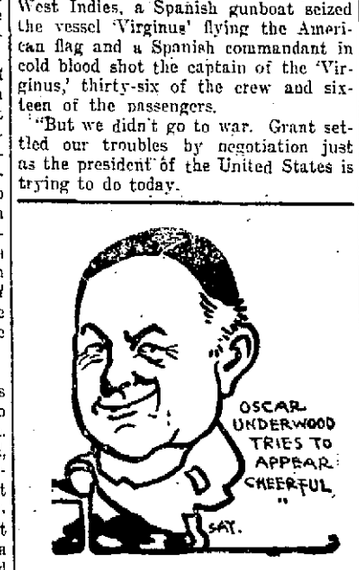
"The praises of this policy are not written in the ruins of American homes, not in the wreck of American industries, not in the mourning of American families; they are found in the myriad evidences of prosperity and plenty that make this a contented land. From every whirling spindle in America, from every factory wheel that turns, from every growing thing that breathes its prayer of plenty to the skies, from every quiet school, from every crowded mart, from every peaceful home goes up a song of praise, a paean of thanksgiving to hymn a nation's tribute, to the statesmanship that has brought these things to pass.

With Records of History

The issue raised by democracy's opponents of the vigor with which our neutrality has been enforced is dealt with by the records of history:

"When Grant was president, during the war between Spain and the Spanish West Indies, a Spanish gunboat seized the vessel 'Virginus' flying the American flag and a Spanish commandant in cold blood shot the captain of the 'Virginus,' thirty-six of the crew and sixteen of the passengers.

"But we didn't go to war. Grant settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.



"When Harrison was president the people of Chili conceived a violent dislike to the United States for our insistence upon neutrality during the Chilian revolution. When this feeling was at its height one junior officer from the United States warship Baltimore was killed outright in the street of Valparaiso and sixteen of our sailors wounded, of whom one afterwards died.

"But we didn't go to war. Harrison settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

When Lincoln Was President

"When Lincoln was president this country's rights were violated on every side. England, Russia, France and Spain were guilty of such flagrant violations that Secretary of State Seward advanced a plan to go to war with all of them at one and the same time.

"But we didn't go to war. Lincoln settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president is trying to do today.

"When Pierce was president the British minister in this country and three of his counsel violated our neutrality during the Crimean war. We gave these representatives their passports and sent them home.

"But we didn't go to war. Pierce settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

"When Van Buren was president a detachment of Canadian militia, during the internal troubles in Canada, boarded the U. S. ship Carolina in the American waters of Niagara river, killed an American member of the crew, fired the ship and sent her adrift over Niagara Falls.

"But we didn't go to war. Van Buren settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

"When Jefferson was president England seized hundreds of our ships and Napoleon hundreds more.

"When Adams was president France preyed upon our commerce. She extended her seizure, searches and confiscations to the very waters of the United States themselves until she had piled up in our state department charges of over 2,300 violations of neutrality's law.

"But we didn't go to war. Adams settled our trouble by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

"When Washington was president and 'neutrality' first declared, war convulsed Europe, our ships dared not to put out to sea, commerce was paralyzed and business depressed. American passengers and American crews were thrown into prison and deprived of legal rights.

"But we didn' go to war. Washington settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today."

Issue of Preparedness.

In his treatment of the issue of preparedness Mr. Glynn asserts that the genius of this country is for peace.

"We have built our greatness on the resources of nature and the peaceful toil of our people. The ring of the anvil not the rattle of the saber, the song of the reaper, not the shriek of the soldier, the clatter of the shuttle, not the crack of the rifle, have won us the place we occupy in the councils of the world.

"Like the old Mohawk chief who loved peace, we would like to throw the tomahawk of war so high in the sky that no man's hand could ever pull it down. But when some other tribe among the races of men sends us a bundle of arrows wrapped in the skin of a r[illegible], we want, like old Governor Bradford, of Massachusetts, to be in a position to send that rattlesnake's skin back stuffed with powder and with ball.

"We have been carried too close to the rocks of war during the past two years to believe that those rocks do not exist. And looking into the future we can perceive that if our sovereignty is not challenged, if our peace is not assailed it will only be because the world knows that we are strong enough to defend ourselves from every foe.

"For these reasons this administration has done more for our army and our navy than any administration in our history.

"More than this, it has mobilized the resources of the nation to meet the needs of war. It has placed the wealth of the country back of the strength of the country, the toiler back of the soldier and the sailor.

"And to our opponents we say you can't create an army, can't create a navy in the course of a day; to them we say if our navy is not strong enough, our army not big enough the republican party is eighty percent. to blame for the republican party has been in control of this nation eighty per cent. of the time during the past fifty years.

The Democratic Position.

"The democratic party advocates and seeks preparedness, but it is preparedness for defense, not preparedness for aggression.

"It is the preparedness which builds the nation's house upon a rock, so it will not fall when the rains descend and the floods come and the winds blow.

"A regard for national surety as well as a pride of personal honor will therefore bring the American people to the support of their president. Whether their blood is drawn from the banks of the Rhine; or where the River Shannon flows, whether they hail from Alpine valleys or the meadows of the Pyrenees, whether their descent be German or French, Irish, Russian or Greek, the men who have sworn an oath of fealty to the ideals of America will be true.

"They may love the lands of their fathers much, but they love the land of their children more. They may cherish the memory of the sod from whence they sprung, but they stand ready to die for the soil that they have hallowed with their homes.

Reviews Domestic Policy.

In his review of our domestic policy the temporary chairman pointed that the promise made by democracy four years ago had been faithfully kept.

"Today the prosperity which the nation enjoys bears witness that democracy has kept the faith. Today the gates of opportunity are open: the hosts of special privilege stand disarmed. Today the forces of government are encouraging, not blocking the full expression of the nation's progress. Today the business man, the artisan and farmer find themselves free to enjoy the fruits of their labors, unhampered by the sinister power of special privilege or the selfish oppression of 'invisible government.'"

Of the federal reserve act, Mr. Glynn had this to say:

"In the panic of 1907, under the old system, New York could not lend a country bank $50,000 with which to meet factory payrolls; in 1915 under the new system, inaugurated by this democratic administration, New York loaned Europe five hundred millions even though the financial centers of the world were disrupted by the world war, and there were still left in New York the largest bank deposits in its history.

"If this democratic administration had performed no other public service than the enactment of the federal reserve act, it would deserve the unstinted approval of a grateful nation. Thanks to democracy and to democracy's leader, the business man who is struggling to establish himself may now work out of panics and hard times. The toiler in the factory may ply his tasks in security, knowing that his employer's business is safe from assault. The farmer who must borrow to move his crops may do so without spending his days in anxiety, his nights in nightmares of foreclosure and disaster.

The Underwood Tariff.

"The Underwood tariff," declared the speaker, "enacted by this administration has banished greed from the gates of our ports and written justice into our tariff schedules.

"Of all the tariffs we ever enacted this is the fairest and the best.

"Until the foreign war reduced importations no new tariff was ever more satisfactory. The highest protective tariff ever written would probably have given us no more revenue during this European war and a higher tariff on raw material would have hampered our manufactures; a higher tariff on the necessities of life would have placed a woeful burden on the poor man in the conditions which the war abroad has brought about.

"By the Underwood law this administration has taken the new tariff out of politics: by the new tariff commission it proposes to take politics out of the tariff."

Discusses Prosperity.

In the discussion of prosperity Mr. Glynn made particular reference to our industrial condition.

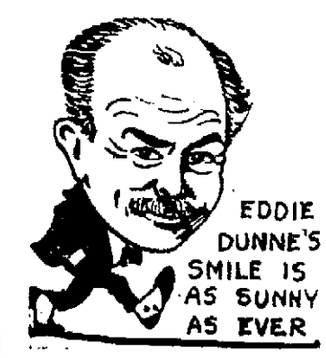
"Today prosperity shines from blazing furnaces and glowing forges. It echoes from busy docks and from thronged emporiums of trade. Its message of plenty fills the land with the chant of the spindle and of loom, lifting the mortgage from the poor man's home and promising his children a future that seemed impossible.

"During the past four years this country has experienced a steady and continuous improvement in business. Wealth has increased 21 per cent., the value of manufactured products 50 per cent., capital 43 per cent., wages 54 per cent., and exports 77 per cent. The flood-tide of our prosperity has risen to such an unprecedented height that the only limit to trade is our ability to make and transport the commodities demanded at home and abroad. Our fields and our factories cry aloud for men and unemployment has ceased to be a problem. Wages have advanced, building operations have resumed, real estate has recovered its worth.

"There is not an idle car on our railroads or an idle ship at our docks. For the first time in history America's greatest port has become the world's greatest port.

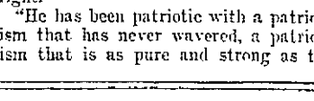
Purchasing Power of People.

"The purchasing power of our people



is greater than that of any other people on the globe. Never was there as much money in our vaults as today. The aggregate resources of our national banks are three thousand millions more than the aggregate resources of the Bank of England, the Bank of France, the Bank of Russia, the Reichbank of Germany, the Bank of Netherlands, the Swiss National bank and the Bank of Japan. We have four hundred and one millions of money more than we had a year and a half ago and our gold supply exceeds by many hundreds of millions the gold supply of any other nation on the earth.

"This avalanche of money poured into our pockets by the rest of the world as a tribute to our national resources and our fidelity to peaceful industry. It is only the symbol. Compared with our trade at home this foreign trade is a mere pittance. Our domestic commerce today is larger than the foreign commerce of all the nations of the world combined.



"Against this actual condition our opponents raise an arguments of 'ifs.' With greater truth we can also enter the realm of conjecture and declare that if another candidate had been elected four years ago, the United States would be at war today. A ton of 'ifs' do not weight as much as a single fact. Our opponents forget that 'if' the flight of the seagulls off the coast of the West Indies had not directed his course, Columbus would not have discovered America when he did. But the seagulls were there—'ifs' cannot banish them—and Columbus found our land."

Praise for Wilson.

Chairman Glynn concluded with praise for President Wilson, who, he said, has measured up to the best traditions of a great office.

"He has been wise with a wisdom that has been disciplined by training and broadened by instruction.

"He has been firm with the firmness that proceeds from deep conviction, with the firmness that is grounded in a duty well defined.

"He has been patient with the patience which believes and trusts that truth crushed to earth will rise again, with the patience that can endure and wait, watch and pray, for the certain vindication of justice, humanity and right.

"He has been patriotic with a patriotism that has never wavered, a patriotism that is as pure and strong as the faith that moved the fathers when they made our country free.

"And when the history of these days comes to be written, and the children of tomorrow read their nation's story, when time shall have dispelled all misconception and the years shall have rendered their impartial verdict one name will shine in golden splendor upon the page that is blackened with the tale of Europe's war, one name will represent the triumph of American principles over the hosts of darkness and of death.

"That name will be the name of the great president who has made democracy proud that he is a democrat, and made Americans proud that he is an American.

"It will be the name of the statesman who has kept his country true to its faith in a time that tried men's souls; the name of the student and the scholar who has championed the cause of American freedom wherever he found it oppressed; the name of the patriot who has implanted his country's flag on the highest peak to which humanity has yet aspired; the name that carried the torch of progress to victory once and will carry it to victory again, the name of Woodrow Wilson, president and president to be."

WHEN SHALL WE THREE MEET AGAIN?

18-HOLE GOLF COURSE.

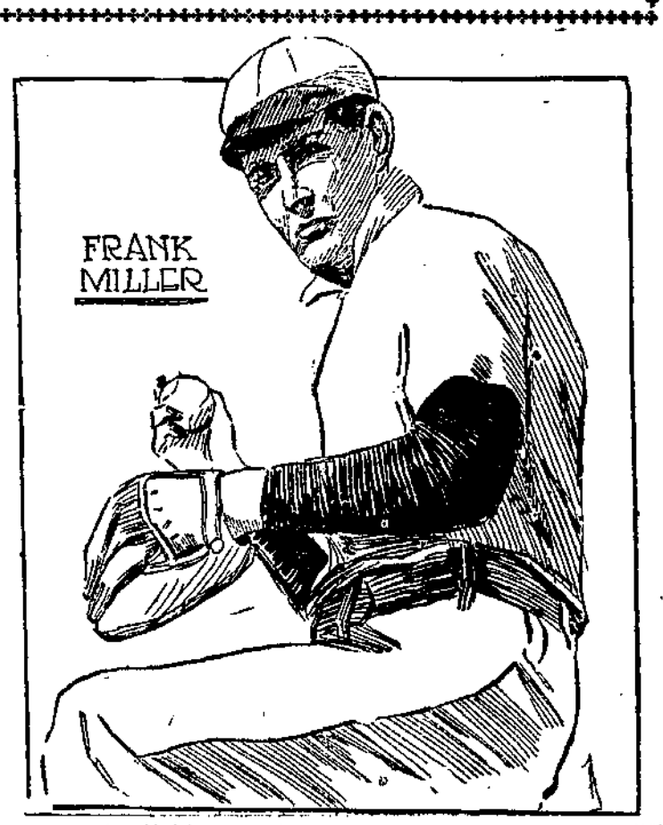
William B. Langford Directing the Work at Country Club.

The Fort Wayne Country club is to have an 18-hole golf course as soon as the gang of men put to work Tuesday clearing away the timber west of the present course finish their work. The work is being pushed rapidly and will be ready for next season.

William B. Langford, the architect from Chicago, has the work in charge, and will spend this summer here directing the work.

It is hoped in France that this year's increased wheat yield will do away with the necessity of importing wheat and that lower prices will prevail.

STAR PITCHER OF PIRATES IS PLAYTHING OF MISFORTUNE.



(By Harold Johnson.)

His given name is Frank but among the other members of the Pittsburg National league ball club he's known as Misfortune Miller. Despite mishaps galore this young Pirate is topping all rival pitchers in the parent circuit in the little matter of effectiveness, having allowed but five earned runs in fifty innings of service. His feat of battling the Cincinnati Reds sixteen innings stands out as one of the banner slab performances of the season.

This quiet, unassuming chap has met with more physical misfortunes than 99 out of 100 boys who are following the diamond calling. As a kid, hurling at Allegan, Mich., his work attracted attention and he got a job in the Northern league, later being drafted by the Chicago White Sox.

From Comiskey's clan Miller drifted to Des Moines and helped tha tclub win a pennant in the Western league. The seasons 1910, 1911 and 1912 saw Mileir curving for San Francisco. He returned to the White Sox but on the 1913 spring training trip became paralyzed and was out of the game the entire season. He finally regained his strength and entered the International league.

About the time Pittsburg swung the deal for his purchase last summer Miller threw his arm out at the elbow and was helpless for seven weeks. His future again was uncertain but he had lots of hope.

A week before the close of the season Miller visited Bonesetter Reese at Youngstown, O. The ailing athlete could not carry a suit case in his right hand when he entered the specialists's office but he did when he departed. The bonesetter gave his arm a few jerks and advised him not to throw any curves for a few weeks.

This season Miller reported to the Pirates in the "pink" of condition. He appeared to be a splendid athletic specimen. At Dawson Springs, Tenn., he injured a leg, but recovered quickly. In his first start of the campaign his right hand was almost broken by a batted ball and he was laid up for more than a month.

But fortune has since smiled on misfortune who has made good to the point that he's known as the topliner on Jimmy Callahan's pitching staff.

MR. BAUMGARDNER IS OFF HIS NUT

Would Not Quit Small Pay in Big League for Big Pay in Bush.

George Baumgardner, eccentric pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, prefers a contract of $75 a month with the St. Louis Browns to one at $200 per month with the Memphis Southern leaguers. The West Virginian prefers the $75 because, as he says, "nobody would see me if I went to Memphis. To collect the $75 "Baumie" must keep in condition.

When Eddie Plank visits club headquarters to collect a paltry $600 on the 1st and 15th of each month it behooves him to work fast because "Baumie" is liable to push him aside and demand his $37.50.

In Palestine, Tex., where the Browns trained last spring, Baumgardner was walking with a rookie hurler entitled Phillips, fresh from Denver. Phillips continually called George by his given name.

"When we're pasing anybody don't call me George. Just say Baumgardner. We might just as well let these hicks know who we are," corrected the mountaineer.

Southpaw tennis players, like left-handed ball players, are regarded with suspicion. Southpaw pitchers are sometimes looked upon as being mentally unsound. In tennis, however, the case is different. In fact four of the brainiest champions in the history of the game—Beals Wright, Norman F. Brookes, Harry Waldner and Lindley Murray—are southpaws.

Left-handed tennis players show a tendency to hard hitting. They have been invariably successful as doubles players. There is a reason for this in the fact that when they are paired with right-handers the combination can cover more ground without being forced into back-handed strokes.

During the last two seasons still another hard hitting port-sider has joined the ranks of the tennis elite. His name is S. Howard Voshell. Last summer his game was wild but effective except when opposed by the greatest steadiness. His most important feat was beating T. R. Pell.

This year he has started like a whirlwind as if bent on earning a place among the first ten players of the country. He has already won the New York Lawn Tennis club title.

PENNSY VARSITY EIGHT FACES TEST

Four crews will go to the mark June 17 at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in the annual intercollegiate regatta and one of the eights—that from Pennsylvania—will enter the struggle with a crew no member of which ever rowed before in a four-mile race in the Quaker school's varsity boat.

The crew that will race against the eights of Columbia, Cornell and Syracuse was the junior machine until it defeated the varsity combination by four lengths in a special pull over the four-mile route.

Cornell will be the most important factor in the race on the Hudson Saturday. The Ithacans possess in John Collyer a stroke oar without a peer. He is the lightest man in the shell, weighing only 160 pounds, as against a crew that averages over 171.

Realizing that this is the last year for Coach "Pop" Courtney the Cornellians will probably throw themselves unrestainedly into the fight to bring a victory that will crown the end of the glorious career of the "old man" who has been tutoring the Ithacans in rowing for thirty seasons.

There's a wealth of power in the Syracuse shell and it is well applied, though the short, jerky stroke with its almost negtible body swing requires power in abundance if it needs nothing else. The Orange eight is the only crew of the four that has come through all its races undefeated. Among its victims it claims the Harvard and Yale junior varsity eights and the navy varsity eight.

The middies were beaten with surprising ease over the Henley distance on the Severn on the day that Cornell was stumbling over Harvard. Columbia's entry has been whipped into great trim and is doped to put up a brilliant fight.

MISS DAISY MAY SIMMONS

Berkeley, Cal., June 14.—To teach the Eskimos of Alaska to grow flowers and vegetables is the ambition of Miss Daisy May Simmons, a co-ed of the University of California. For two years she has been gathering all the lore of soil, irrigation and plant life possible to find in diligent search through the courses of the state school.

Thoroughly trained in her work, she hopes to enthuse the dusky youngsters of the north in the delights of producing multi-colored flowers and raising crisp eatables for the family table. She believes that just now the Eskimo is a bit shy on the knowledge of scientific gardening.

"I am going to have a visit with my mother in Bellingham, Wash., and then I'm going on up to Alaska," explained the fair, young instructor. "The headquarters of the Alaska schools are located at Seattle. I'll make application for a school while there and hope to get away for the north by August 1."

In spite of the fact that she is tackling a big problem in her desire to enlighten the humble dweller of the northlands, Miss Simmons has no fears of her success. She is very smily and very young and is planning her work with an enthusiasm that should win over innumerable obstacles.

"I just know I'll love the work and I am hopeful of accomplishing some real good with my pupils," she said. "Gardening in Alaska will be different from that in the states. Since the season is so short up there, vegetables grow much more rapidly than they do here. They are of remarkable size and excellent flavor, I have read.

"Adults as well as children attend the government schools in Alaska and all sorts of things are taught them, from hygiene to morals. The Eskimo grasps the practical things of life readily. For this reason I believe that agriculture will appeal to them and that I will have no trouble teaching them the things I want them to learn.

"I expect to spend a year and maybe two in the north before I come back to the university to brush up on my gardening courses."

A Wineglassful of Tollo Water Will Get Your Liver Going and Make You Feel Fine In Half an Hour

Your liver is fairly begging you for help. Probably too much rich food and not enough exercise in the open air. The liver has become clogged and is forcing the bile back into your system—your skin becomes yellow because the bile is being absorbed into the blood. It upsets the stomach, causing gas to form; your breath gets bad; your tongue coated; sometimes you get dizzy and your nerves are on edge.

Get a 15-cent bottle of concentrated Tollo Water from the drug store—drink a third of a tumbler full in a glass of plain water before breakfast or at any time on an empty stomach. In half an hour it will flush out the bile tubes, really bathe the liver and expel the waste from the system. Your skin will clear up immediately and your breath become pure and sweet.

Continue to drink a wineglassful of Tollo Water before breakfast for a few days and your natural, healthy color will return—your energy and strength will come back.

This water does not act like drugs and oils that force and irritate, leaving you feeling weak and exhausted, but flushes and bathes the liver, giving you more strength and energy every day.

After the skin has become clear and healthy, an occasional wineglassful in a glass of plain water before breakfast will keep your liver active and your stomach clean and ready to digest anything you eat.—Advertisement.

ADMIT MEN'S DEMANDS HAVE BEEN REJECTED

Rail Men Put Continuance of Conference Up to Brotherhoods.

New York, June 14.—Forced by W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, into admitting that the demands of the 350,000 railroad men of the United States had been rejected, the railroad managers at the conference called here to avert a general strike today declared it was up to the men to decide whether they should continue the conference.

The union leaders, after stating that the railroads' counter proposition was not acceptable, decided to continue the conference but indicated they expected it to end late today or tomorrow.

The conference has been in session most of the time since June 1, and is estimated to have cost upwards of $100,000. More than 800 delegates from the unions of railway employes representing 350,000 workers have attended.

The union men have rejected flatly a proposal by the managers that no man shall be paid twice for the same time although his day may be divided between classes of work.

The apparent crisis in the negotiations came when President Lee inquired of Elisha Lee, chairman of the railroad managers, how many of the 105 questions put by the unions regarding the railroads counter-proposition were still to be answered. When Chairman Lee replied "thirty to forty," President Lee said it was useless to go further.

SAYS POISON WAS IN LIQUID FORM

Waukegan, Ill., June 14.—Dr. John L. Taylor, coroner, testified today at the trial of William H. Orpet for the alleged murder of Marion Lambert, that the cyanide of potassium which caused death was taken in liquid form. He based this statement on the allegation that stains of the poison on Miss Lamberts person was sediment and not cyanide in crystal form. This point was regarded as important by the state in connection with the charge that young Orpet bought a two ounce bottle from Charles Hassinger, a friend in the drug business at Madison, Wis. The defense it is said, will contend that Miss Lambert brought the corrosive in crystal form with her, probably wrapped in a bit of paper.

Society

Miss Virginia Olds had planned to give several out door dances at the Country club Wednesday afternoon but the shower prevented and she danced indoors instead. Members of the Bailbe Trio furnished delightful music.

Miss Edith Stecher was the honor guest at a beautiful party that Miss Bertha DeTurk gave on Tuesday evening. It was a butterfly party, very unusual and dainty. The butterflies were handwork water color creations in pink and gold. Three large ones occupied the center of the table and resting on their wings were slender vases of pink sweet peas and white daisies. A pink ribbon started in the center and led to Miss Stecher's plate and when she pulled the ribbon it brought a corsage of sweet peas with it. Wicker baskets filled with flowers and tied with pink tulle helped to decorate the table. The hostess had also lovely favors of her own work that were bonbon dishes of butterfly design and place cards were unique, butterfly shape to correspond. Besides the charm of the decoration the guests had a surprise to use their own handwork upon as the hostess handed each a towel to hem for Miss Stecher, who is to be a bride of June.

Mrs. Samuel Kraus, of 911 College street, announces the engagement of her sister, Miss Henriette W. Trauerman, to Nathan Rothschild, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rothschild. Mr. and Mrs. Kraus will be at home to their friends next Sunday evening from 8 to 10:30 o'clock in honor of Miss Trauerman and Mr. Rothschild.

R. & I. railroad offices, were married at half past 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon by Rev. William Moll, pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran church. The bride and groom are to take a trip to Niagara Falls and Buffalo and when they return they will go to housekeeping in a home they have fitted up in Fox avenue.

HOME FOR DEAF IS ASSURED.

Indianapolis, June 14.—At a luncheon of the Indiana Association of the Deaf yesterday, at the Indiana School for the Deaf, sufficient money was pledged to assure a home for elderly and infirm deaf persons in Indiana. Orson H. Archibald, of Indianapolis, offered the association a farm several years ago, on condition that $10,000 be subscribed for the erection of the buildings. Of this $8,500 had been raised, and the remaining $1,500 was subscribed at the luncheon yesterday. R. O. Johnson, superintendent of the school, commented on the manner in which the members of the association responded.

The luncheon followed joint church services held at the school in the morning. The convention of the association, which had been in session three days, closed with memorial exercises in the afternoon for members who had died in the last year.

Bryan Joins in Approval With Tears Streaming Down His Face.

Coliseum, St. Louis, June 14.—Women delegates led a demonstration which followed Mr. Glynn's keynote speech declaring that the president's neutrality policy "satisfies the mothers of the land." The crowd forced Mr. Glynn to repeat a part of his address drowned in applause in which he declared that the men of America "will fight and die for our flag when reason primes the rifle, when honor draws the sword and when justice breathes a blessing on the cause that they uphold."

Another prolonged demonstration followed. From his desk Wm. J. Bryan joined, tears streaming and his face flushed with emotion. A Texas delegate called out "Don't forget that this policy also satisfies Wm. J. Bryan." Mr. Bryan gazed intently at Glynn and enthusiastically clapped his hands in approval of the speaker's deprecation of war.

Gov. Glynn concluded his speech at 2:— p. m.

The convention at 2:49 p. m., adjourned until 11 o'clock tomorrow.

SAYS WAR WRECKED PROGRESSIVE PARTY

Its Machinery Will Be Scrapped, Declares Gilson Gardner.

Washington, June 14.—The European war has destroyed the progressive party of the United States.

The party has been sacrificed to the demand for preparedness. This appears as the one big fact looming up at the close of the republican and progressive conventions.

Roosevelt will not run as the progressive candidate. At this writing he has not formally declined the nomination but he will. The declaration of Charles E. Hughes will satisfy his requirements and Roosevelt will get behind Hughes to defeat the Wilson administration.

Will anybody try to rally and lead the remnants of the progressive party? A few days will determine finally the answer to this question. At present the answer is: The party's banner lies where it was flung—in the ditch.

There is a possibility the standard may be taken up by Hiram Johnson of California, or Victor Murdock or Gifford Pinchot. I have talked with these men and feel that anyone of them, with sufficient encouragement, would go in and make the fight.

Perhaps the next few days will yield the encouragement. Up to date it has not appeared and the prospect is that the party, its organization, its principles will be scrapped.

The "conscience" progressives will divide their votes between the republicans, the democrats and the socialist parties.

Members of the progressive national committee who will have the power to name a candidate believe any candidate put in the running would poll 1,000,000 votes. The party polled 4,000,000 in 1912.

This million votes might prove to be the balance of power between the old parties. Wilson won last time by just about this margin. But no one can predict from which candidate the votes would be drawn.

The most important result of naming a candidate would be the prepetuation of the party as a nucleus for future radical political action. Progressives here have been bitter in their criticism of Roosevelt. They feel he should have notified them months ago if he was not willing to be the candidate so they could have governed themselves accordingly.

There is another element which sees in Roosevelt's course nothing but commendable self-sacrifice. They say he has shown conclusively that he places the country's need above personal resentments or even ambition, and is ready not only to withdraw himself but to do all in his power to withdraw not only himself put his party when it stands in the way of defeating the democratic administration.

The truth is, Roosevelt has from the beginning had only one end in view, the election of a president in place of Wilson committed to preparedness and Americanism issues. To accomplish this he would ride down friends, party or any other obstruction. Roosevelt never promised to run against Hughes or any candidate strong enough to promise the defeat of Wilson and an American platform. Some people did not understand this and they are disappointed.

Members of the progressive national committee are called to meet again June 26 and by that time they will have decided whether to name a candidate for president, or read the burial service over the remains.

HOWLING HOOSIERS WAKE UP OLD TOWN

Over 600 on the Ground at St. Louis Boosting for Marshall.

By Willis S. Thompson.

St. Louis, June 14.—The noise, the real noise of the week, broke loose at 4:15 Tuesday when the Indana delegation came in with brass bands, banners and Palm Beach suits. The weather man had mercy on the suits and also on the parade and he couldn't have fixed it nicer.

There were half a hundred Hoosiers who wouldn't wait for the Tuesday special train and the early birds went to the station to meet the late arrivals and with Senator Thomas Taggart, Meredith Nicholson, Bowman Elder, Billy Kunkel, W. H. Heller, Ed Hoffman, Billy O'Brien, Billy Vollmer and a host of others leading, the old town was woke up with the noise and music and hotel lobbies were shown what the real enthusiasm of the week is to be. Over six hundred howling Hoosiers are now quartered at the American hotel and boosting for Marshall.

Speaking of Marshall, he is the only vice presidential candidate who isn't advertising all the hotel lobbies, elevators, bell boys and walls of all the hotels are plastered with posters of Roger Sullivan, Governor Major and other aspirants. And speaking of aspirants, Solomon in all the glory he ever knew, never dreamed of what some of these have discovered in the way of garb. Governor Major, for instance, changes his entire outfit every forty-five minutes by the clock, this process continuing from 6 a. m. till 2 a. m. When J. Ham Lewis landed his whiskers changed from pink to green and he declared he was going to take the nomination himself and he could hardly wait to get to his room to change his apparel twice. But the Missouri governor has him handicapped, being right at home J. Ham only carries three large trunks.

"YES SIR! CADOMENE IS MY FRIEND" IT PROVED ITS WORTH

Several years ago, at one time—when I was a nervous wreck, mentally and physically—I guess morally, too. It made a well man of me; and I was "down and out" as the saying goes. Why, I couldn't sleep, was weak, nervous, irritable, sick—the result of dissipation, hard work and worry, too, for after I realized my condition I did worry, any man would, or woman, either, if they found themselves in a similar condition.

Well, 'twas like this, a friend of mine said: "Look here, fellow, you can't go on like this, you'll be a dead man 'fore long," and then he told me of Cadomene Tablets. I decided to "try" Cadomene Tablets, but I had not much faith in them, for I had taken nearly everything I had ever heard of—all alike—they did me no good.

I can honestly say that I had only taken about 30 Cadomene Tablets when I could notice a change in my condition and then gradually my health came back. Every tablet I took seemed to advance and improve my condition, and every step taken was held, no sliding back.

Now I sleep, eat, enjoy life, have strength in my tissues, do not feel nervous any more, and the pains have disappeared from my head and back—all told I feel fine—a new man—able and glad to meet my duties, whether business, social or domestic. Life looks good now from every angle, and I owe my abounding strength, my keen enjoyment and my health to Cadomene Tablets, and I don't think I am overstating it when I say that Cadomene Tablets actually saved my life, for I could never have continued the way I felt, and it would not have been desirable to continue a life of blasted hopes and ambition and wholly devoid of energy.

IT'S GOOD TO BE ALIVE, and Cadomene Tablets are my best friend. They'll be YOUR BEST FRIEND, TOO, if your condition requires them.

I have told many fellow-men about Cadomene Tablets, and they are just as glad to know about them as I am.

Cadomene Tablets is a preparation which will supply proper strength and energy to the flesh and muscles of the body, and, at the same time, to the highly complex and delicate nervous system.

Don't put off using Cadomene Tablets (3 grain). You can't lose, for if they do not give complete satisfaction you may have your money back. Obtain of any live druggist in sealed tubes with full directions.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, June 14.—Heaviness developed in the wheat market today owing to the fact that Liverpool quotations were unresponsive to yesterday's advance on this side of the Atlantic. The opening, which ranged from ¾@⅞c lower to a shade advance, with July $1.04¼ to $1.04⅝, and September at $1.05⅝ to $1.06⅛, was followed by slight net gains, but then as decided general sag.

The close was unsettled, 1¼c to 1⅝@1¾c ne thigher, with July at $1.02⅝@1.02¾ and September at $1.04⅝.

Unfavorable weather and improved cash demand gave some firmness to corn. After opening ⅛@¼c to ⅜c higher, prices receded to slightly under yesterday's finish.

The close was firm at a gain of a shade to ½c net.

Oats were upheld by a fair demand from commission houses and cash interests.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, June 14.—The noteworthy feature of today's early trading was the overnight decline of 36 points in Willys-Overland to 279, due to reports of a hitch in the consolication of which that company was to form one of the chief constituents.

Other motor issues were heavy in sympathy. General Electric rose a point, with a similar gain of Beet Sugar, which established the new record of 90⅞. New York, Chicago and St. Louis (Nickel Plate) featured the rails, advancing 1¼, and coppers also were strong.

Willys-Overland made a further decline of two points before it rallied to 282 and other issues of the same character improved. The balance of the active list, except Mexicans, which continued heavy, hardened under a demand for Reading and Steel. Beet Sugar continued to climb, touching 2½. Rails as a whole were far less prominent than yesterday, and trading slackened visibly before midday. Bonds were steady.

Metal stocks and some specialties made further progress later, with general strength in rails, including Norfolk and Western, Canadians and Reading. The closing was irregular.

LAFAYETTE PLACE RIGIDLY RESTRICTED

New additions with rigid restrictions placed upon them have always been exceedingly popular in Fort Wayne, but it is doubtful if a more rigid set of restrictions have been incorporated for the protection of the property holders in any addition than those placed upon Lafayette Place; the new addition between Calhoun and Lafayette streets, McKinnie and Pettit avenues. Stores, stables or business houses of any kind are tabooed; unsightly fences and advertising signs will not be permitted.

Improvements Within Three Years for LAFAYETTE PLACE

City improvements are all in at this time up to the northern limits of Lafayette Place.

All improvements will be installed in Lafayette Place itself, within three years.

Why aren't they installed now?

If they were their cost would have to be added to the price of each lot, and the interest on this amount plus the amount by which the improvements would depreciate before they were ready to be used would total at least $125.00.

Under the Lafayette Place Improvement plan you are saved this amount. Isn't it well worth while?

IN THE CHURCHES

CHOIR ORGANIZED BY LOREN G. JONES

Tent Revival Meetings to Open Thursday Evening on West Main.

Many of the men and women who sang in the large chorus choir during the Milford H. Lyon meetings met with their leader, Loren G. Jones, at the First Baptist church Tuesday evening. The chorus choir which will sing during the coming ten revival meetings to be held on the site of the old tabernacle was organized.

The great evangelistic campaign which is to continue one month will open Thursday evening. The tent in which the meetings will be held is being pitched and the seats and electric wiring is being installed. These meetings are being given under the auspices of the Men's Christian league, the Fort Wayne Ministerial association and the Associated Christian Workers.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Archer, Caldwell, Ohio, writes: "I do not believe that our family has been without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since we commenced keeping house years ago. When we go on an extended visit we take it with us." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

At this time of preparedness discussion the National Highway gains an unusual share of attention from the public. This article is of peculiar interest to those communities who are being enthused in behalf of National Highways. This article will be published exclusively in the Summer Number of THE WILDWOOD MAGAZINE. On sale next week, all newsdealers, 15c per copy, or by mail, 50c per year.

Commencement Day is a rare blend of hope and memory. One of youth's greatest milestones, it calls for a memorial of dignity and permanence.

A good watch, gracefully dressed and appropriately inscribed, is a living reminder of the love, generosity and good judgment of the giver.

Why an Elgin---

Because a presentation opportunity like Commencement Day, calls for a gift that is the best of its kind.

The giver of a gift that is to last a lifetime, wants to be sure that his choice will reflect lifelong credit to his memory. Elgin Graduation Watches are the living expression of good taste and unerring judgment. An Elgin is an heirloom.

WEIGHED SIX OUNCES MORE.

Brain of Late Dr. W. J. White Found Much Heavier Than Normal.

Philadelphia, June 14.—The brain of Dr. Wm. J. White, professor emeritus of the University of Pennsylvania, weighed six ounces more than the average, according to a statement by Dr. J. Milton Greenman, director of the Wistar institute of anatomy at the university, to which Dr. White bequeathed his brain for scientific study. Its weight was 53 1-3 ounces as compared to 47 ounces, the weight of the average brain. It will probably require from three to four years to make a complete analysis of the organ, Dr. Greenman said.
